CONVENTION DEMANDS DRY LAW REPEAL

HOOVER'S PLAN GAINS IN FAVOR AMONG FRENCH

U. S. Delegates Cheered by Evidence of Desire to Cut Arms.

POSITION OF BRITAIN REMAINS UNCERTAIN

Must Consult Dominions on Naval Aspect; 7 Small Nations Approve.

Geneva, June 29 (A.P.).—American delegates to the disarmament conference were greatly encouraged today by evidence that France, originally strongly opposed to President Hoover's proposals for a one-third cut in armaments, was becoming more and more favorably disposed toward them.

There was one brake on their encouragement. The position of Great Britain remained uncertain, and the United States delegation prepared to carry the Hoover plan before the general commission of the conference if the British delay continued for any great period.

Most of the members of the French cabinet are in Paris. American delegates who talked with them were impressed by their desire to cooperate. They reported a growing aspiration on the part of France for genuine reductions in arms.

Parley With Dominions.

But it was pointed out that Premier Herriot faced a difficult position at the Lausanne reparations conference and so could not afford to yield at Geneva while up against the stone wall of reparations.

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, conferred during the day with Hugh Gibson and Norman H. Davis, of the American delegation, assuring them of Britain's interest in the Hoover program. Sir John said the London government must consult the dominions before making any commitment.

It was evident the split in the British cabinet was continuing, as Prime Minister MacDonald and Home Secretary Sir Herbert Samuel have informed Mr. Gibson they wished to accept the Hoover program in principle.

Naval Features.

The group represented by the foreign secretary remained very reserved taking the position that the naval features of the President's proposal must be studied carefully and that the recommendations of the British admiralty must weigh heavily.

Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland gave Mr. Gibson encouraging news. Much to approve in the Hoover plan, he said, has been found by Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Roumania, Esthonia, Latvia and Finland.

This group of nations, the Polish minister informed Mr. Gibson, approved even the quantitive scheme of dealing with military effectives, and they were inclined to accept the American proposals in principle as a basis for settling the disarmament problem.

Dr. Wilson Guilty In Traffic Crash

Portland, Oreg., June 29 (A.P.).—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Prohibition, Temperance and Public Morals, was convicted in police court here today of a charge of reckless driving. Judge Fred W. Stadter continued the case for sentence.

Dr. Wilson was the driver of a car which last February 21 collided here with one driven by L. F. Welch, of Portland. Police said Dr. Wilson left town without reporting the accident as required by law. Welch testified Wilson failed to stop at a through street.

By continuing the case for sentence Judge Stadter spared Wilson the fine or jail sentence otherwise provided by law.

Stowaway Rides Plane On 48-Hour Sea Flight

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—A 25-year-old stowaway made a 2,500-mile flight from Cristobal to Miami, Fla., in the tail of a 22-passenger flying boat, the Pan-American Airways announced today.

The stowaway, Paul Kaiser, a German, was discovered yesterday morning when the boat landed in Florida after a 48-hour flight.

Reparations Rift Broken At Lausanne

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 29 (A.P.).—After the reparations conflict between France and Germany had reached its high point today with a forthright demand by Chancellor Franz von Papen that the Versailles Treaty be revised to eliminate all discriminations against Germany, there was evidence of calmer counsels and a possible eventual agreement.

The French, who were greatly displeased by the declaration for treaty revision, reported that the German chancellor modified his tone in subsequent discussions.

There even was an unconfirmed report that the Germans, who have insisted reparations must be canceled, had agreed in principle to the payment of at least something.

This development modified the pessimism of last night when the belief was general the Franco-German conflict would force adjournment of the Lausanne conference without any accomplishment whatever.

Concrete proposals to Germany to settle the reparations issue were being drafted tonight by a committee composed of the representatives of the six leading powers and headed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain. The other powers

LINDBERGH BRAVERY IN SEARCH RELATED

Story of How He Attempted to Swim to Child Told at Curtis Trial.

Flemington, N. J., June 29 (A.P.).—A story of how Charles A. Lindbergh tried to jump into a stormy sea to swim to a boat on which he believed his kidnaped son was held was related at the John Hughes Curtis trial today. The flier smiled broadly as the hitherto untold episode came to light. At the prosecution table, he turned to whisper a laughing remark to a neighbor.

W. E. Haskell, business executive of the New York Herald Tribune and a prosecution witness, said Curtis told him the story. The Norfolk boatbuilder is charged with obstructing justice in the search for the Lindbergh baby.

"He said they sighted a boat, but high seas prevented getting close," Haskell related. "He said they had to restrain Col. Lindbergh from jumping overboard to swim to the other ship."

Haskell also testified that Curtis, when he visited him in his jail cell here after his confession to hoaxing his part in the search, insisted he actually had been in touch with the kidnapers and typed his hoax confession "just to get some sleep."

That statement and the vague testimony of a Federal operative about an interview he had with an unnamed man on information supplied by Curtis were high spots in the trial's third day.

Frank J. Wilson, the Federal investigator who checked up on some

Miss Earhart Cheered By Crowds in Boston

Boston, June 29 (A.P.).—Amelia Earhart Putnam came back to the "home town" for a second public welcome today. The only woman to fly the Atlantic alone was greeted by State and city officials and members of her family at the Boston Airport and escorted by bands to the City Hall and Statehouse.

BINGHAM OPENS FIGHT TODAY ON ECONOMY PLAN

Will Ask Vote in Senate to Repeal Married-Worker Clause.

DEFEAT OF EFFORTS IS SEEN BY LEADERS

Bill Still on Hoover's Desk, but Is Expected to Be Signed Shortly.

The first effort to ameliorate some of the more burdensome personnel restrictions in the Federal economy bill will be made in the Senate this morning by Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut.

He will move for an immediate vote to repeal the married workers' clause, making husband or wife among the first scheduled for dismissal where both are employed in the Federal service.

Senator Bingham yesterday introduced a joint resolution, displacing a previous concurrent resolution designed to strike the clause from the bill. The measure was ordered to lie on the table.

Shortly after the Senate convenes at 10 this morning he will ask unanimous consent to call the bill up. Failing in that, he will present a formal motion and demand a vote.

Will Be Opening Gun.

His action will be the opening gun in a series of moves at this session and when Congress reconvenes in December, to undo alleged injustices to employes under the bill.

Doubt was expressed yesterday by House leaders that the Bingham resolution will receive favorable action at this session in the House. Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, one of the House economy conferees, has indicated he will fight it.

Meantime the economy bill lay unsigned on the President's desk at the White House. Expectation was that his signature will be attached today, making the measure effective beginning with the start of the new fiscal year tomorrow.

Seemingly Hopeless Efforts.

Appropriations Chairman Wesley L. Jones was making a seemingly hopeless effort to push the last half dozen appropriation bills through conference in time for enactment before the old year ends. Failing in that, continuing resolutions must be passed.

Department heads are looking to Comptroller of the Currency J. R. Mc-

Evidence Lacking, Foster Released

Communist Nominee Freed in Los Angeles, but Two Others Still Held.

Los Angeles, June 29 (A.P.).—William Z. Foster, Communist party presidential nominee, charged with "suspicion of criminal syndicalism," was released from the city jail today on orders of Capt. William F. Hynes, head of the police "red" squad.

Capt. Hynes said he had no evidence that Foster was engaged in the practice of criminal syndicalism. "I arrested Foster to keep peace in the city," Capt. Hynes said.

Ezra Chase and Raymond Lugo, who were arrested with Foster, remained in jail.

2,700 ARE EN ROUTE FROM WEST COAST

Health Menace Reappears; Veterans' Forces Begin Drilling Today.

A grim, blond young Oregonian last night rapped a figurative mailed fist on his desk and took supreme command of the bonus marchers whose onward push toward Washington in quest of the bonus he started.

Military drills were ordered to begin today at the various camps of the bonus expeditionary forces by Walter W. Waters, the tattered host's commander, as election returns from the camps confirmed his preponderant standing with the men as their leader. The maneuvers will continue for one hour daily.

For health's sake, for nerves' sake and for the purpose of "taking our minds off our worries and giving somebody else something to worry about," Waters edicted the drills, and he said he would appoint 500 military police to enforce the order, if necessary.

Another forceful move by Waters was the eviction of Mike Thomas as commander of the main camp of the veterans at Anacostia. Thomas has been the outstanding opponent of Waters' regime as head of the bonus forces. George Thompson, New Jersey veteran, was named to replace Thomas.

More Rigid Discipline.

"Hard-boiled" discipline from now on will be the keynote of his regime, Waters told a mass of the men yesterday at Camp Marks and he told them in no uncertain terms.

Waters was almost unanimously chosen commander of the tattered hosts yesterday in an election by the rank and file which at an early hour last night showed 11,223 votes for the Oregonian as against a scattering of less than 50 for three other candidates.

As returns began to show Waters' new selection as chief of the bonus legions, he again indicated that the watchword will remain what has become a veritable monomania with the veterans:

"We'll stick till the bonus is paid—till 1945 if necessary!"

Supplies Almost Exhausted.

Waters' dictatorial assumption of the reins after his election and his policy announcement came in the face of fast-ebbing supplies and the almost present fact of universal hunger among the ranks of the bonus marchers.

Another element of discouragement for the veterans was the election returns which showed less than 12,000 voting, whereas national headquarters of the B. E. F. claim the presence here of upward of 21,000 men. The scant vote was explained by veteran leaders as caused by the suddenness of the election which was called for yesterday only after Waters had been named by acclamation late Tuesday.

However, police indicated 400 men had arrived yesterday from various points and 2,700 were reported on the way here in 800 automobiles from California. Press dispatches from

Alabama Posse Slays Man Who Killed Two

Opelika, Ala., June 29 (A.P.).—A crazed Negro running amuck with a shotgun and razor here today killed his wife and Sheriff W. S. Jones, wounded two Negroes and finally was slain by a posse.

The sheriff went to the home of the Negro, Charles Miller, to arrest him for slashing his wife's throat and shooting Taylor Matthews and his wife. A volley of shots felled the officer as he entered the door. Miller fled but the posse overtook him in a cornfield 3 miles away and riddled him with 150 bullets.

New York Delegate Dies Near Stadium in Chicago

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—James J. Leavy, of the New York delegation to the Democratic convention, fell dead outside the Stadium this afternoon after a heart attack.

Leavy was deputy commissioner of New York State police, in charge of motorcycles.

GREAT WET DEMONSTRATION GREETS ADVOCATES OF PLANK BEFORE 934¾ TO 213¾ VOTE

FORCES OF GOV. ROOSEVELT ARE DIVIDED UPON QUESTION

Boos Reward Speakers Who Urge Moderation, Clearly Foreshadowing Defeat of Submission

Chicago Stadium, Thursday, June 30 (A.P.).—A national convention rocked with emotion put the Democratic party overwhelmingly on record shortly after midnight as favoring prohibition repeal and Volstead law modification. The vote was 934¾ to 213¾. The convention then adjourned to meet again at noon.

For more than two exciting hours debate had run with a fervor that roused both the delegates and galleries to demonstrations bordering at times on the riotous. From the outset, it was evident that triumph was certain for the militant extreme wets.

One after another State reputed as bulwarks of dry sentiment in years past, including some from the South, joined arms with the outspoken wet delegations from the industrial East.

Hailed by a swirling and tumultuous parade, the vote went the way that Alfred E. Smith had advocated in a crackling speech reminiscent of his palmiest campaign days. Tribute was accorded him from all quarters of the massed stadium, while he stood red-faced waiting the chance to tell the convention forcibly what he thought.

Roosevelt's "Hands Off."

The vote showed the lines for favorites for the nomination split in instance after instance. The dominance of Franklin D. Roosevelt in seeking to top the ticket in the balloting to come late today or tomorrow had no part, care having been taken by his organization early in the day to say that it was keeping "hands off" leaving Roosevelt delegates to vote as they would.

Senator Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, led the losing attempt to confine the prohibition plank to an advocacy of submitting a repeal amendment to the people. Contrasting with the tumult that Al Smith and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland inspired for their side, Hull had difficulty holding the audience at all. He and other opponents of pledging repeal were booed frequently and at times could hardly be heard for consecutive sentences.

Just before the vote, Ritchie set off more roars of approval in saying "I haven't the heart to keep you any longer from having a chance to vote for repeal."

Demonstrations Started.

His supporters and those for Smith in the nomination hunt seized upon their appearances on the speaker's platform to set off demonstrations, while the Roosevelt partisans clung to their chairs.

Shouts of approval greeted the solid votes of 94 by New York and 76 by Pennsylvania for advocating repeal, while catcalls and hisses were the return that the vote of 22 by Oklahoma on the submission side got. Texas and South Carolina were two of the

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—The complete text of the Democratic platform approved by the full resolutions committee and presented to the convention follows:

In this time of unprecedented economic and social distress the Democratic party declares its convictions that the chief causes of this condition were the disastrous policies pursued by our Government since the World War of economic isolation; fostering the merger of competitive businesses into monopolies; and encouraging the indefensible expansion and contraction of credit for private profit at the expense of the public.

Those who were responsible for these policies have abandoned the ideals on which the war was won, and thrown away the fruits of victory, thus rejecting the greatest opportunity in history to bring peace, prosperity and happiness to our people and to the world. They have ruined our foreign trade, destroyed the values of our commodities and products, crippled our banking system, robbed millions of our people of their life savings and thrown millions more out of work, produced widespread poverty and brought the Government to a state of financial distress unprecedented in times of peace.

The only hope for improving present conditions, restoring employment, affording permanent relief to the people, and bringing the Nation back to its former proud position of domestic happiness and of financial, industrial, agricultural and commercial leadership in the world lies in a drastic change in economic and governmental policies.

Believing that a party platform is a covenant with the people to be faithfully kept by the party when entrusted with power, and that the people are entitled to know in plain words the terms of the contract to which they are asked to subscribe, we hereby declare this to be the PLATFORM OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The Democratic party solemnly promises by appropriate action to put into effect the principles, policies and reforms herein advocated, and to eradicate the policies, methods and practices herein condemned.

We advocate:

1. An immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus, and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of Federal Government, and we call upon the Democratic party in the States to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result.

2. Maintenance of the national credit by a Federal budget annually balanced on the basis of accurate executive estimates within revenues, raised by a system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay.

3. A sound currency to be preserved at all hazards, and an international monetary conference called on the invitation of our Government, to consider the rehabilitation of silver and related questions.

4. A competitive tariff for revenue,

Capitol Hill Stirred By Events at Chicago

Senator Norris, Long Dry, Admits Prohibition Has Not Succeeded; Black Sponsors Resolution in House to Repeal Dry Law.

(Associated Press.)

A flurry of comment was stirred up on Capitol Hill yesterday by news that the Democratic resolutions committee had voted for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modificatoin of the Volstead act.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, told newspapermen he had been a prohibitionist and believed in it, but that "I can't get away from the fact that it hasn't been satisfactory."

"It may be," he added, "that modification of the Volstead act will be a necessary experiment that we will have to try, which I think we can do under the Constitution."

On the House side, Representative Black (Democrat), New York, introduced a resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment in accordance with the action of the Democratic resolutions committee.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said: "I prefer to see a plank for submission."

"If we are going to try another experiment," Norris said, "we could give a different definition to intoxicating liquor by increasing the alcoholic content. That will enable Congress to tax any beverage with an alcoholic content that comes below the definition."

Norris added that as a prohibitionist he had not been able to close his eyes to "the fact that the country seems to be the other way and that enforcement seems to be a failure."

Democratic opponents of prohibition were elated by the vote of the committee, but party drys were reluctant to comment until the convention itself had acted.

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), coauthor of the eighteenth amendment, said: "I don't wish to comment until I see the plank adopted by the convention."

Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri: "Splendid. That's fine."

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wis-

Six Itinerants Killed In Colorado Derailing

Castle Rock, Colo., June 29 (A.P.).—Six itinerants are known to have died in the derailment yesterday of a Santa Fe fruit train near Castle Rock, and wrecking crews today believed one or two more bodies may be found.

The known dead: Calvin Kaugle, 20, Ashland, Ky.; Estel Coburn, 17, Ashland, Ky.; Benny Modoskie, 22, Hollidays Cove, W. Va.; Everett Knox, 20, Colorado Springs, Colo., and two unidentified men.

Alleged Bootlegger Shot Dead in Chicago

Chicago, June 28 (A.P.).—A shotgun blast shattered a window in the home of George Brooks at suburban Calumet City early today and the visitors fell flat on the floor. All but Brooks seeming to know that killers were after him. He dashed out the door on the opposite side of the bungalow. In a moment six more shots rang out and they found his body felled by six bullets at close range.

Police said they suspected Brooks was a bootlegger. Three men in the house at the time were held for the inquest.

Parley Seat Fraud Causes Near Riot

Police Called as 10,000 Holders of Bona Fide Tickets Are Barred.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—A special police detail was rushed to the Chicago Stadium tonight when a milling crowd of ticket holders, estimated to number 10,000 persons, demanded admittance to the Democratic national convention, after the fire marshal had ordered the already packed hall closed.

Many of those in the crowd were holding $40 tickets. Police, after a preliminary investigation, announced thousands of "courtesy cards," counterfeits of those issued by Mayor Anton J. Cermak, had been "hawked" by street peddlers and purchasers of these had obtained admission to the stadium, monopolizing seats reserved for owners of the genuine tickets.

An effort to oust the "courtesy card" holders was to be made but several hours after the meeting convened little progress had been made.

Wife of Officer Jumps to Death

Mrs. Ethel A. Eggert Is Suicide at Home in Barcroft.

Mrs. Ethel A. Eggert, 55 years old, wife of Capt. Ernest F. Eggert, U. S. N., stationed at the Washington Navy Yard, was crushed to death yesterday afternoon when she leaped from the second story porch of her home in Barcroft, Va., to a concrete walk below.

Dr. B. H. Swain, Arlington County coroner, issued a certificate of suicide. Capt. Eggert, who hurried home from Washington when he was notified of his wife's act, said that she had been in ill health for several years.

Her body was found on the walk by Ammie German, who came to the Eggert home to mow the lawn. He called county police and Sheriff Howard Fields with several officers responded. They found a sheet tied around the porch railing which led them to believe that she had tried to hang herself before jumping.

Hysterical Woman Forces Plane Flying Here to Land

Ludington Ship Continues to Capital After Pilot and Others Aboard Fail to Calm Passenger, Who Is Charged With Drunkenness.

A Ludington Line airplane, bound here from Norfolk, Va., yesterday afternoon, was forced to make an emergency landing near Sheaden, Va., when a woman passenger became hysterical and for a time endangered the ship's control. She was identified later as Mrs. Bettie Noble, of Ocean View, Va.

Calm handling of the situation by Pilot Earl Smith probably saved the other passengers from injury. Scarcely had the plane left Norfolk, Smith declared, than he suddenly heard a commotion behind him in the passenger compartment. He paid little attention to this at first, he said, and directed his course toward Washington.

A short time later, Smith related, he felt the plane lurch to one side. Further on it suddenly became "tail heavy." This kept up for some distance, he said, and upon investigation he found one of his women passengers frantically running up and down the center aisle between the row of seats.

Mrs. Noble was tossing her arms about in a wild manner, Smith declared, and for the safety of the other passengers, he decided to land immediately. He picked the emergency

TUMULT MARKS DEBATE ON PLANK FOR REPEAL

FAVORING MINORITY REPORT, HULL BOOED

Shouts Come From Floor as Well as Galleries as Senator Speaks.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—To advocate adoption of the minority report on submission of prohibition repeal at the Democratic convention tonight, Senator Cordell Hull took the stand to the accompaniment of boos from the galleries—which made Chairman Walsh plead that all speakers be given a "respectful hearing."

The senator read those on the committee who joined in his stand, and declared he was "able to summon on this side all the traditions of the party and the avowed attitude in the past of some of those now on the other side."

He declared his was not undertaking to refer to the merits of prohibition and added:

"I do wish to say to my fellow delegates that whether willingly or not we are confronted with a serious responsibility. We are called upon upon a few minutes notice to decide a vitally important question."

Difference Is Explained.

Speaking fervently, nodding his head as he emphasized his points and firmly clenching the table before him, he explained the difference between the reports.

When he referred to the majority being for repeal, whistles and cheers broke his speech for a time.

Flinging out a fist, Hull declared the submission plank merely proposed a vote and did not undertake to lay down party doctrine.

"It is better," he said, "than any proposal which had been made in this convention up to the last 60 hours. It proposed that the prohibition issue is not to be made a mere partisan issue in this Nation.

"I invite my adversaries to assign some good reason why this should be made a partisan movement, rather than to permit the people to come together and to make their decision as the Constitution provides."

He argued that if prohibition were to be done away with, it should be done under the rules laid down by the Constitution, and that the submission plank would do just that because it would permit a decision in the orderly way without regard to narrow partisan politics."

Is Interrupted Again.

As Hull read the minority recommendation, more shouts of question and derision interrupted him—by now coming from the floor as well as the galleries.

The senator quoted John J. Raskob, the retiring chairman of the party, as having written members of Congress an appeal for "taking this question out of the hands of politicians and giving the people the opportunity to decide for themselves in the manner provided by the Constitution."

"I could stand here for hours," he started—but laughter and boos made him stop. Silence again, and he closed, insisting his position was in consonance with all the party and national precedents.

ADVOCATES' STAND WILDLY APPLAUDED

Those Urging Moderation Find Going Difficult Because of Boos.

Chicago Stadium, June 29 (A.P.).—Lifted into storming demonstrations by a thundering tide of oratory, the Democratic convention tonight showed many signs of a genuine stampede for prohibition repeal.

Marching and yelling itself hoarse, it gave the advocates of repeal ovation after ovation and interrupted with "boos" and catcalls a succession of speakers who appeared to argue for submission only.

To the surprise even of the repeal leaders, many delegates from the traditionally dry South joined in the procession, reversing in caucus the stand they had taken for years.

Al Smith, his face shining and his eyes lighted by the fire of battle, was greeted with a twelve-minute deep-throated demonstration when he appeared to ask for adoption of the repeal plank, suddenly written into the platform in committee late today.

Drys Have Difficult Time.

A dozen other speakers, including Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, author of the plank, were showered with applause as they argued that prohibition should be done away with entirely, and the right to decide returned to the States.

The opposition, led by Senator Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, had difficulty even securing a hearing. Some handclapping came from scattered sections but they were interrupted again and again by objecting delegates and spectators.

Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, who had asked six minutes to present his economic plank, was recognized by Chairman Walsh. His deep voice booming, Murray proposed several planks—the first for immediate payment of "the remainder of the bonus due the veterans of the World War, in cash, as a matter of common justice; and, further, because these payments being paid in all parts of the country will prove an economic betterment to all classes of business and enterprises in all sections of the Republic."

Murray Asks Silver Plank.

Some boos echoed here, but in the main the governor had attentive listeners as he proceeded to advocate making "government by injunction" illegal. He proposed conscription of both men and property in future wars. A fourth plank asked for laws to prevent the control of the farm lands by business concerns. There also was a bimetallism plank, demanding the coinage of silver and gold in equal proportions and in such quantities as the interests of the country might require, and a plank for the return of the "Scotch" banking system.

Brief applause was accorded him, and some more catcalls as well, as he ended proposing a league of States for conservation of oil.

Then Pat Harrigan, the reading clerk of the House of Representatives in Washington, read the McAdoo minority plank calling for:

"Enactment of effective measures to make safe against loss depositors in member banks of the Federal Reserve system."

"18th Amendment Doomed."

Chairman Walsh started things going with the announcement that "after much travail" the platform committee was ready, and appealed to the delegates and galleries to stay attentively quiet.

Hitchcock thereupon began the reading of the short, but explosive document, beads of perspiration rolling beneath his thinning white hair.

When he reached the repeal plank there was a wild demonstration culminating in the 20-minute parade around the hall.

Omitted by mistake previously, another minority report was read by Delegate L. L. McCandless, of Hawaii, which asked advocacy of home rule for Hawaii. Some applause and some "no's" were heard.

Thereupon, the prohibition debate was launched by Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, who started more shouting when he said:

Repeal Asked for "Decency."

"The immediate question," he said, "is how we are going to get rid of it and how soon. For twelve long years we have witnessed a vain attempt to make people moral by law."

As he started, the Massachusetts delegation rose almost en masse, banging noisy little frying pans that had hammers attached.

At conclusion of his address, Chairman Walsh recognized for two minutes Robert H. Anderson, of Jacksonville, Fla. Clad in a white linen suit and bending his tall form over slightly to read his manuscript, he spoke in a thin, piercing voice that hit every corner.

The audience seemed to be with him when he called for repeal "in the name of decency." His two minutes up at that point, cheers came for him as he was followed by E. H. Pollard, of Fort Madison, Iowa.

Smith's "Voice in Wilderness."

Michael L. Igoe, of Illinois, followed Smith saying he was proud to come "after Smith because he had followed him before," as he plunged also into a defense of the majority plank. He said: "My actions here tonight are indicative of the feeling throughout the United States. Three different times the people of Illinois have declared themselves opposed to the eighteenth amendment and they are not alone.

"Four years ago the voice you have just heard was like a voice crying in the wilderness. Tonight that voice is answered by roars and cheers of delegates who acclaim him the great leader of this cause."

Recognized on the minority time, Maury Hughes, of Texas, turned about—having just heard of the Texas caucus that voted to give its 46 votes to the majority plank—and asked support of the majority plank.

Referring to the '28 campaign and Texas going Republican, he said the Smith-Robinson ticket lost there because of religious intolerance, not because of prohibition.

Mrs. Jean Springstead Whittemore, of Puerto Rico, next said:

"Times have changed. Before the eighteenth amendment was passed thousands of men and women worked for temperance. After it passed they folded their arms and left it to the Federal Government."

Mayor T. S. Walmsley of New Orleans told the convention that "the time has come when we must be honest with ourselves."

"Don't let us kid ourselves," he said. "Let us be fair. Let us tell the world that we are Democrats, and that we don't want the eighteenth amendment, and that it has no place in the Constitution."

T. A. Walters, of Caldwell, Idaho, took up the minority case, bringing another cheer when he paid compliment to Al Smith. "The issue is not whether the eighteenth amendment is a failure or success," he said, "as this question is not before the convention."

Catcalls and some hissing broke in, with a few cheers.

"We are spending much time on something that will not secure the approval of this country," he insisted. "When men outside this convention hall are begging for bread we waste our time in this convention talking about booze."

Virginia Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Catherine J. Sloane, of Warrenton, Va., with a large "Byrd" badge shining forth on her soft red print dress, announced herself as a member of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform.

"The Republican party has failed us," she said. "As a Democratic woman I ask my fellow delegates to pledge the party to active work for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. We earnestly wish to bring about a better day."

Greeted with hat-waving from the Ohio delegation, Senator Robert J. Bulkley declared "the eighteenth amendment must, can and will be repealed."

"Any person who does not think it is a political issue," he said, "is badly mistaken. Politicians don't decide what the political issues are. The people do themselves."

Came Jouett Shouse. While the organ pealed a loud welcome, Shouse began by congratulating the platform committee on "both the nature and the brevity of the platform they have written for the Democratic party."

Shouse Asks Militant Stand.

"At last we have achieved the aim which has been the object of many men in the history of this country," he said, "the writing of a brief, honest, militant platform. The contrast it offers to the platform that was written by our adversaries two weeks ago is a criterion to the relative position the two parties have taken in the eyes of the Nation and of the world.

"For three years we have recognized that the outstanding question before the country was the prohibition question. And John Raskob and I, in our efforts to build up a strong party organization, have tried to pave the way for harmonious action on that subject.

"The Democratic party can never properly pay the debt it owes to John Raskob, who has been your national chairman during this period. But the outcome of this platform is all the reward either he or I ask for the work we have done.

"For God's sake, if you believe in repeal of the amendment, say so. A lie can not permanently live in the atmosphere of a free people."

William A. Comstock, of Detroit, added his strong voice to the majority cause, saying "along our State border lives a people who still believe in personal liberty."

Alabama Closes for "Drys."

Signs of restlessness multiplied among the delegates, numerous cries of "vote," "vote" coming. It grew to a roar but Chairman Walsh paid no attention—introducing former Senator Peter G. Gerry, of Rhode Island.

At the outset he reminded that his State has never ratified the controverted amendment. Saying he spoke for the State, he asked adoption of the repeal plank.

W. C. Pitts, of Birmingham, Ala., closing for the minority, disagreed with contentions as to the importance of the question.

"I ask you," he said, in connection with Smith's speech, "did he state any arguments? He did not, he made a lot of wisecracks.

With this, a swelling chorus of boos made it impossible for him to go on. Walsh went forward to ask for patience.

"The reason that these gentlemen have told you that this is such an important question is that they are looking beyond this vote to the selection of a nominee," Pitts said.

Sees Election Jeopardized.

"There is no necessity whatsoever for the Democratic party to make an issue like this," he said, "these gentlemen from the East could get as many votes from the East with the minority report as they could with the majority. This is because the Republican party says nothing, chases its own tail and we have nothing to fear on this question there."

"Why alienate voters and make States doubtful?" he asked. Protests from the floor became so noisy he had to stop. Over the whole delegate section there were cries of "vote," "vote." When order was restored the speaker began, "Fellow delegates, my time has about expired," and floor and galleries were swept by cheers.

The confusion became so great again that the Alabaman's words could not be understood. Chairman Walsh begged and expostulated.

Ritchie Wildly Acclaimed.

In "at least five States," Pitts continued, the plank would do the Democracy "inestimable harm."

"We will carry on the fight," he promised, "and we will win the fight, but you will have trouble. I am speaking for the Democracy of those States in the South, that are so circumstanced that this will create trouble for us. Now if you want to go on, go. We'll do our best, you may be sure of that, but it is simply a useless, senseless undertaking."

A tumult accompanied the conclusion of the speech. Then, as the whole convention seemed to go wild, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland came to the front of the platform to close the debate for the repeal plank. His delegatoin started a parade as the pipe organ played "Maryland, My Maryland" and then "Dixie."

Ritchie stood smiling as the demonstration went on, handsome and perfectly attired as ever and perfectly at home. The Maryland standard was the only one that was paraded, and the march soon quieted down.

Again and again the delegates and galleries interrupted to cheer Maryland's favorite son as he pounded at his theme with every ounce that was in him.

field near Sheaden. Once on the ground the woman refused to leave the plane.

Smith went to a nearby farm house and obtained a quantity of straps and rope. He pointed out to the passengers that the only way to effect a safe trip to Washington would be to tie Mrs. Noble to one of the seats.

Attempts to tie her, however, were futile, and Smith decided to continue the trip when his passengers volunteered to hold the woman in her seat.

Washington-Hoover Airport was notified and two Arlington County, Va., policemen were on hand to meet the plane. Mrs. Noble was taken into a room of the airport and later transferred to the Arlington County jail.

A charge of drunkenness was placed against her and she was released in the custody of a friend after posting $10.35.

Sister Willed Residue Of Patterson Estate

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—William J. Patterson, who died June 18, left the residue of his estate of undetermined value to his sister, Mrs. Mary Ellen Mackey, of Pittsburgh, his will filed today showed.

The will bequeathed $5,000 to the Presbyterian Church of New Cumberland, W. Va., and similar amounts to Mrs. Mary Boland, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Elnora Wright, Youngstown, Ohio, nieces; Robert P. Mackey, New Castle, Pa., a nephew, and William P. McClaren, Westwood, Mass., son of a deceased step-daughter.

ROOSEVELT-GARNER TICKET PREDICTED

Friends of Speaker Say He Is Likely Running Mate if Governor Wins.

(Associated Press.)

A belief that Speaker Garner will be Franklin D. Roosevelt's running mate if the New York Governor wins the presidential nomination at Chicago spread yesterday among House Democratic members.

The Speaker himself maintained his strict silence on all subjects relating to his candidacy—whether for first or second place.

But a number of the Texan's friends and supporters, some of whom wore "Garner-for-President" buttons, were firm in their predictions of a possible Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

They argued that the Speaker's statement last week expressing appreciation for his Texas and California support at the convention and announcing his willingness "to serve my country and my party to the limit of my capacity," opened the way to acceptance of the vice presidential nomination.

They stressed that in the same statement Garner declared unqualifiedly for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and pointed to the platform committee's 35-to-17 vote in the same direction.

Further, they contended that Garner is the most logical choice west of the Mississippi for a plank on the party ticket, and asserted his prestige had grown through his leadership of the House.

These friends felt that Garner's refusal to "make trades" in the convention fight did not indicate opposition to Roosevelt, but rather a determination not to attempt "delivery" of his 90 Texas and California delegates to any candidate.

On the contrary, they said, the unwavering support of these delegates places the Speaker in a strong position for the second-place nomination, while for the first place their usefulness would depend upon development of a deadlock.

Plane Hunts Overdue Yacht.

Nice, France, June 29 (A.P.).—Friends of Borrah Minnevitch, harmonica orchestra leader, whose private sloop is more than three days overdue at Tunis, chartered an airplane today and searched halfway to Corsica, but found no trace of him.

David Walsh Backs Repeal; Says Amendment Doomed

Criticizes Contention That Dropping of Law Would "Deluge Country With Liquor," Saying Issue Would Be Returned to States.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, tonight called on the Democratic party to register itself for repeal of the eighteenth amendment with the declaration:

Before the packed floor and galleries at the Democratic convention he said: "The eighteenth amendment is doomed."

"I plead with the Democratic party," he added, "to meet the issue squarely, and if we favor repeal, say so, in terms that can not be mistaken."

Walsh was a leader in the struggle in the platform building resolutions committee which finally resulted in a majority of the committee recommending repeal and modification of the Volstead act.

The issue was before the convention as Walsh spoke.

Walsh argued there was no merit in the contention that "naked repeal of the amendment would deluge the country with liquor without regulation or restraint, and bring back the open saloon."

"It will do nothing of the kind," he continued. "Simple and straightforward repeal of the eighteenth amendment, without reservation, automatically restores to the States their own untrammeled rights to deal with the liquor traffic as each State sees fit. That is as it should be."

On the proposal to modify the Volstead act, pending repeal, Walsh said: "We of the majority also believe that the Democratic party ought to offer to the country more than its pledge to repeal the eighteenth amendment. Our party ought to call upon Congress for immediate liberalization of the Volstead act."

RITCHIE MAKES PLEA FOR REPEAL PLANK

Emphasizes Tax Relief and State Rights in Appeal to Convention.

Chicago Stadium, June 29 (A.P.).—Basing his argument upon his familiar State rights theme, Gov. Ritchie of Maryland tonight appealed to the Democratic national convention to support repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"Those States which want prohibitory legislation are entitled to have it," he said. "If this meets the circumstances or desires of any of the States, then such States should be free and undisturbed in their right to have the legislation they wish. More than that, effective Federal measures should be established to protect such States against shipments from other States which would contravene their laws and the will of their people.

"But other States whose problems are different also should be free to enact laws within their own borders best suited to their conditions, laws which, in their experience, are best adapted to promote temperance, morality and order among their own peoples."

The Marylander, himself a candidate for the party's presidential nomination, spoke in behalf of the platform plank adopted today by the resolutions committee with which the party would commit itself to support of repealing the prohibition amendment and immediate modification.

"If national prohibition were repealed and State control substituted," he said, "the Federal revenues thus derived would give infinite relief to an overtaxed people. It would be entirely unnecessary to have many of the emergency taxes which now Congress has imposed." * * *

"I could go on, but time forbids. All I am pleading for is that we do not forget the fundamental political elements which have made us a great Nation and a free people, and that we crush all tendencies to tamper with our political foundations in any way which might jeopardize the whole governmental superstructure."

"Our real progress was made before we put prohibition in the Constitution, where as a matter of sound government it ought not to be, and when we were leaving it to the States, where as a matter of sound government it ought to be."

The governor said he had been protesting for more than ten years against the evils of undue Government centralization in Washington. He cited the eighteenth amendment as "the most outstanding illustration" of them.

"This amendment should never have been put in the Constitution," he said in conclusion. "The time has come when we can rectify that mistake and take it out."

Fire and Blast Wreck Part of Utility Plant

Bremo, Va., June 29 (A.P.).—Fire and an oil tank explosion in the Bremo Bluff plant of the Virginia Public Service Co. late yesterday wrecked one end of the gigantic $4,000,000 plant. Oil, leaking upon a pipe carrying hot steam, caused the fire which quickly spread to a large oil tank in the northwestern part of the plant.

Much of the electrical equipment was destroyed as the fire raged for an hour. One unit of the plant, including boilers and turbo, was apparently undamaged except by smoke, and that unit was put into operation last night.

ROOSEVELT DENIES TRY TO BUY TRAYLOR

$10,000 Is Reported Offered to Chicagoan if He Will Quit Race.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—A prompt disavowal came from Roosevelt headquarters today of any connection with an effort Frank Scofield, manager for Melvin Traylor, said had been made by a man claiming to be a Roosevelt supporter to have the Chicagoan withdraw from the race.

Schofield said the man, whom he did not know, had offered him $10,000 to sign a statement withdrawing Traylor from the race.

"It's a ridiculous story," said James A. Farley, the governor's campaign manager.

"No one has any authority in any manner to make any such un-Roosevelitian suggestion," said Ike B. Dunlap, of Kansas City, a Roosevelt follower. "That is not the Roosevelt way of doing business. Mr. Melvin Traylor would not accept such an insult as suggested."

R. G. Dunham, floor manager for Traylor, attributed the visit to "an interloper or some one who butted in and didn't have anything to do with any one's campaign. The Traylor forces have no desire and would not seek to discredit Roosevelt in any way."

Scofield, Dunham said, informed newspapermen of the visit only after a Chicago newspaper had learned of it, from an anonymous telephone call.

"He made the announcement to protect himself and Mr. Traylor," Dunham said.

Traylor said he had not learned of the incident until informed by newspapermen.

He had no other comment other than to say he had no intention of withdrawing from the race.

Circus 'Con' Game Lands Man in Jail

Big Doughnut Orders Fall Through as Racket Is Exposed.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—If only the Kelly Brothers had bought a circus, R. B. Grady wouldn't be in jail today, and the butchers, the bakers and candlestick makers of suburban Brookfield would be talking prosperity and counting the profits.

Grady, the police story runs, came to town as advance agent for the Kelly Brothers Circus and collected from each of the merchants his "commission" of $3.75 on a $7.50 advertisement they were requested to place on the circus ferris wheel.

In return, he ordered from them stacks of pies many feet high, barrels of doughnuts, loads of groceries and much fruit for the monkeys, all to be delivered when the circus arrived June 28. Came yesterday, but no circus. In fact, the chief of police found out the Kelly brothers never owned one. Grady was arrested as he "advanced" on nearby suburban Elmhurst and charged with operating a confidence game.

Garner Declared Deaf To Trade Overtures

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.) —Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth, told a meeting of fellow Texan and California delegates today that John N. Garner had turned deaf ears to all overtures for "trades" on the presidential nomination.

DEAFENING OVATION IS ACCORDED SMITH

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—"The Happy Warrior"—Alfred E. Smith—took the stand at the Democratic convention session tonight to urge the repeal plank, bringing a wild shout that made the rafters ring as the hordes in the galleries and thousands of those on the floor and in the boxes stood in a piercing demonstration. When the demonstration finally subsided Smith, allowed ten minutes, began answering Senator Cordell Hull by saying:

"Of course the fact that the senator only found out in the last three days that there is sentiment in this country for repeal is just too bad. There is absolutely nothing that the convention can do about that except extend sympathy."

Smith referred to Hull's declaration that the party should not mix itself up in the question of constitutional amendment.

"What about the income tax?" he asked. "What about the popular election of senators? Didn't the party take a position on those amendments?

"Since when has it become any violation of party creed to declare emphatically in favor of the rights of the States?

"People Dislike Dodger."

"The senator quoted from my speech of acceptance. That was four years ago. Did the senator agree with me four years ago? He did not. And, because I happened to be four years ahead of my time, look what happened to me.

"Things have moved pretty rapidly in four years, and in that four years some of the chief complaints against the administration at Washington have pertained to that particular question.

"If there's anything the American people dislike its a dodger. The Republican candidate four years ago was in just that position. He wanted to be right with everybody. He described the amendment as a noble experiment.

"He indicated he was going to do something about it. He did do something. He appointed a commission which spent a half a million dollars. And when he got the report, he sent for the blotting paper and, and dried it up.

Pleads for Volstead Repeal.

"In this hall two weeks ago the Republican convention met. I promised myself to listen to it on the radio (pronounced raddio, to the delight of the crowd), but the speech of the temporary chairman was all I could stand.

"I believe in giving that convention all the credit in the world for its good intentions, but it's an awful thing to have the boss call you up and have him say, 'No matter what you think about it, this is what I think.'

"I hope in the interest of the party, in the interest of the country, I sincerely hope in the interest of the taxpayers, that the report of the majority of the committee may be adopted by this convention."

He asked for an "honest, fair" definition of what constitutes an intoxicant "in place of the definition of the Anti-saloon League, written into the Constitution by Wayne B. Wheeler himself." He commended particularly, therefore, that part of the plank which proposed amendment of the Volstead act.

The happy warrior concluded amid a renewed ovation, which continued until he had found his way down from the platform and was again in his seat in the New York delegation.

Hot Dog Vender Seeks Stadium

Weiner Merchant's Suit Would Oust Convention of Democrats.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Louis Johnston is looking for a place to put his hot dogs. But it's certain no court will oust the whole Democratic national convention to make room for them.

He filed suit yesterday for possession of the Chicago Stadium, where the Democrats are meeting to choose their 1932 presidential candidates. Johnston charged he had a lease signed by Sidney Strotz, president of the stadium corporation, which includes right of possession of the entire building, although he was frank enough to say he didn't believe such a grant was the intention of the company.

He alleged the lease for a grill concession in the building was terminated by the company without cause three weeks ago.

Foibles and Highlights Of Democratic Session

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—John J. Raskob, one of the moneyed men of the Democratic party, today was among the box-lunch picknickers at the convention. He consumed a sandwich as he listened to the long list of extemporaneous performers killing time while they waited for the platform to come in. He might just as well have dined in state—for nothing came of it. The session adjourned to get the platform later.

Elisabeth Marbury, self-styled "grandmother of democracy" in New York, wheels by an Emergency Hospital on her way to the stadium every morning.

"And every day I tell the man pushing my chair—a little more nervously every day—'put some speed on, put some speed on!'"

Suffering from arthritis, the picturesque delegate keeps up a stream of wisecracks on the Democratic scene. But she said "the only real excitement I get is news from my farm: potatoes are coming up."

It's a happy reunion as well as a Democratic convention for at least two of its prominent women. Mrs. Robert C. Watts, of Lynchburg, Va., and Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, of Mississippi, sisters, are national committeewomen from their respective States and all the talking they do is not about who will be nominated. They are daughters of the late Senator A. J. McLaurin, of Mississippi.

There was much talk of William Jennings Bryan today at breakfast where members of his family and friends gathered. Josephus Daniels recalled the "Commoner's" famous cross-of-gold speech in 1896 and smilingly said:

"Some North Carolinians are still voting for Bryan."

Alfred E. Smith had a new job today—autographing pocketbooks. As the "happy warrior" attempted to leave the Congress Hotel nearly a dozen young women with white cloth pocketbooks and handbags surrounded him and begged him to scribble. Pushing his straw hat back on his head and rolling a cigar to the corner of his mouth he said, "Sure I will," and spent the next ten minutes doing so.

Senator Huey Long apparently held no enmity against California after its delegation had cast 44 votes against seating him in the convention. When the balloting had ended and the "kingfish" of Louisiana had celebrated on the floor, he dashed out behind the press stand and consumed four glasses of orange juice in quick succession. But maybe they were Florida oranges, at that.

"Lend me 50 cents," yelled a tall Texan as he hopped from a taxicab and greeted a friend. It was none other than Jesse Jones, of Houston, Tex., who fixed up the Democrats for the 1928 convention. And what's more, he had just returned from a meeting of financial giants who had arranged a loan of around $70,000,000 to a Chicago bank.

It was worth traveling 10,000 miles to sit in this Democratic convention, says Robert Emmet Manley, national committeeman from the Philippines. Manley came all the way from home just for this event.

"Hurray for Hoover," boomed out from the balcony of Ritchie headquarters in the Congress last night, the tones carrying all down candidates' row. The miscreant escaped before the aroused groups could collect a reprisal party.

Jim Noble, a Negro messenger at the Oklahoma statehouse, is among the group from that State.

"They can't have one of these things without old Jim Noble," he said. "I helped 'em nom'nate Mr. Bryan at Denver an' I was at Houston fo' years ago. It's goin' to be Bill Murray this time."

James A. Farley, often called "One Ballot" Farley since he came to Chicago, felt so confident of Gov. Roosevelt's nomination today that he played hookey from headquarters and went swimming. He has clung to his Roosevelt-on-the-first-ballot prediction ever since the first primary result from New Hampshire in the early spring.

Just a bit of by-play during the Democratic prohibition repeal jamboree:

Maryland's chivalrous candidate, Albert C. Ritchie, welcomes the Louisiana "Kingfish," Senator Huey Long, boisterously pledged to Franklin D. Roosevelt. Ritchie extends a cigar.

PLANKS ADVOCATE SWEEPING REFORMS

"Disastrous Policies" Since World War Blamed for Conditions.

with a fact-finding tariff commission free from Executive interference; reciprocal tariff agreements with other nations; and an international economic conference designed to restore international trade and facilitate exchange.

5. Extension of Federal credit to the States to provide unemployment relief wherever the diminishing resources of the States make it impossible for them to provide for the needy; expansion of the Federal program of necessary and useful construction affected with a public interest, such as flood control and waterways, including the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes deep waterways; the spread of employment by a substantial reduction in the hours of labor, the encouragement of the shorter week by applying that principle in Government service; advance planning of public works.

6. Unemployment and old-age insurance, under State laws.

7. For the restoration of agriculture, the Nation's basic industry, better financing of farm mortgages through reorganized farm bank agencies at low rates of interest, on an amortization plan, giving preference to credits for the redemption of farms and homes sold under foreclosure; extension and development of the farm cooperative movement, and effective control of crop surpluses so that our farmers may have the full benefit of the domestic market; enactment of every constitutional measure that will aid the farmers to receive for basic commodities prices in excess of cost.

Adequate Army and Navy.

8. A Navy and an Army adequate for national defense, based on a survey of all facts affecting the existing establishments, that the people in time of peace may not be burdened by an expenditure fast approaching a billion dollars annually.

9. Strict and impartial enforcement of the antitrust laws to prevent monopoly and unfair trade practices, and revision thereof for the better protection of labor and the small packer and distributer; the removal of Government from all fields of private enterprise, except where necessary to develop public works and natural resources in the common interest. Conservation development and use of the Nation's water power in the public interest.

We favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

To effect such repeal, we demand that the Congress immediately propose a constitutional amendment to purely representative conventions in the States called to act solely on that proposal.

We urge the enactment of such measures by the several States as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the States.

We demand that the Federal Government effectively exercise its power to enable the States to effectually protect themselves against importation of intoxicating liquors in violation of their laws.

Pending repeal, we favor immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the Constitution and to provide therefrom a proper and needed revenue.

10. Protection of the investing public by requiring to be filed with the Government and carried in advertisements of all offerings of foreign and domestic stocks and bonds true information as to bonuses, commissions, principal invested and interests of sellers.

Regulation to the full extent of the Federal power of

(a) Holding companies which sell securities in interstate commerce.

(b) Rates of utility companies operating across State lines.

(c) Exchanges trading in securities and commodities.

11. Quicker methods of realising on assets for the relief of depositors of suspended banks and a more rigid supervision of national banks for the protection of depositors and the prevention of the use of their moneys in speculation to the detriment of local credits.

The severance of affiliated securities companies and the divorce of the investment banking from commercial banks, and further restriction of Federal Reserve Banks in permitting the use of Federal Reserve facilities for speculative purposes.

Justice for War Veterans.

12. The full measure of justice and generosity for all war veterans who have suffered disability or disease caused by or resulting from actual service in time of war, and for their dependents.

13. A firm foreign policy including: Peace with all the world and the settlement of international disputes by arbitration; no interference in the international affairs of other nations; the sanctity of treaties, and the maintenance of good faith and of good will in financial obligations; adherence to the World Court with the pending reservations; the pact of Paris abolishing war as an instrument of national policy, to be made effective by provisions for consultation and conference in case of threatened violation of treaties; international agreement for reduction of armaments, and cooperation with nations of the Western Hemisphere to maintain the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine.

We oppose cancellation of the debts owing to the United States by foreign nations.

14. Independence for the Philippines; ultimate statehood for Puerto Rico; the employment of American citizens in the operation of the Panama Canal.

15. Simplification of legal procedure and reorganization of the judicial system to make the attainment of justice speedy, certain and at less cost.

16. Continuous publicity of political contributions and expenditures, strengthening of the corrupt practices act, and severe penalties for misappropriation of campaign funds.

Paid Lobbies Are Condemned.

We condemn:

1. The improper and excessive use of money in political activities.

2. Paid lobbies of special interests to influence members of Congress and other public servants by personal contact.

3. Action and utterances of high public officials designed to influence stock exchange prices.

4. The open and covert resistance of administrative officials to every effort made by congressional committees to curtail the extravagant expenditures of the Government, and to revoke improvident subsidies granted to favored interests.

5. The extravagance of the Farm Board, its disastrous action which made the Government a speculator in farm products, and the unsound policy of restricting agricultural production to the demands of domestic markets.

State Department Is Hit.

6. The usurpation of power by the State Department in assuming to pass upon foreign securities offered by international bankers, as a result of which billions of dollars in questionable bonds have been sold to the public upon the implied approval of the Federal Government.

7. The Hawley-Smoot tariff law, the prohibitive rates of which have resulted in retaliatory action by more than 40 countries, created international economic hostilities, destroyed international trade, driven our factories into foreign countries, robbed the American farmer of his foreign markets and increased his cost of production.

Conclusion:

To accomplish these purposes and to recover economic liberty we pledge the nominees of this convention and the best effort of a great party whose founder announced the doctrine which guides us now, in the hour of our country's need—"Equal rights to all, special privileges to none."

High points of the 1932 Democratic pronouncement of policies included:

Repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

A 25 per cent cut in Federal expenditures—$1,000,000,000—and a balanced budget.

A "competitive tariff for revenue."

An international monetary conference to be called by this Government to consider rehabilitation of silver.

Indorsement of loans to States for unemployment relief and public construction.

Refinancing farm mortgages; extension of cooperative marketing; effective control of crop surpluses, and indorsement of "every constitutional measure" to help farmers get cost of production.

Regulation of interstate utility companies and stock exchanges.

Fullest generosity for all war veterans, but no mention of the cash bonus.

Relief for depositors of closed banks.

CONGRESS LEADERS STIRRED BY CONVENTION WET TREND

consin: "There is nothing uncertain about that action."

In the House, a member advised Garner of what had occurred and brought word that Garner had expressed his satisfaction with the decision.

Only last week the Speaker in a formal statement said the amendment "should be repealed."

Representative Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, concurred, adding that "there is no pussy-footing here, as in the Republican platform."

President Hoover was informed of the action by friends, but there was no indication that he would have any comment.

Representative Schafer (Republican), Wisconsin, challenged Speaker Garner to get "his Democratic controlled House" to submit a repeal amendment at once.

"The Speaker," Schafer said, "is now an ardent wet, although he voted for the Jones five and ten law, and from these Chicago reports it would seem his party has gone wet. How long will it be before the Democrats quit just talking wet and begin voting that way?"

Schafer said if the Democrats could not muster enough votes, "there are enough wet Republicans on the other side to put the matter before the people."

Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, said: "I hope the Democratic convention will adopt the plank favoring ultimate repeal and immediate modification. Furthermore, I hope Congress will remain in session long enough after the adoption of this plank to permit those who really believe in repeal and immediate modification to make the suggestion of a change in the laws."

Bingham, who fought for adoption of a repeal plank by the Republican convention, said he expected hereafter to have solid Democratic support for his proposals except from Sheppard.

Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, immediately sent telegrams to Chairman Raskob, of the Democratic national committee, and Chairman Sanders, of the Republican national committee, urging that they join forces to effect immediate modification of the Volstead act.

Referring to the platform of the Republican party and the recommendations of the Democratic resolutions committee, LaGuardia said "both parties are at last in accord that prohibition has been a failure and that it is not enforceable."

Contending aid to the unemployed and generally improved economic conditions would result, he asked "why do not both parties join in a recommendation to Congress for immediate action and necessary legislation modifying the prohibition enforcement laws pending submission of repeal resolution to the States?"

He said neither party in Congress had sufficient votes to act alone, but both together could.

ROOSEVELT READY TO FLY TO CHICAGO

Executive Mansion, Albany, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—While a big and speedy trimotored airplane, fueled and with two pilots standing by, awaited his orders at Albany Airport, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight maintained his customary reserve about his plans and the progress of his campaign for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States.

Although officials of the American Airways in Cleveland had confirmed reports the airplane had been chartered and was being held in readiness to take him to Chicago, Gov. Roosevelt would not say this was true, nor did he deny it. He only laughed.

"Now, I'll tell you what I'm going to do," he said with pretended seriousness. "I'm going to bicycle out to Chicago.

"I'm going to get one of those quintets—you know, five bicycles in a row.

"Father will ride in the first seat and manage the handle bars, Emily in the second, then Elliott, then Franklin, jr., and then John.

"Sam (referring to Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenman, his former counsel) will follow—on a tricycle."

At both of today's press conferences Gov. Roosevelt was in high good humor—but would not talk about Chicago. He received a telephone call from his son, James, while the newspaper correspondents were in session with him in the late afternoon. At the same time news came that the platform committee had adopted a straight repeal plank. But he had no comment to make.

The airplane awaiting Gov. Roosevelt's orders at Albany Airport will carry thirteen passengers and two pilots. Earl Ward, one of the most experienced pilots in the air transport business, is in charge. He has a copilot, whose name was not announced.

Practically new, the ship has a cruising speed of about 130 miles an hour, and could get the governor to Chicago in considerably less than eight hours. The usual route from Albany to Chicago is by way of Buffalo and Cleveland. Although the wing tank, as well as the main tanks were filled, it was said the flight could hardly be made nonstop because of prevailing headwinds.

Equipped with all the latest tricks for passenger comfort and convenience, it has a two-way radio set, so that the governor could still direct proceedings in Chicago although in the air. The most general guess, however, is that he will not fly to Chicago unless he is nominated.

The ship has the Department of Commerce license NC-415-H.

"You know, I feel sorry for you people," the governor said with a smile as the conference broke up late this afternoon.

Piankatank Steamer Starts New Routine

Baltimore, June 29 (A.P.).—The steamer Virginia today left Baltimore on its first trip to points along the Piankatank River under the ownership of the Western Shore Freight Co. The boat was purchased from the defunct Baltimore & Virginia Line.

Capt. James W. Gresham, president of the line, said the Virginia will make two trips weekly to towns along the streams with both passengers and freight.

REPARATIONS HOPE BECOMES BRIGHTER

participating were France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan.

One of the factors contributing to the lessening of the tension was Chancellor von Papen's explanation to the French that in calling for revision of the Versailles Treaty he did not mean it must take place before the issues of reparations and economic reconstruction had been discussed.

The chancellor said that if Germany were to contribute her utmost toward restoring world confidence, such clauses as those in the Versailles Treaty which discriminate against Germany must be abolished.

A German spokesman denied that during the day's negotiations the Berlin government had accepted the principle of reparations.

A commercial committee was set to work drafting an agenda for the proposed world economic conference. Mr. MacDonald said the United States would be asked to have a representative on this committee.

The British prime minister's determined maneuvering was credited with being the factor which broke the Franco-German deadlock. But, although things look better, it was authoritatively said that no reparations agreement was immediately in sight. The explanation offered was that, inasmuch as the Germans and the French could not settle the matter themselves, proposals would be made which France and Germany could either accept or reject.

The improvement in the atmosphere was apparent at the conclusion of an afternoon meeting attended by the delegates of the six powers. At its conclusion Herr von Papen said:

"Well, we are not leaving Lausanne yet."

"No," agreed Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain. "We are going to work on into the night."

"The conference continues more than ever," declared a French delegate.

The German chancellor first issued his treaty revision demand in the form of a statement to the press which replied to Mr. MacDonald's request for an outline of the concessions Germany was ready to make in order to clear the way for a reparations settlement.

"World confidence can not be reestablished," the chancellor said, "if the powers which emerged victors from the World War do not eliminate the discrimination created by the Treaty of Versailles."

Later in the day Herr von Papen informed Premier Herriot that Germany demanded revision of the Polish Corridor and of the Eastern frontier, as well as redistribution of the world's gold supply, a factor which the Reich considers a prerequisite to the revival of business.

Lightning Without Rain Burns Maryland Barn

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 29.—A barn on the farm of Charles E. Stunkle, near Point of Rocks, was struck by a freakish flash of lightning yesterday and destroyed by fire. A quantity of wheat, hay, corn and farming implements also were consumed.

The blaze was discovered by Miss Mary Elizabeth Stunkle, daughter of the owner, who with other members of the family liberated eleven cows. Neighbors assisted in preventing the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. No storm was apparent and no rain was falling when the flash came. The loss is estimated at several thousand dollars.

Flour Sacks to Clothe Needy of Minneapolis

Minneapolis, June 29 (A.P.).—Flour sacks will be converted into clothing by Minneapolis unemployed for use of the needy under a plan of the Women's Occupational Bureau sanctioned by Mayor William A. Anderson.

The sacks will be solicited from the flour mills and bag companies here for this purpose.

7 CANDIDATES ALERT AS BALLOTING NEARS

"Alfalfa Bill" Every Place; Lively Pep Meeting Is Held for Garner.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Seven candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination gave the gun to their zooming campaigns today with the ever-present thought that by tomorrow night all but one in the flight may be grounded.

Frank Scofield, manager for Melvin Traylor, took the lid off the candidates' pot early in the day with a statement charging an unidentified Roosevelt supporter had offered him $10,000 to sign a paper withdrawing the Chicago banker in favor of the New York Governor. The statement quickly brought denials from John A. Farley, the Roosevelt manager, but it set Candidates' Row buzzing.

Al Smith seemed to have gone into retirement after yesterday's protracted session in the stadium. He was not in the conference with John J. Raskob, Jouett Shouse and John W. Davis last night, and he was absent from Smith headquarters, but crowds continued to pour in to collect buttons and campaign literature.

Murray Is Active.

William H. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murray probably will be awarded the palm for endurance when this convention is ended. He seems to be every place, leading the kiltie band from Oklahoma in various hotel lobbies, visiting rival campaign headquarters and greeting a stream of visitors in his own office.

He still holds the Oklahoma delegation's votes, although in impromptu speeches he has declared he has not enough money to be elected. Murray today was preparing a speech on the soldiers' bonus to be presented from the convention platform.

James A. Reed, Missouri's favorite son, appeared to be having the most difficulty. His delegation split yesterday on the Walsh-Shouse vote against Reed's expressed wishes and there were reports that he would withdraw, but Reed continued to deny them.

Garner "Pep" Meeting.

Ritchie, of Maryland; Byrd, of Virginia; White, of Ohio, and friends of Speaker Garner, of Texas, still continued to consult leaders in the various delegations in the interests of their candidates.

The California and Texas delegations held a "pep" meeting today to "whoop it up" for Garner. The Old Gray Mare Band made plans for a parade on the convention floor and William G. McAdoo, of California, reported Garner had told him on the telephone from Washington that "I am in the hands of my friends."

Rumors that Garner supporters had made "a deal" with some other group were vehemently denied, both by Garner and by John B. Elliott, who managed the Garner campaign in southern California.

Roosevelt headquarters remained confident, almost jubilant, after yesterday's skirmishes on the floor, with resulting Roosevelt victories. Leaders continued to come and go and conferences followed each other in quick succession.

2 of 4 Youths Shot In Holdup Attempt

Two Pairs of Brothers Are Jailed at Staunton and Plead Guilty.

Staunton, Va., June 29 (A.P.).—Four West Virginia youths who early this morning attempted to rob a store at Hightown in Highland County, were in jail tonight awaiting grand jury action on housebreaking charges. All pleaded guilty at a preliminary hearing in magistrate's court.

Two of the quartet were shot by Hevener, who with his father, J. W. Hevener, surprised them while they were engaged in bagging their loot. After the first two to leave had been shot in the legs and hip, the others remained inside the store, where they were arrested.

The quartet, two pairs of brothers, gave their names as Melvin Mowrey, 19; Clarence Mowrey, 21; Brady Roy, 17, and Elmer Roy, 19, all of Harmon, W. Va. The attempted robbery marked the fourth at the Hevener store this year.

Funeral Services Held For Gen. F. E. Bamford

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., June 29.—Funeral services for Brig. Gen. Franklin E. Bamford, World War hero, who died suddenly at his home at Summit Point Monday, were held at the home today, in charge of the Episcopal rector.

The body was immediately taken to Arlington Cemetery, Washington, for rest in a chapel until arrival of Mrs. Bamford from Canada. Burial will be with military rites in Arlington at her direction.

Bees Sound Siren, Then Mix It With Firemen

Madison, Iowa, June 29 (A.P.).—Having worked all day making honey, a swarm of bees decided to spend the night in the town's fire siren. But it got too crowded inside and they touched off two eerie blasts with a short circuit at 1 a. m.

Hundreds of volunteer firefighters got up from bed and hurried out to do their duty. Then they found the bees, to say nothing of the bees that found some firemen.

PLANK FOR REPEAL DISAPPOINTS GLASS

Virginia Delegation 'Certain' to Cling to Byrd Plan of Submission.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—With Gen. William Mitchell, former chief of the Air Corps, asking a poll on the outright prohibition repeal plank recommended by the resolutions committee, Chairman M. B. Booker, of Halifax, tonight began a chase through the hotels in an effort to obtain the vote of every member of the huge Virginia delegation before the convention met.

While the action of the State convention in voting for submission of repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the people was not binding, Booker said the unit rule would apply, and he felt certain the submissionists would far outnumber the number favoring outright repeal.

Senator Carter Glass, member of the resolutions committee and a signer of the minority report, was among the first to sign his name against outright repeal on the ballot presented by Booker. Others were Representative Thomas G. Burch, State Senator William M. Tuck, State Democratic Chairman J. Murray Hooker and C. C. Reed, of Chesterfield.

McAdoo Advises Plank To Protect Depositors

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—William G. McAdoo carried with him to the Democratic Convention tonight, a minority report recommending an addition to the platform.

The plank, defeated, 27 to 22, in committee, proposes: "Enactment of effective measures to make safe against loss depositors in member banks of the Federal Reserve System."

Last of Four Children Killed at Play by Train

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 29.—The 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Moss was struck by a westbound Baltimore & Ohio train at Weverton today and instantly killed.

The child left home to play, and when he did not return his parents went to search for him. The body was found along the track a short distance from the house. The boy was the last of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Moss who have died within the last three years.

TRADE PARLEY FUND REFUSED BY SENATE

$40,000 for Expenses of Delegates to Monetary Conference Voted.

(Associated Press.)

Heeding the voice of Borah, of Idaho, the Senate yesterday refused President Hoover's request for funds for American participation in a world economic conference to be called by Great Britain later in the year.

Instead it voted $40,000 for paying expenses of United States delegates to a conference confined to a discussion of monetary questions including the restoration of silver, if one should be called.

The action was taken after Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, had told the Senate that "Since the breakdown of the Lausanne conference there is directly nothing to be gained by calling another economic conference."

He also pointed to a plank in the recently adopted Republican platform which declares for participation in "an international conference to consider matters relating to monetary questions," and remarked that it does not mention a general economic parley.

"The nations can get nowhere with reference to economic matters until the reparation question is settled, until the relationship between France and Germany is to some extent settled," Borah said.

"I think a conference dealing with monetary questions could be called with some hope of success."

At the instance of Senators Couzens (Republican), Michigan, and Hayden (Democrat), Arizona, President Hoover's proposal presented by Senator Oddie (Republican), Nevada, to appropriate $40,000 for the general economic conference was rewritten on the floor to confine it to a monetary conference.

The appropriation was approved by a vote of 45 to 8 after an amendment by Senator Johnson (Republican), California, to limit the conference to silver had been defeated without a record vote.

YESTERDAY IN CONGRESS

June 29, 1932.

SENATE.

Met at 11 a. m. and adjourned at 5:35 p. m. until 10 a. m. Thursday.

Voted $40,000 for United States participation in world monetary conference.

Passed $22,000,000 second deficiency appropriation bill, last of annual supply measures.

Senator Borah (Republican), of Idaho, said he would seek passage of money stabilization bill before adjournment.

Senator Copeland (Democrat), of New York, demands Philippine bill be read in full and sponsors of the bill suggested he was contemplating a filibuster to prevent a vote on it, and Senator Copeland resented the suggestions.

Approved conference report on $982,000,000 independent office appropriations bill.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:05 p. m. until noon Thursday.

Sent State, Justice, Commerce and Labor appropriation bill back to Senate because its $112,000,000 included item for new northwestern air-mail line.

Conferees on relief bill reported approach of an agreement and predicted one would be had tomorrow, although $500,000,000 building item would be included.

Conferees on War Department appropriation bill failed to reach agreement. Representative Black (Democrat), of New York, introduced a resolution for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Representative Schafer (Republican), of Wisconsin, asked Speaker Garner to have Democratic House submit repeal amendment at once.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Will resume consideration of Philippine independence bill.

Foreign relations committee will meet in executive session at 10:30 a. m. in committee room, Capitol, ground floor, west corridor, to consider various matters.

HOUSE.

Conferees on War Department appropriations and relief bill will resume meetings.

Mexico May Curb Foreign Banks.

Mexico City, June 29 (A.P.).—Foreign banking institutions doing business in Mexico must submit themselves exclusively to the laws of Mexico under a general credit and banking law promulgated today by President Ortiz Rubio under special powers granted by Congress.

CONFEREES NEARING RELIEF BILL ACCORD

Hope of Adjournment by Saturday Is Hinging on Measure.

(Associated Press.)

Slender hope of winding up the present session of Congress by Saturday night was pinned entirely yesterday on reports to leaders from House and Senate conferees on the relief bill that they were nearing an agreement that might receive President Hoover's approval.

The conferees themselves, however, indicated they were approaching a compromise on the $2,300,000,000 measure which would include the $500,000,000 public works program the President has disapproved.

Treasury experts have proposed to the conferees, however, elimination of the bond issue proposal, so that the public works in the measure could be covered by the usual method of Treasury financing instead of a special issue of obligations.

Tentative Agreement.

Whether this would make the bill acceptable to the President was not revealed to the conferees, but the Senate group was reluctant to cut out of their measure this feature of financing which they have contended would prevent the program from being a burden on the Treasury.

The conferees reported there was a tentative agreement to accept the Senate's proposal for expanding the borrowing power of the Reconstruction Corporation by $1,500,000,000 for construction loans.

Senate conferees have agreed to the broad proposition of liberalizing their bill to allow loans to private industry under strict regulation but the exact terms of a compromise on this feature have not been worked out.

Loans Strictly Limited.

The administration has sought power to make loans to private industry and this was allowed under the House bill, but the Senate measure strictly limited loans to self-liquidating projects of a public character.

Another relief measure neared final approval when House and Senate conferees agreed to turn over 40,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton to the Red Cross for distribution to the destitute.

Dnieper Power Genius Rewarded.

Moscow, June 29 (A.P.).—Alexander Winter, chief soviet construction engineer at Dnieprostroy, Russia's new giant hydroelectric station now nearing completion, has been appointed vice commissar for heavy industry in recognition of his services.

Skeleton in Lava Ruins Is Found Holding Purse

Pompei, Italy, June 29 (A.P.).—A tragedy of 1900 years ago has been revealed by further excavations of the house of Menander in the ruins of this ancient city.

In a bedroom lay two skeletons. Beside one was a leather purse containing 100 pieces of money.

Evidently the master of the house, seeing impending destruction by the tide of lava, leaped from his bed, called to his wife to follow and snatched his purse. But both were overwhelmed.

CONGRESS PASSES 2 MORE SUPPLY BILLS

Only 2 of Measures Held Up as Fiscal Year Deadline Is Tomorrow.

(Associated Press.)

Rapid-fire progress on the big appropriation bills yesterday removed the fear that funds for running the Government would not be available by tomorrow, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

Congress completed its work on the $982,000,000 independent offices bill and the $320,000,000 Navy measure, sending them to the White House.

The only two bills that apparently were in danger of not reaching the White House on time were the War Department measure, on which the deadlock over retirement of 2,000 officers became more threatening, and the $112,000,000 measure carrying funds for the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments. It was returned to conference by the House, which refused to accept a $200,000 allotment added by the Senate for an air line between Puget Sound and St. Paul-Minneapolis.

In addition, the Senate passed the last of the ten bills, the $22,000,000 second deficiency measure, and sent it back to the House for adjustment of differences.

As approved by the Senate, the bill carries approximately $7,000,000 more than the $15,000,000 approved by the House, with the bulk of the increase an addition of $5,000,000 for work on the Hoover Dam project.

Audience Amused At Hutton's Trial

More References Against Husband of Evangelist Filed on Record.

Los Angeles, June 29 (A.P.).—Additional uncomplimentary references to David Hutton, which witnesses said were voiced by Myrtle St. Pierre prior to her $200,000 breach of promise suit against the husband of Aimee Semple Hutton, evangelist, were entered today in the court records.

Sprinkled with cross-examination which threw the courtroom occupants into laughter, the witnesses paved the way for the long-expected appearance of the singing master defendant on the stand.

As the defense for Hutton attempted to charge Miss Pierre with uncomplimentary remarks about her alleged suitor opposing counsel sought to accuse friends of Hutton with collusion.

Indianan Elected Kiwanis President

C. E. Endicott Is Named; Los Angeles Is Chosen for 1933 Meeting.

Joshua L. Johns, Appleton, Wis., and Andrew Whyte, Edmonton, Alberta, were named vice presidents, succeeding Harper Gatton, Madisonville, Ky., and Andrew G. Gaul, Hamilton, Ontario. Walter R. Weiser, Daytona Beach, Fla., was reelected treasurer.

DO YOU INHALE?

O. K. AMERICA
TUNE IN ON LUCKY STRIKE —60 modern minutes with the world's finest dance orchestras, and famous Lucky Strike features, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening over N. B. C. networks.

What's there to be afraid of?

7 out of 10 inhale knowingly— the other 3 do so unknowingly!

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike meets the vital issue fairly and squarely . . . for it has solved the vital problem. Its famous purifying process removes certain impurities that are concealed in even the choicest, mildest tobacco leaves. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you inhale! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

And since you do inhale—make sure—make absolutely sure—your cigarette smoke is pure—is clean—that certain impurities have been removed!

CONVENTION ADOPTS PLANK FOR DRY REPEAL

DELEGATES REJECT MODERATION PLEAS

Votes still impended on other planks and on adopting the platform as a whole, but the tired delegates—who had been at it in the stuffy stadium for more than five hours—already were going home when the repeal roll call had been almost completed. By then it was evident the margin would be much more tremendous than even the most hopeful of those who put the plank across in the platform committee had dreamed.

Balloting Probably Tonight.

Many more hours of session awaited them later today, numerous nominating and seconding speeches having to come before balloting is reached, probably tonight.

The predominant Roosevelt forces were divided on the question, and on behalf of the New York Governor it had been stated his organization would adhere rigidly to a "hands off" policy on this quarrel.

Leading those against advocating repeal, but for submission of the question to the people, was Senator Hull, of Tennessee—a Roosevelt man. When he went forward to submit the minority report for submission, which had been turned down by a two-to-one vote in the platform committee, boos and applause mixed in all quarters of the hall.

Hitchcock read the proposed platform slowly, and for the most part the delegates listened attentively, interrupting now and then with handclapping.

The plank for "drastic" Federal economy got a scattering cheer. So did the balanced budget plank. The Western delegates liked the promise to study "rehabilitation of silver" and applauded it.

Calm About World Court.

The same sort of approval came for the planks on behalf of "old-age insurance," adequate national defense, conservation of natural resources, banking reforms, forbidding use of Federal Reserve facilities for speculative purposes and legislation to help farmers' financing.

Adherence to the World Court failed to bring any rise at all, but a real cheer broke out when the opposition to cancellation of war debts was read. On this the subcommittee which had drafted tentative platform was overridden by the full committee.

District Delegates Lead.

It was evident, however, that the thousands on hand had prohibition uppermost in mind, for when the blue-clad chairman read:

"We advocate repeal of the eighteenth amendment," an uproarious demonstration crashed through the aisles.

The New Jersey and District of Columbia standards led the repeal parade. Almost at once the others joined in by plunging groups. Kansas, Oklahoma, Alabama and Delaware held fast.

With the mighty organs pealing, whistles screeching and the galleries whooping it up in mad style, the parades twisted in gleeful fashion—carrying flags of various States as well.

Virginia Finally Joins.

Although several Texans carried a sign bearing the name of their State into the marching throng, the official State standard was tightly held in place. Virginia stayed out for a long time, but got in before it was over.

Many women were marching with the men in the slowly circling line, cheering with the rest as the pipe organ pealed out "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Amazing many of the delegates, the platform committee had voted, 35 to 17, this afternoon to pledge the party to prohibition repeal—and Volstead modification.

Difficulty encountered by the platform committee in getting in agreement forced the convention to put off that problem until tonight's session. It had loafed through an hour and a half of political speechmaking, entertainment and pleasantries in the early afternoon, waiting vainly for the resolutions to be perfected and brought to the floor.

Subcommittee Ignored.

Far from the crowded stadium, in a hot hotel room, the weary platform builders refused to accept the recommendations of a subcommittee. Time-killing debates followed one after another, even before prohibition was reached. By consent, the arguing expected on that was abandoned—and the vote at once showed how strong were the out-and-out repealists.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, led the way toward turning down the subcommittee's submission proposal.

The majority plank urges "enactment of such measures by the several States as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control of the States."

It also demands Federal protection "to protect States against importation of intoxicating liquors in violation of their laws," and immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize "beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the Constitution."

The subcommittee plank, proposing submission of the question of repeal, which was rejected by the full committee, said:

"That the Congress immediately propose to truly representative conventions in the States, called to meet solely on the proposal, a repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"In the event of repeal, we urge that the Democratic party cooperate on the enactment of such measures in the several States as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the States; and that the Federal Government effectively exercise its power to protect States against importation of intoxicating liquors in violation of their laws."

Rumored Missouri Break-Up.

The recurring talk of the Missouri delegation intending to break up, after giving former Senator James A. Reed a first ballot vote, had a respectful hearing. The expectation, on the basis of word from within the delegation, was that Roosevelt would benefit by 20 of the 36 votes—with Al Smith and Newton D. Baker getting the rest.

Roosevelt Victory On First Vote Seen

Farley Predicts States Will Shift Before End of Roll Call.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—The prediction that a minimum of 690 delegates would vote for Gov. Roosevelt on the first ballot tomorrow and that enough States would shift before the end of the roll call to give him the necessary two-thirds majority was made late today by James A. Farley, his manager.

The Roosevelt campaign manager also said he was informed approximately 25 Indiana votes would be cast for the New York governor on the first ballot.

He said he also understood that the governor would receive support from Missouri, but declined to make any predictions as to other delegations supporting favorite sons.

WET PLANK PRAISED BY WEST VIRGINIANS

Bursts of Approval Show Delegation Solid for Its Adoption.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—A chorus of "goods" which greeted reading of the majority prohibition plank in the West Virginia headquarters late today indicated the plank would have strong support from that State when it came to a vote in the Democratic national convention.

William E. Chilton, jr., of Charleston, immediately checked a list of the State's delegates and predicted the majority plank would get twelve West Virginia votes.

J. Lewis Bumgardner, of Beckley, president of the State Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, was enthusiastic about the majority report.

"That's what we wanted to see," he said. "There's no stopping the Democrats either in West Virginia or the country if they adopt the majority report. It's clear cut. It tells what the people want."

West Virginia heard from its delegation by air today. Gray Silver, of Martinsburg, prominent farm economist, talked for 15 minutes from radio station WLS, explaining the delegation was still "solid for Roosevelt right down the line."

Byrd-for-Vice-President missionaries among the delegates who today went out to sound out sentiment for the Virginia former Governor for second place on the ticket reported tonight they had found considerable support. Byrd is a native of Martinsburg, W. Va.

There still was uncertainty and much speculation as to the beneficiary of the Tammany votes from New York, the Indiana votes and as to Ohio and Texas when finally one or more ballots on the nomination are recorded—probably late tomorrow.

At a Texas-California "pep" meeting, Amon G. Carter, of Fort Worth, said Speaker John N. Garner—who has the full support of those two States—had rejected all "overtures for trades" on the nomination.

When it was impossible for the convention to do business at its noon meeting hour, due to the jam in the platform committee, Senator Walsh, of Montana, turned the speaker's stand over for impromptu speakers and entertainers. The blind senator, Gore, of Oklahoma, and James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, each made a ringing call for unity between now and November—whoever is nominated.

Among the celebrities introduced to the jolly audience and the teeming galleries were Clarence Darrow and "Gene" Tunney, each getting a big hand along with Will Rogers and Eddie Dowling, who joked and sang.

Bonus Payment Advocated.

Following the prohibition arguments and demonstrations debate opened on the Murray minority report and Representative William P. Connery, jr., of Massachusetts, chairman of the House veterans committee, took the platform to support "Alfalfa Bill's" plank for immediate payment of the bonus.

"Don't forget we passed a moratorium to take care of Europe," he said. "Don't forget that we're giving Europe 62 years to pay the war debt. If we can do that for Europe, why in God's name can't we do it for the men who saved a billion for the moneyed interests of this country?"

Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, joined with Connery, arguing the bonus could be paid off to the benefit of the financial situation of the country.

"I know they say these certificates are not due," he said, and insisted that regardless of technicalities the former service men had the payment coming to them.

"You'll start the price of agricultural commodities on the upgrade, you'll help business, you'll start people to work and end the bread lines," he said. "For common justice, to help the party and the country, I hope the minority (Murray) report will be adopted."

Addressing his "fellow Americans," Gov. Murray closed the case for his independent economic minority report with a detailed explanation of its provisions.

His own State of Oklahoma paid close heed, but in several other portions of the hall little or no notice was given the governor.

R. C. Murchie, of New Hampshire, returned to the speaker's stand to argue against cashing the bonus. Himself a veteran, he said:

"It isn't any fun to be out of a job and out of money, but I told veterans what is the use of asking the Government to pay you when the situation is such that you will be paid in greenbacks which won't be worth more than 50 cents on the dollar when you get them."

Chairman Walsh failed to get unanimous consent for deferring the vote other than that on prohibition until tomorrow. With that, a vote was in order on the repeal dispute.

Cheering continually interrputed the roll call as the big Eastern States, joined by many from the West and South, swelled the margin of the repeal victory. The States voting for submission were booed regularly.

Argentina Accepts Offer To Renew Part of Loan

Buenos Aires, June 29 (A.P.).—The Argentine government today accepted an offer of American bankers to renew 90 per cent of the $10,000,000 loan due July 1.

FLORIDA WET, BEATS TOM YON IN PRIMARY

Jacksonville, Fla., June 29 (A.P.).—Two Florida representatives trailed their opponents today in returns from yesterday's Democratic run-off primary and one of them, Representative Tom Yon, conceded his defeat.

The other, Representative Herbert J. Drane of the First District, was about 600 votes behind J. Hardin Peterson with ballots counted from 324 precincts out of 374 in the district which showed 32,959 for Peterson and 32,384 for the incumbent.

Representative Yon, seeking the nomination for reelection in the Third District, polled 18,280 votes in 261 precincts of the district's 283 as compared with 23,422 for Millard Caldwell. Even before that substantial majority for Caldwell was shown, Yon conceded his defeat and wished his opponent "good luck."

Meanwhile, former Representative W. J. Sears piled up a huge lead over Mayor Alton T. Alsop, of Jacksonville, in their race for the nomination as representative from the State at large. All but 88 precincts had been counted and it appeared certain Sears was nominated. The count showed 127,804 for Sears and 96,849 for Alsop.

Dave Sholtz, a Daytona Beach attorney and a bitter critic of "professional politicians," was nominated for governor in a landslide over former Gov. John W. Martin.

Ernest Amos, veteran state comptroller, who has held office since 1916, was defeated by J. M. Lee.

All the candidates in the congressional races favored a prohibition referendum. Yon has a congressional record as a prohibition advocate and his campaign for the nomination in the first primary was conducted on this basis. He was forced into the run-off primary, however, and thereafter embraced the referendum.

Drunk Accusation Cites Auto Driver

Marylander Charged After Two Children Were Hurt in Crash.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 29.—Herman S. Bowen, of Bowens, Md., was released today under $500 bond by Police Justice Benjamin Bassford, of Annapolis, on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, after his car collided with one driven by James Moriarty, of Seat Pleasant, Md.

The crash occurred last night at Crain and Defense highways. Lillian Morgan, 11 years old, and her brother James, 10, of Capitol Heights, riding in the Moriarty car, were treated at Emergency Hospital here for lacerations. Arthur P. Gill, of 4709 Bladen terrace, Washington, also was in the Moriarty car. Both of the men were treated for slight injuries.

According to State Patrolman James O. Shockley, the car operated by Moriarty failed to stop at the boulevard intersection.

329 Sent to Camp With Aid of Chest

Mothers and Children Will Remain Two Weeks on Outing.

Leaving the inadequate living quarters in which they have lived all winter, more than 300 mothers and children were taken to Camp Good Will in Rock Creek Park, and Camp Lovett at Blue Plains, D. C., yesterday by members of the Washington Kiwanis Club and wives of officers at the Army War College.

Mothers and children numbering 160 went to Camp Good Will for whites, and 169 to Camp Lovett, for the colored. The former camp has a capacity of 150, the latter 130.

Twice as many applications as could be accommodated were received this year, it was announced. The mothers and children remain at the camps two weeks when they are replaced by other parties. Four separate groups will be sent to both camps this summer.

Lakehurst, N. J., June 29 (A.P.).—The Navy dirigible Akron today went aloft for a training cruise. Commander A. H. Dresel was in charge.

PLANK DISAPPOINTS FARMER DELEGATES

Policy on Relief, However, Held Broad Enough for All Rehabilitation Ideas.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Democratic delegates from the agricultural West viewed their party's 90-word position on farm relief tonight with some disappointment, but more of a feeling that a policy had been announced broad enough to permit every Democrat to advance under it his ideas for rehabilitation of the industry.

Dudley Doolittle, national committeeman from Kansas, himself proponent of the plan for the refinancing farm mortgages, said:

"It will depend on the way the law is administered as contemplated by the plank whether it will be of substantial and real benefit to the farmers and to capital invested in farms and farm mortgages. The possibilities are contained in the plank in that it provides for the refinancing of farm mortgages through the Federal Loan System."

Opposed to Farm Board.

Doolittle opposes the Farm Board and said he had hoped the party would declare for repeal of the act which created the board "because of its proved inability to do what the sponsors of the act claimed it would do for agriculture.

"If, however, the Farm Board functions according to the recipe of the plank, much of the damage and loss occasioned by the Farm Board would be eliminated," he added.

Louis Murphy, of Dubuque, Iowa, Democratic nominee for the Senate, said of the plank:

"It adopts in principle the Iowa proposal for refinancing the farmer through better financing of farm mortgages by reorganized farm bank agencies at low rates of interest, on an amortization plan."

Anti-Farm Group Comforted.

"We condemn . . . the extravagance of the Farm Board, its disastrous action which made the Government a speculator in farm products, and the unsound policy of restricting agricultural production to the demands of domestic markets."

Three leaders of organized agriculture, Edward A. O'Neal, of the Farm Bureau Federation; Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and John Simpson, of the Farmers Union, found in the farm plank echoes of appeals they made jointly last night at an executive session of the resolutions committee.

One of these was the declaration for "effective control of farm surpluses so that our farmers may have the full benefit of the domestic market." The other pledged the party to help farmers "receive for basic farm commodities prices in excess of cost."

Nye Takes Lead In North Dakota

Anti-Hoover Senator Is Ahead in Early G. O. P. Primary Returns.

Fargo, N. Dak., June 29 (A.P.).—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye took an early lead in North Dakota's primary election as returns from scattered precincts became available tonight in the race for the Republican nomination for senator. Forty-six of the State's 2,235 precincts gave Nye 4,360 and his opponent, Gov. George F. Shafer, 3,534. Nye, an insurgent Republican, campaigned on an anti-Hoover platform while Shafer supported the administration.

State Senator Frank H. Hyland, of Devils Lake, indorsee of the Independent Voters Association, held the upper hand for the Republican nomination for governor as twenty scattered precincts reported. The vote was: Hyland, 1,088; William Langer, Bismarck, Nonpartisan League candidate, 695; I. J. Moe, Valley City, indorsed by the Progressive Republican party, received 590 and W. E. Black, Fargo, 186.

In the five-sided race for the two nominations for representative, Thomas Hall, Bismarck, led the Republican ticket with 24 precincts reported. Hall, a "real" or regular Republican, received 1,540; O. B. Burtness, Grand Forks, "real" Republican, 1,247; J. H. Sinclair, Nonpartisan League indorsee, 858; Usher L. Burdick, running on a repeal platform, 814, and William Lemke, Nonpartisan Leaguer, 699.

Fight Over Dry Law Mounts in Carolina

Is More Sharply Defined as Issue in Senatorial Primary Run-Off.

Raleigh, N. C., June 29 (A.P.).—The prohibition issue became more sharply defined today as the North Carolina senatorial primary entered its final phase before Saturday's voting when Democrats will decide between Robert R. Reynolds, wet, and Cameron Morrison, incumbent, dry, as their standard bearer.

In the first primary, Reynolds, a 47-year-old Asheville lawyer, who stressed his opposition to the present liquor laws, piled up a 15,000 vote lead over Morrison, long-time dry advocate, who was appointed to the Senate to fill out the unexpired term of Lee S. Overman, upon the latter's death nearly two years ago. Three other candidates were eliminated in that contest.

Political observers predict a vote of from 250,000 to possibly 300,000 in the runoff primary, as compared with approximately 370,000 in the first.

Two candidates for the gubernatorial nomination have waged an active campaign. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City, led R. T. Fountain, lieutenant governor, by 47,000 votes in the first primary.

One other State-wide contest is to be settled. A. L. Fletcher and C. E. Mitchell, both of Raleigh, are seeking the nomination for State commissioner of labor.

Massanetta Springs Camp to Open.

Massanetta Springs, Va., June 29 (A.P.).—Approximately 350 delegates to the camp for intermediate boys and girls at Massanetta Springs, July 4 to 10, are expected by Dr. W. E. Hudson, conference manager of the Massanetta Springs Summer Bible Conference Encampment, who today announced the program for the camp

8 WESTERN STATES BEATEN ON SILVER

Remonetization Plea Rejected by Democratic Committee; Conference Pledged.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Eight Western States were defeated in the Democratic platform committee today in their demand for an outright declaration for remonetization of silver, but obtained a pledge for an international conference to consider its rehabilitation.

The remonetization plank, introduced by Philip Hornbein, of Colorado, at the request of Senator King, of Utah, would have pledged the party "to adopt such means as will bring about restoration of silver to its proper monetary status and to aid in accomplishing this result," promised the calling of an international conference in 1933.

This plank was supported by Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Washington.

Warden Loses Pants To Robber in Prison

Joliet, Ill., June 29 (A.P.).—Warden Henry Hill wouldn't have felt so put out about the robbery in the Illinois State Penitentiary if the thief hadn't carried away a pair of his best pants.

To make matters worse, the prowler got into the safe in the warden's office and stole his star—a gift to him from the inmates in wishing him good luck with his newly acquired position as head of the Federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa.

DEMOCRACY GOES WET.

The Democratic party has gone far across the Rubicon on the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It not only commits itself and its candidates to repeal, but "pending repeal," it demands immediate modification of the Volstead act.

In view of the tenor of the Republican plank on this subject, the prospect is that in spite of the strenuous efforts of many leaders in both parties the liquor question will be a political issue. The election of the next President of the United States may turn upon this question and upon no other.

The subcommittee of the Democratic committee on platform dealing with the repeal plank was dominated by supporters of Gov. Roosevelt. This subcommittee drafted a cautiously worded plank advising that Congress should immediately propose to State conventions the repeal of the eighteenth amendment; and, "in the event of repeal," urging that the Democratic party co-operate in the enactment by the States of measures that would promote temperance, prevent the return of the saloon, and place the liquor traffic under State control.

This plank did not commit the party or its candidates to repeal, and much less to the modification of the Volstead act before repeal of the amendment. It was defeated by the full committee, and the majority plank declaring for repeal and modification of the Volstead act was adopted by that committee.

Before the convention could hear the debate upon the two planks Gov. Roosevelt made it known that he was not taking sides, and one of the speakers announced that Roosevelt delegates were free to vote as they pleased. This avoidance of commitment to the conservative repeal plank may have saved Gov. Roosevelt from defeat for the nomination. The convention was overwhelmingly in favor of the extreme plank. The warnings uttered by supporters of the plank merely proposing the question of repeal, calling attention to the dry South and predicting disaster if the extreme plank were adopted, were shouted down. The climax of the discussion was the uproarious welcome accorded to former Gov. Al Smith when he appeared to speak in behalf of the wringing wet plank. That plank was adopted early this morning by a vote of 934¾ to 213¾.

Thus the Democratic party spurned the dry element and turned a deaf ear to those who declared during the debate that the extreme wet plank would endanger the party in Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, Kentucky, Florida, Alabama, Texas and Oklahoma.

The enormous majority by which the radical wet plank was adopted makes it certain that the nominee, whoever he may be, will not be permitted during the campaign to waver in his devotion to the wet cause, notwithstanding the fact that he will be antagonizing the dry States and dry Democrats everywhere by his championship of repeal and the immediate legalization of high-power liquors.

The delirious reception accorded to Al Smith and the knowledge that Gov. Roosevelt's adherents in committee favored a noncommittal repeal plank may have some influence upon delegates in choosing their presidential nominee. All candidates must accept the platform, as a matter of course; but the delegates may develop as much enthusiasm for a wet candidate as for the wet plank. The candidates may be embarrassed by demands for specific statements as to how they regard the plank that has been adopted. It would be difficult for any of them to be more emphatic in the wet cause than the plank itself. If any of them should be lukewarm his chances would diminish at once, if the temper of the delegates on the night before is an indication of what it will be on the morning after.

Rarely in American history has a political party taken such a radical position upon any question. The Democratic party stakes its existence upon this plank. Its planks dealing with other subjects become insignificant in view of its action in linking its fortunes with this single question. Unless present signs fail, the convention will now choose its nominees principally if not solely with reference to the wet plank. The Democratic party, for good or ill, and with unprecedented boldness, identifies itself with a single issue. It is a noble experiment.

THE PLATFORM.

The platform adopted by the Democratic national convention has the merit of clearness and brevity. It bears the marks of master hands. It makes the most of the adverse conditions of the country, attributing all ills to the mismanagement of the Republican party. To all who believe or can be made to believe that the depression is the work of Republicans, the Democratic arraignment will be most appealing; and no one can dispute the fact that many voters will hold the administration to account for bad conditions, and will favor a change, without giving credit to the administration for its efforts to improve conditions, and without demanding specifications as to how the Democratic party would do any better if placed in power.

Aside from the prohibition plank the feature of most importance in the Democratic platform is that which deals with the tariff. The party stubbornly sticks to its ancient theory that foreigners are entitled to compete with Americans in the American market, and that the tariff should be framed principally for revenue purposes. The plank demands "a competitive tariff for revenue."

The Republican protective tariff theory denies that foreigners are entitled to compete with Americans in the American market. "Protection" and "competition" are conflicting terms. In several Republican platforms the outright demand was made for a tariff that would enable Americans to profit by their enjoyment of the domestic market. Later the party based its case upon the equalization of costs of production here and abroad, without laying stress upon the idea of giving American products an advantage over foreign products after costs had been equalized.

A competitive tariff is something that American agriculture, industry and labor do not want. Competition with foreign products in the American market is no protection at all. Competition among Americans is necessary, and is required by the law that penalizes monopolies and restraints of trade; but when this domestic competition is insured, all Americans are entitled to enjoy the advantages of the home market. Repeated tariff contests between the parties have demonstrated that the protective principle is necessary and is approved by the people.

There is a glaring discrepancy between the Democratic tariff plank and the numerous votes of Democrats in Congress in behalf of tariff protection for products of their own States. In the direct test, Democrats almost without exception have voted for special tariff protection, while denouncing the protective tariff. The Democratic platform demands a "competitive" tariff, but in practice Democrats repudiate competition with foreigners and vote for protection to Americans.

CLIMATIC CHANGES.

Are summers growing warmer in the United States? Is the climate undergoing a permanent change? Opinions expressing individual experiences and recollections differ widely and, of course, are unreliable. The records show that for the last five years summer temperatures have been increasing and July and August thermometers will be read with interest by the meteorologists to see whether this tendency persists. Climate is no exception to the rule that everything in nature is subject to change. Mighty forces have been at work in the world recently, and climatic alterations as a result are not at all unlikely.

W. Maxwell Reed points out in Scribner's that if a certain trend continues, vast changes will occur. An advance of the "polar front," for instance—that ill-defined line of conflict caused by warm air from the south coming in contact with cold air from the pole—can destroy existing civilizations and pave the way for new civilizations in regions now uninhabited. About 150,000 years ago this earth for some reason received less heat from the sun than usual, and the ice of the pole moved south, covering all the area north of New York, the Ohio and Missouri rivers with glaciers a mile thick.

It was only about 40,000 years ago that tropical heat began to melt the great glaciers. Even as recently as the fourteenth century the polar cold moved south slightly, and northern Europe suffered intensely from famine and floods. Italy was given for a time a more bracing climate, which is said to have been the prime cause of the Italian Rennaissance. India suffered the worst famine in its history, caused by a twelve-year period when no rains fell.

The terrestrial disturbances this year in various parts of the world, particularly in South America and Mexico, may have decided influence upon regional climatic conditions. If the Andean volcanoes that blew their heads off recently projected a cubic mile or more of finely pulverized dust into the upper atmosphere this dust may shut off a portion of the blue and violet rays of sunlight, with the result that this summer may be cooler and next winter very cold. No other earthly force, Mr. Reed shows, can so modify civilization as a change in climate; neither the World War nor the Black Death can so affect the course of events as a variation in climate which lasts through several generations. There may be cosmic forces operating to change climates. If so, the study of the polar year and investigation of the stratosphere may disclose the secret—and with the cause discovered, accurate predictions of weather and changes of climate may be possible.

AVOIDING COURT ACTION.

Contestants of a will in Pennsylvania, after fighting for a settlement in the courts over a period of three years, adjusted their differences in three days following an agreement to submit their case to arbitration. A workman in New York, suing, his employer for damages, effected a settlement in one day after mutual consent to arbitrate. Due to the active and valuable work of the American Arbitration Association this practice is increasing steadily. During the past year the association has arranged for hearings in 1,068 cases in which awards were handed down, while thousands of others were settled by the persons involved between themselves before the hearings were terminated.

The first law making arbitration legal was passed in New York in 1920. It made the decision to arbitrate irrevocable. Since then many States have adopted similar laws, and Congress passed an act providing for arbitration in commercial and maritime transactions. The association has established rules and provided capable men to act as arbitrators whenever requested. The fairness and promptness of the decisions rendered have been of incalculable value to individuals as well as helpful in relieving the overcrowded courts.

In most cases each party appoints an arbitrator, under the rules of the association, and these two are required to name a third as chairman. Occasionally a single arbitrator acts, as in one case where a man considered his dentist's bill high and the work defective. Decision was left to the former president of the New York Dental Society. No jury, however willing, could have been so competent to hand down a just decision.

Lawyers are seldom employed in these arbitration cases and so the parties in dispute are able to avoid legal technicalities. If a case involves less than $1,000 each party deposits $10, the deposit increasing proportionately with the amount at issue. The average cost of an arbitration case has been about $32.

Arbitration, besides providing machinery for rapid, intelligent decisions, relieves the taxpayers of great expense. Though in many cases the courts fulfill a function which arbitration could not take over, the settling of numerous civil suits by arbitration cuts down the great public expenditure for courts. "Commercial litigation," it was stated in a report of the Department of Commerce when President Hoover was Secretary, "is, next to war, the largest item of preventable waste in our civilization."

ON THE FAT OF THE LAND

From the Minneapolis Journal.

That United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, while chairman of the campaign fund investigating committee, used his $150,000 expense account lavishly and wastefully for the benefit of his North Dakota political henchmen is fully demonstrated by the expense vouchers now on file in Washington.

P. D. Norton, of Minot, former congressman, was employed ostensibly as an investigator. Norton's headquarters were in Washington. His railroad fare to Washington was paid, even before he began work. And, though Washington was his headquarters, his Washington living expenses—$14 a week for room and around $23 a week for meals—were charged up to the Government for 26 straight weeks, while he was regularly drawing a salary of $500 a month. He continued drawing his salary long after the campaign fund investigation was virtually completed, and all the reports in. In less than eight months Senator Nye paid him, out of the taxpayers' money, $3,866.67 in salary and $1,897.50 for expenses, a grand total of $5,764.17 for a monthly average of $720.50, or more than the Governor of North Dakota gets.

Another special friend of Nye's was John Andrews, of St. Paul, former Nonpartisan League editor, who was made executive secretary of the Nye committee. Andrews' $500 a month salary began the day he left St. Paul, and the taxpayers financed his trip to Washington before ever the job started. Andrews was steadily on the pay roll at $500 a month for nineteen months—for ten months after the reports were all in and there was no more work for him to do. Meanwhile, he was running up expense bills like nobody's business. When Andrews traveled from Washington to Lincoln, Nebr., for instance, he went by way of St. Paul, where his family lived. The Government paid for the unnecessary hop from Chicago up to St. Paul and back down to Lincoln.

Then there was D. H. McArthur, Nye's office secretary. His two-day trip from Washington to New York and return, June 24-26, 1930, cost the Government $81.74. His bill (Voucher 20, page 68, Senate document No. 1) charges $44.34 for railroad and Pullman, though the normal fare, plus Pullman, is only $23.26. It charges $20 for a hotel room for two nights. It charges $13.50 for meals for two days.

Voucher 102 (page 64, Senate document No. 1) reveals that to McArthur and Andrews were allowed traveling expenses of $1,277.40 for only 27 days, in territory where expenses are not half as high as in New York. They paid Pullman fare of $138. But they paid also for hotel rooms, $310.50, or an average of $12 a night, even if they had stayed at hotels the whole 26 nights and never slept in a Pullman. They drew, in addition, $324 for meals alone, an average of $12 a day.

These are but samples. The filed vouchers bristle with others just as amazing.

How Strong Is the Magnet?

POST HASTE.

The Lausanne conference thinks it can do better after the American elections. Well, it is no more foolish than many other organizations and individuals.

Democratic orators at Chicago have all made it appear that the decline of exports, amounting to about 4 per cent of total trade, is more vital than five times that volume of business lost at home—you know, the tariff.

Nicaraguan presidential candidates will parley with Sandino. Good; let him provide election guards in place of Marines.

If the House will now reciprocate the Senate panic we may also have a relief measure passed.

One view of the revised Democratic procedure is that the platform is built to suit the candidate; the other is that the nominee will be told: You stand on this platform even if you have to stand on your head.

When Huey Long returns with all that Chicago prestige made into a new toga, Senate Democrats are going to be told their proper place.

London is horrified over a member who wore a straw hat in the House of Commons. This shame should suppress any invidious London remarks about Congress for some time.

Revenue freight loadings for the week show a gain of nearly 17,000 cars. Some folks are buying.

To hear Senators Walsh and Barkley tell it, the loss of a couple of billions of foreign trade out of a sixty billion business spells everlasting ruin for the United States.

The Democrats had a lot of fun with the Republicans over their difficulty in formulating a prohibition plank, but that was before they tried it themselves.

Chairman Walsh got the convention back from Will Rogers just in time to avoid being sued by eight candidates.

PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

LECTURING THE FOX TERRIER.

Wire-haired terrier, listen to me!
Don't worry the birds in the maple tree.
Though strong and swift on your feet you are
You can never compete with a motor car.
So stop this chasing them down the street
Or a terrible end you are sure to meet.

Tuffy, you smart little wire-haired fox,
You mustn't go roaming for blocks and blocks;
Stay close to the house when we let you out.
And you mustn't expect all the guests who call
To spend their time with you playing ball.

Tuffy, the neighbors you mustn't annoy,
When at the table I take my seat,
Don't stand there and beg for a bit of meat,
For I've read all the books, and the experts say
That a well-trained dog shouldn't act that way.

But Tuffy looks back with his beady eyes
And seems to answer: "You may be wise,
You may know much that a man should do;
But the thoughts of a dog aren't known to you,
And a wire-haired terrier, young and glad,
Must do all those things which man thinks are bad."

The Best of Troops Will Suffer Defeat if the General Sulks in His Tent.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IN a small town the telephone system is operated by one young lady. When she is interested in her work, all signals are answered promptly and her trained hands move in swift and accurate rhythm to give the service desired.

But the efficiency of the service depends on her state of mind. If she indulges in self-pity because she must work while others play, or if she is frightened by the approach of an electric storm, or if she is angered by the discourtesy of impatient patrons, the entire system feels the effect of her mood.

Calls are answered tardily, if at all, and the service requested is given reluctantly or denied.

A similar system, at the mercy of similar disturbing factors, directs the functioning of your body.

There is no such thing as "automatic" movement of a muscle, organ or gland. Not one can move without direction from the mind.

That part of your mind called "subconscious" is the "central" that operates the system. Your nerves are the telephone wires that carry messages back and forth.

While your way of life is natural—while you feel a normal interest in your work and play—you enjoy the sense of well-being that is natural to a healthy animal. Your subconscious mind, given a free hand, does its work well.

But when your conscious mind becomes preoccupied—when you surrender to brooding self-absorption—the attention of your subconscious mind is drawn away from its usual labors and your entire system operates indifferently and inaccurately for want of proper direction.

The cause of your absorption in self may be any one of many things. It may be self-pity or anxiety or malice or any other emotion that destroys your interest in the world about you. But the effect, in every case, is the same. Every cell in your body loafs on the job because the mind that should direct its labors is intent on other matters.

There is a scientific name for what follows, but it doesn't matter.

The point to remember is that your best chance to be healthy is to forget yourself and permit your wise subconscious mind to concentrate on its natural job.

PRO AND CON

Bunked by Demagogues.

New York Herald Tribune.

According to a police census, the "bonus army" in Washington still numbers about 12,000 men. Their latest act has been to throw eight "red" agitators out of their ranks, thus demonstrating anew their lack of sympathy with revolutionary counsel. But while complimenting them on the excellent restraint they have shown in their "occupation" of the Capital, isn't it about time to inquire why they do not recognize that the jig is up?

There is not the slightest chance in the world that the legislation they seek will be revived in this session of Congress.

The whole episode has been full of pathos from the start. If left to themselves it would never have occurred even to this lunatic fringe of ex-service men to march on Washington to demand the payment of a fictitious debt in money that didn't exist. They were encouraged to do so as the result of a conspiracy between politicians anxious to buy votes and professional veterans anxious to buy followers; and in doing so they have cooked their goose. No one will pretend now that the challenge which their invasion constituted did anything but harm to their cause.

Democratic Travail.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Despite it being the oldest of our political parties, the Democracy has never quite grown up. There is always a factional bitterness, a spirit of fighting for the sheer thrill of fighting and an adolescent willingness to sacrifice harmony for candor, that makes every Democratic convention an exciting spectacle.

The two-thirds rule for nominations is a chief reason for this spirit of conflict. It has kept many extremely popular men from winning the approval of conventions, and it has created much bitterness that a majority nomination could have avoided.

Borah's Regular Bolt.

Burlington Free Press.

The Literary Digest telegraphs: "Please wire 200 words your editorial comment on probable political effect of Borah's bolt of Republican prohibition plank."

It is not worth 200 words. Borah will be back in the Republican traces by November, as is usually the case with the regular quadrennial farewells to the Republican party.

Roosevelt's Damaged Prestige.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Whatever the outcome of Gov. Roosevelt's contest for the presidential nomination, his colossal blundering in the matter of the two-thirds rule has sorely dented his political prestige and influence. If his candidacy is rejected by the convention this may prove to have been the deciding factor. If he wins the nomination the memory of his ill-advised attempt to change the rules in the middle of the game, followed by his faint-hearted tender of a compromise and ended by his complete backdown from his untenable position, will still rankle in the minds of those fellow Democrats who opposed his aspiration, while this self-exposition of vacillation and weakness must already have affected the confidence which his friends have felt in their candidate.

Inevitable Bombardment.

Kansas City Star.

Senator Borah has exercised an inalienable right of an American citizen in disagreeing openly and vigorously with the platform adopted by his party, notably the plank on prohibition. The country knows Senator Borah and, having observed his previous silence as to the platform and his failure to attend the party convention, it was thoroughly fortified in mind for any bombardment the gentleman from Idaho might set off. It probably would have been disappointed with any less spectacular display than that the senator now has given.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

G. C. Early Suggests That Congress Might Be Able to Practice Economy by Investigating the War Workers Who Receive a Bonus but Never Saw Actual Combat.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The sight of the army of jobless, hungry men, that has come to our city, can not fail to touch the heart of any American.

But the sight of this army of the oppressed opens to our vision those who are receiving grants from a bounteous Government, to which I for one feel that they are not entitled to.

I refer to the promiscuous giving of pensions to men who have never seen combat, men who joined the Army or Navy, and after a few years of service leave the enlisted service and take up a position with the Government under the civil service, and often not only receive the preferred status, but a pension as well. These persons are in most cases immune from discharge, demotion or any other hardship that comes to the rank and file of civil workers in the Government service. These are numbered by the thousands, but still worse are those numbered with these, who were actually in the service only three, four or at the most ten days. These, in my opinion, are entitled to nothing, to say nothing of civil service preferences.

How can a Congress that is seeking real economy fail to recognize these evils? In the interest of justice and real economy let them start at this place and save real money. Our army within our gates, suffering, hungry and anxious, should insist that these evils be remedied immediately.

G. C. EARLY.

Women Who Are Preparing to Enter the Business World in the Future Will Have to Refrain From Marriage, Says Miss Edwards.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Bratton's carefully worded speech on the floor of the Senate on June 24 is most interesting. In answer to Senator Costigan's question as to whether he intended the policy of not employing married women to be a permanent one in the Government, the senator from New Mexico replied: "I predict that within the next ten years the Government and industry alike will adopt that policy."

This should serve as a warning to all institutions of higher education that are now preparing women to take their places as responsible citizens, qualified to assist in the world's work. It should also serve as a warning to the young women now studying in those institutions of learning that should they desire to put to practical use the education they are now obtaining they will have to live the life of celibates. Their use to the world evidently ceases on their entering marriage.

When one considers the contribution to the fields of science, literature, drama and everyday life that women are making every day, besides carrying on capably the duties assumed on marriage, the statement that within ten years all this activity must cease should come as a distinct shock to every one interested in the progress of the world.

If such a policy is adopted, it would mean that the accomplishments of such women as Amelia Earhart Putnam, Lady Astor, Kathleen Norris, Mme. Curie, Mrs. Mary Norton, Edna St. Vincent Millay and Mary Pickford would be eliminated from the future generations.

MARGARET EDWARDS.

Proper Precautions by Swimmers and Nonswimmers Can Prevent Drownings This Summer—Good Swimmers, Beware of Cramps.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now that the warm weather is here there will be accounts of drownings in the papers. People who are unable to swim should stay out of deep water. If a person has an earnest desire to swim, tries conscientiously and is not afraid of the water, it will not take him long to be able to handle himself in deep water. The person who is afraid of the water should stay out of it at all times, for it is this type of person who becomes panic-stricken when he gets in water over his head. If a good swimmer attempts to save such a person from drowning it often results in the death of two persons.

On the other hand, the good swimmer often loses his life in the water through a lack of common sense. No person should stay in the water too long, nor should he get too far away from a landing place, because cramps occur without warning. Cramps often are caused by going into the water too soon after having eaten a big meal.

C. C. PARSONS.

War and Navy Building Should Be Put Under Construction—Plans All Made and Site Selected.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the Garner and in the Wagner public works bills the only exception to the public building program is the District of Columbia. All the 48 States of the Union are taken care of. The District of Columbia is apparently forgotten. Some action should be taken on this immediately.

We call attention to the War and Navy Buildings, which the President said were to be expedited about two years ago. Under the Keyes-Elliott act the Secretary of the Treasury was given the authority to acquire certain properties; the Public Buildings Commission selected the site, and plans were drawn and tentatively approved by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Two years have gone by with no buildings constructed. The entire transaction is duly authorized by law, with the exception of providing the finances.

It would only be the part of good business policy to have these buildings constructed immediately.

AUSTIN C. HALLER.

VON PAPEN DECREES BAN ON TWO PAPERS

Prussian Minister Declines to Suppress Journals of Opposition Parties.

Berlin, June 29 (A.P.).—A controversy between the Von Papen ministry and the two strongest opposition parties developed today when the government requested the Prussian interior ministry to suppress two party organs that have been lampooning it in cartoons and articles.

The suppression order would last five days and would affect the Cologne Volks-Zeitung, organ of the Centrist party, and the Berlin Vorwaerts, organ of the Social Democrats.

It was reported the Prussian minister had declined to suppress the papers. In such an event the matter would go to the supreme court.

The federal government issued an emergency decree permitting outdoor political meetings throughout the country provided they are reported to local police 48 hours in advance. The police may ban any meeting if they think public safety is menaced.

Local authorities may forbid the wearing of uniforms, such as those of Hitler's National Socialist storm troops, only if they believe public security to be endangered.

Senate to Take Up Local Bills Today

Traction Merger Measure Among Those Expected to Be Acted Upon.

The District today may get its last day of grace in the Senate, when some dozen local measures, including the controversial merger issue, are expected to roll around on the consent calendar.

Meanwhile, Representative Vincent L. Palmisano (Democrat), Maryland, acting chairman of the House District committee, is awaiting recognition from Speaker Garner. Some fifteen unenacted District bills are pending in the House, four of which Mr. Palmisano will seek to enact into legislation.

Bills expected to come up today on the Senate calendar include the Gibson measure revising the District's license code, taxicab and automobile responsibility measures, the Patterson kidnaping bill, tightening the local law code; a bill regulating the practices of bondsmen, and one giving the Washington Gas Light Co. authority to erect a gas holder in Southeast Washington.

The latter measure and bills providing a District board of indeterminate sentence and parole, giving the Commissioners general street-closing authority, and setting up a new code of firearms regulation, may be called up in the House before Saturday.

'Rooster Days' Big Help To Harrisonburg Trade

Harrisonburg, Va., June 29 (A.P.).—George E. Andrus, secretary of the Harrisonburg Chamber of Commerce, today reported that Harrisonburg merchants expressed marked satisfaction with the results of their celebration of "Rooster Days" as a contribution to business stimulation.

On these days the merchants agreed to pay 3 cents per pound above market quotations for all roosters, and 2 cents a dozen above market quotations on eggs brought in by farmers. The result was a stimulation of business along all lines, Mr. Andrus said.

WATERS RECEIVES 12,000 ARMY VOTES

Dallas, Tex., indicated a contingent of 1,200 California veterans had been forced to a temporary stop there because of lack of fuel for their automobiles.

Health Conditions Worse.

Health conditions took a disturbing tone yesterday with the reporting by police of the hospitalization of ten cases of dysentery. While none of the men in this condition were reported in serious condition, the presence of the ailment—dreaded by outdoor expeditions—furnished alarm. Some sickness was reported among the 40 odd children at Camp Marks in Anacostia.

Money donations to the veterans yesterday totaled but $150, food was diminished to the receiving of 1,163 loaves of bread from private sources and 400 pounds of livers. The normal amount of meat furnished has been approximately 2,700 pounds. Trucks are coming here loaded with food for veterans from points not far distant, but this is not expected to prove a great factor as the great majority are from distant points.

Waters' first act in office was to dismiss the "cabinet" of the B. E. F. and form a new one. However, some of the new staff were reappointees. The executive committee, which has hitherto formed a check on activities of the commander in chief, was discarded by the youthful generalissimo.

A committee of five to arrange for a convention within a short time for permanent organization of the B. E. F. was appointed by Waters. He reserved the right to direct the activities of this committee and to veto any recommendations made by it.

Parade in Few Days.

Waters issued the drill edict at Camp Marks yesterday afternoon after election returns assured his being swept to command by an enthusiastic tide.

"I want to get this outfit into shape so that they will know squads east from squads west," Waters shouted to the men. "We are going to have a parade within a few days and I want to show the people of the United States and the Congress that we're a real outfit."

In his address Waters said, "You fellows think I'm hardboiled. I am hardboiled. I am going to stay hardboiled. That's what you fellows need is some one who is hardboiled."

A lusty voice from the mass of veterans assembled shouted: "Well, you've got a hardboiled bunch of guys back of you."

While Waters was temporarily retired from the chieftainship of the bonus marchers, he indicated he would only accept the reins again, if he were given supreme authority over the marchers. This stand was remembered when he told the veterans yesterday that from now on his orders were to be obeyed and any unit that didn't like it "could get the hell out of the B. E. F."

LINDBERGH COURAGE IN HUNT RELATED AT TRIAL OF CURTIS

of Curtis' stories, declined to give the man's name, saying he had not intended talking to him at the time he did and he feared the interview jeopardized the chance of capturing the kidnapers and murderers of the baby.

"If you disclose this man's name would it affect the people he is in touch with?"

"I think it would."

Judge Adam Robbins upheld Wilson's refusal to give the man's name. Wilson was one of the Revenue Department's special agents who gathered the evidence which placed Al Capone in Atlanta Penitentiary.

"No," said Wilson.

"No."

Cryptic Symbol Brought In.

"Have you any way of knowing Curtis knew?"

"No."

Then Fisher inquired why investigators didn't insist that Curtis produce from the supposed kidnapers the cryptic symbol used as signature to the original ransom demand note left in the baby's crib, or withdraw from the case.

"I believe he was asked to produce," said Wilson.

"When he failed to produce wasn't he removed?"

"No, because he said that——"

"'No' is the answer," Fisher shouted quickly.

Haskell did not give further details of the Curtis account of Col. Lindbergh's attempted plunge into icy waters to reach the supposed kidnapers' boat. But he said Edmund B. Bruce, of Elmira, N. Y., friend of Curtis who was present when Curtis was negotiating with the newspaper executive for sale of an exclusive story of the return of the baby, told him he had taken pictures of Lindbergh.

Promise of "Bombshell."

Yesterday Bruce testified he had taken no picture of Lindbergh on the boat, deeming it "would not be good taste." But Harry Stout, special assistant prosecutor, brought out that Bruce took pictures of the flier while Col. Lindbergh was swimming.

The court held the pictures were not material in any case.

A few days before the baby's body was discovered in the woods not far from the Lindbergh home, Haskell said Curtis told him: "Alex and I are going to drop a bombshell that will startle the world in a few days."

Col. Lindbergh smiled faintly, and met Haskell's glance as the latter explained "Alex" was the name Curtis said the kidnapers used in referring to the flier.

Real Story "Yet Untold."

After Curtis had typed his hoax confession, Haskell said, he was much puzzled and visited Curtis in jail.

"Now that it is all over," he said he asked Curtis, "tell me, were you ever in touch with the kidnapers?"

"Yes, the story is still to be told. It's in Norfolk," he quoted Curtis as replying, "most indignantly."

Wilson said he "believed the State police have handled this case in a very excellent way."

Defense Lawyer Fisher pressed him with questions about the manner of questioning Curtis before the "confession" was obtained. The defense charges police "duress" was used to obtain the Curtis statement.

Coincident with those defense accusations, the British government, which investigated methods used to question Violet Sharpe before she committed suicide in the Dwight W. Morrow home, reported today there were "no grounds" for reports of "so-called 'third-degree methods.'" Miss Sharpe, a maid in the home of Mrs. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, killed herself when she was about to be questioned a third time by police.

Clews Led to Blind Alleys.

Wilson was followed to the stand by several witnesses whose testimony was directed to show many Curtis clews led to blind alleys.

Dr. Joseph Seibleman, of Baldwin, N. Y., testified his phone number is Freeport 5630. That is the number Curtis was supposed to have used to reach "Hilda," wife of one of the kidnap gang. The doctor said that Curtis never had talked with him by phone and that no one named "Hilda" lived at that number.

Sergt. Warren T. Moffett, of the Newark police, said he and two other officers went with Curtis to a house in which Curtis said "Hilda" and her sister, "Inez," lived. It was empty.

Mrs. Oslo E. B. Larsen, who lives at Wildwood, Cape May, N. J., in the house Curtis pointed out as the home of "Hilda Larsen," testified she knew no "Hilda."

J. Maurice Price, of Plymouth Meeting, Pa., owner of property at 1021 New York avenue, Cape May, another address which figured in the Curtis stories, testified the property had not been rented for more than a year.

Lindbergh Aid Unpaid For Work, Court Told

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Morris Rosner, who was engaged by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to assist in the search for the latter's kidnaped son, later found slain, testified in a civil action today that he received no remuneration for his services and that he is now penniless and being supported by his wife.

Rosner is defendant in a suit for $1,500, the amount of court costs in another action which he brought against a corporation for alleged breach of contract. He won the suit in the first court, but the verdict was reversed by the appellate division, and he was ordered to pay the costs.

Senate Considers Bill on Philippines

Measure Strikes Obstacle and Fails to Receive Immediate Action.

(Associated Press.)

Consideration of the Hawes-Cutting bill for Philippine independence was begun in the Senate yesterday immediately after the last of the appropriation bills had been passed and sent to conference. The bill immediately struck an obstacle when Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, an opponent, demanded that it be read in full.

Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, one of the authors of the measure, appealed to Senator Copeland to confine his remarks to the subject, indicating he feared a filibuster. Chairman Bingham, of the insular affairs committee, said he regretted Senator Copeland was "talking devious means to prevent a vote on the bill."

Senator Copeland denied filibustering, and after talking for a couple of hours sat down and allowed consideration of the bill to proceed. The Senate adjourned, however, before a final vote was in sight.

Wesley Eddy Arrested for Speeding.

Wesley Eddy, master of ceremonies at a local theater, was arrested for speeding yesterday afternoon. Policeman F. R. Collins, attached to the Traffic Bureau, claimed Eddy was traveling 50 miles an hour on Rhode Island avenue northwest. He was released on personal bond to appear in court today.

'FOX' WILL RETURN FOR CAPITAL TRIAL

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Norman Whitaker, "The Fox," who is accused of posing as the Lindbergh baby kidnaper while Gaston B. Means swindled Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of $104,000, waived examination today and agreed to go to Washington for trial.

Whitaker, who will leave for Washington Friday, is charged with conspiracy and grand larceny. Means is in the penitentiary.

The patrol wagon ran out of gas and Whitaker was an hour late for his scheduled examination, but he called his legal training into play and refused to be "forced" into a hearing without benefit of counsel.

After some discussion, former Representative Martin C. Ansorge was summoned by telephone to represent Whitaker. After he arrived a conference was held and Ansorge emerged with the statement that while there were technical grounds for opposing removal, Whitaker did not wish "to take advantage" of them.

Meanwhile, pending his removal from the Federal house of detention, the 42-year-old prisoner will be permitted to see his wife, a slight brunette of 21 or 22.

Anniversary Marked By Bishop Mahoney

Rome, June 29 (A.P.).—Bishop Bernard J. Mahoney, of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., celebrated the tenth anniversary of his Episcopal elevation today at the American College, where he was a student. He said mass in the college chapel, where he was consecrated. Dr. John Driscoll, former assistant to the general of the Augustinians, assisted at the mass.

BINGHAM WILL SEEK MARRIED WORKER AID

Carl to unravel the snarl of personnel provisions contained in the economy bill as soon as it is signed by the President.

Taking signature for granted, George H. Carter, public printer, at close of business yesterday was placing in execution an order for 147 removals. Approximating the plan he expected to put into execution last Saturday, these include some 100 superannuated workers, 17 married employes and the rest voluntary retirements.

Others Hold Up Plans.

The Bureau of Standards was planning to go ahead with the removal of 79 workers in accordance with a program worked out last week. Other departments held their plans in abeyance.

Much will depend on the Comptroller General's interpretation of the so-called "impounding clause" of the furlough plan, providing for turning back into the Treasury funds saved from operation of the plan. Conferees struck out a clause setting this money aside for the retention of workers in their jobs.

Separation of Families By Economy Plan Seen

There is no question but that the provision of the economy bill concerning the employment of married persons will result in the separation of families, according to a statement issued yesterday by Miss Maude Younger, congressional chairman, National Woman's Party.

According to Miss Younger, hundreds of requests by married persons for information as to what constitutes a separation between husband and wife, so as to take them out of the economy bill provision calling for the dismissal of a husband or wife where both are in the employ of the Government, have been received at the National Woman's Party headquarters.

Man Reports Clothing Theft.

Harold Newman, 59 H street northwest, reported to police yesterday that by use of a duplicate key some one had entered his third floor apartment and taken clothing valued at $40. Newman said the theft was made within the past eighteen hours.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

Geneva, June 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Robert Pell, wife of one of the American delegates to the Disarmament Conference, narrowly escaped death by drowning today in a lake opposite their villa at Celigny. Ernest Shilling, the American pianist, who is their neighbor, rescued her.

Mexico City, June 29 (A.P.).—Railroad reports today showed heavy rains throughout the whole of Mexico, breaking the long drought which has threatened crops and caused the loss of much live stock. Considerable difficulty was caused by floods and washouts, the reports said.

Nanking, China, June 29 (A.P.).—Hundreds of farmers in the valley of the Kan River have been drowned and thousands are homeless as a result of floods which are continuing in the Yangtze district.

Orly, France, June 29 (A.P.).—Rene Machenaud claimed a world's record for a parachute leap today when he descended 7,500 meters. The mark he claimed to have bettered was 7,000 meters, by the Belgian, Willy Coppens.

Brest, France, June 29 (A.P.).—The salvage ship Artiglio, which already has brought up a fortune in gold from the sunken liner Egypt, resumed diving operations today and salvaged additional treasure of a value not immediately determined.

Vienna, June 29 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Belgrade today said Voyislav Marinkovitch, who became premier in April, had resigned with his whole cabinet.

Canton, China, June 29 (A.P.).—Provincial troops in small steamers, launches and junks tried to cross the straits to Hainan today to suppress the Chanchak naval administration there, but were repulsed repeatedly with heavy losses.

Neuilly-Sur-Seine, France, June 29 (A.P.).—The Countess de Martel, known as a novelist under the pen name of "Gyp," died today at the age of 81. She was a grandniece of the famous Mirabeau and mother of the noted surgeon De Martel.

Paris, June 29 (A.P.).—The French Exporters Association came out today in opposition to the French quota system on imports which has seriously affected some imports from the United States.

Mexico City, June 29 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Colima today said further earthquake shocks and loud subterranean roars in the vicinity of the Colima volcano had frightened the inhabitants on its slopes, and they were moving out of the danger zone. Tidal waves continued to sweep Cuyutlan, the dispatch said.

Church Members' Increase Is Shown

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—An increase of 433,656 in the membership of United States churches during 1931 is reported by Dr. G. L. Kieffer in the annual church statistics report of the Christian Herald. The gain in 1930 was 88,350.

The Baptists increased their membership 189,526 to bring their total, the largest among Protestant denominations, to 9,067,152. The Methodists, who showed the first annual loss in their history in 1930, again increased, by 46,295 for the year. Their total rose to 8,135,627.

The Catholic gain was 15,243. The total Catholic membership 13 years old and over was thereby brought to 14,528,176.

ASSEMBLY TO DRAFT CHILE CONSTITUTION

Meeting Will Be in October; Cosach Nitrate Combine Is Facing Crisis.

Santiago, Chile, June 29 (A.P.).—The Socialist provisional government of Carlos Davila today took its first definite step toward constitutionality when it was announced that a constitutional assembly will be called to meet the first Sunday in October.

(An election of a constitutional assembly in Chile is necessary, and it was presumed that delegates would be elected in time to meet in October.

The junta announced that the assembly would draft a new Socialist constitution for the republic.)

Meanwhile a major crisis in the affairs of the $300,000,000 American-controlled Cosach Nitrate Combine loomed for the week-end.

Working capital obligations are due to bankers on July 1, and unless they are renewed the combine faces insolvency. Conferences between bankers and Enrique Zanartu, the finance minister, are being held, with a view to avoiding the crisis if possible.

No agreement has yet been reached. The bankers demand protection from government competition. The government wants the combine, in which it is a partner, to sell 400,000 tons of nitrate to pay its debts. This the bankers decline to permit. The government has announced its willingness to permit dissolution or bankruptcy if its suggestion is ignored.

Menocal Allowed to Leave Cuba.

Havana, Cuba, June 29 (A.P.).—An agreement that Gen. Mario G. Menocal, former President of Cuba, who has been a refugee in the Brazilian legation, be allowed to leave soon to spend a year in Europe and "cease being a disturbance" was announced today by the State Department and the Brazilian minister.

Stabilization Bill Drive Under Way

Senator Borah to Insist Upon Action Before Adjournment.

(Associated Press.)

A drive to obtain action at this session on the Goldsborough dollar stabilization bill or the Senate substitute was opened yesterday by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, and others.

Senator Borah served notice in the Senate he would insist on action before adjournment on the Glass substitute designed to give circulating privileges to $1,000,000,000 of United States bonds.

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, then sought to place the Goldsborough bill on the Senate calendar in lieu of the Philippine independence bill. Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, urged consideration of the Philippine bill and said he did not see how the session could adjourn without acting on it.

De Valera's Selection Doubted.

Dublin, June 29 (A.P.).—Likelihood of the election of President Eamon de Valera to the presidency of the league of Nations Council at Geneva next September seemed remote today as official quarters said De Valera would probably not attend the council meeting.

4,000 War Dead Reinterred.

Turin, Italy, June 29 (A.P.).—A funeral cortege bearing 4,000 coffins of war dead from a temporary burial place to a new cemetery, "The Fallen," passed today through streets lined with saluting troops and mourners.

ROTARY CLUB FETES BRITISH PARTY HERE

28 Delegates Returning to England From Seattle Parley See Capital.

Members of the Washington Rotary Club entertained 28 British Rotarians here yesterday, taking them to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and Mount Vernon in the morning, luncheon at the Willard, a sightseeing trip in the afternoon and giving a dinner and dance in their honor last night at the Chevy Chase Club.

S. Percy Thompson, president of the local club, headed a delegation greeting the visitors, who are returning to their home country from the Seattle convention of Rotary International. Dr. William Earl Clark and Dr. David Buckingham headed a committee in charge of the day's entertainment. The British party included T. D. Young, chairman of the committee of British delegates; H. Schofield, president of Rotary International of the British Isles, and W. W. Fish, organizing secretary of British Rotary.

At the luncheon, the local club indorsed plans for the District Fourth of July celebration after hearing an address from Thomas P. Littlepage, chairman of the Fourth of July celebration committee. Past President John Poole delivered an inaugural message to three new Rotarians—Maj. Wallace W. Kirby, Fenton M. Fadeley, jr., and Janview W. Lindsay. Entertainment was given by the Washington Boys' Club. Guests at the luncheon included Col. Cortland, past president of the Georgetown Boys' Club, and Charles Fyfe, director of the Washington Boys' Club.

Baptismal Dutch Name Of Bride Employed.

The wedding of Miss Barendina Gardener, daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Gardener, and the late Col. Gardener, U. S. A., and Mr. Robert Edward Stuart Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Chambers, of New York, took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the home of the bride's mother, in Georgetown. In the marriage ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, the bride's given name, as she was baptized in Dutch, Barendinikje, was used. The name is a family name on the bride's paternal side.

The house was decorated with tall white flowers in silver vases and baskets tied with silver ribbons, and the ceremony was performed before an improvised altar, while a string orchestra played the wedding music.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her brother-in-law, Capt. Floyd Emerson Galloway, Air Corps, U. S. A., was given in marriage by her mother, and wore a gown of ivory chiffon velvet fashioned on princess lines. Her veil was of renaissance lace, which had been worn by her mother, and fell over a long court train of the velvet. She carried a bouquet of tiny, pale pink Cecil Bruner roses.

Little Mary Ann Galloway, niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore a quaint frock of white taffeta, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pastel flowers.

Mr. Austin Corbin, of New York, was best man for Mr. Chambers, and the ushers were Maj. Albert J. Myer and Mr. Rene Rouzitsky, and Lieut. Wilbur Kincaid Noel and Lieut. Paul R. Greenhalgh, of Fort Myer.

A reception followed the ceremony at which Mr. and Mrs. Chambers were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Gardener, who wore a gown of gold and white brocaded chiffon, and Mrs. Chambers, who was in a gown of pale green chiffon, with a large hat to match. Assisting the bride were were Miss Jane Patton Ristine, a cousin; Miss Elizabeth Jobe and Miss Eleanor Welles.

Later Mr. Chambers and his bride started by motor for the Chambers' estate in New York, and will later go to Quebec. The bride wore for traveling a suit of dove gray moire trimmed with gray fur, and a turban to match. On their return later in the summer they will make their home in Washington.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Chambers, of New York; Mrs. de Joly de Sabla, Mr. Austin Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. Hampson Gary, also of New York; Judge and Mrs. Albert D. MacDade, of Chester, Pa.; Lieut. Col. and Mrs. B. F. Ristine, of Dayton, Ohio; Miss Jane Patton Ristine, of Paris, France, and Capt. F. E. Galloway, of Maxwell Field, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cooke Plan English Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cooke with their daughters, Miss Polly Cooke and Miss Virginia Cooke, will sail on July 16, aboard the Adriatic to pass several weeks in England. Miss Polly Cooke was a debutante last winter, and Miss Virginia Cooke is planning to make her debut the coming season.

Mrs. Emmons Smith, accompanied by her three small children, has left Washington for Manchester, Mass., to pass the summer. Mr. Smith will join them for July and August.

Mrs. George L. Walters, jr., has returned to her apartment in the Shoreham after passing some time in Boston.

Mrs. James Ellwood Jones has gone to New York with her son, James, jr., who will go to the Fay School Camp tomorrow for the remainder of the summer. Mrs. Jones will return to Washington Saturday and with Mr. Jones and their daughter, Miss Nancy Jones, will go later in July to their summer home at Switchback, W. Va.

Lieut. Paul D. Bunker, jr., U. S. A., and Mrs. Bunker on their return from Bermuda, where they are spending their honeymoon, will go to San Antonio, where Lieut. Bunker will be stationed. Mrs. Bunker was formerly Miss Elizabeth Williams Haynes and is a daughter of Mrs. Kenneth T. Barnaby, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah T. Newcomb, former residents of Washington, who now make their home in New York, have been visiting here for a few days to attend the wedding of their son, Mr. Willys Newcomb and Miss Jane Walker. During their stay they occupied the apartment at Wardman Park Hotel, of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Blair, who are visiting in North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb, who moved to New York last fall, resided at Wardman Park when they lived in Washington.

WOMAN, 35, VICTIM OF SLEEPING POTION

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Mrs. Ida Edwards, 35, of 36 Denwood avenue, Takoma Park, Md., who was found unconscious in a ditch near Sligo Creek yesterday morning with an empty sleeping potion bottle beside her, was still in a coma last night at the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, Takoma Park. Her condition was reported as critical.

The woman was found about 6 a. m. by Montgomery County Policeman James E. Shoemaker, who took her to the hospital.

The woman's husband, John T. Edwards, told police that she left home Tuesday at noon following a domestic quarrel and that he had not heard from her until he was notified of her condition by police. He said that the bottle had contained about 40 tablets of the sleeping drug. She is believed to have taken all of them in an attempt at suicide and to have been in the ditch nearly eighteen hours.

Lacy Shaw, president of the Montgomery County Commissioners; Judge Charles W. Woodward, of the county police court; Thomas W. Perry, vice chairman of the Montgomery Government Club of Chevy Chase and chairman of Section 3, Chevy Chase Citizens Committee, and Thomas E. Shaw, supervisor of county roads for the Eastern Suburban District, left yesterday for Chicago to join the Ritchie forces at the Democratic convention.

There will be no meeting of the Montgomery County Commissioners today. The commissioners will meet again Tuesday.

Marshall E. Stone, of Ashton, Md., who ejected a policeman from his home Tuesday night at the point of a pistol when the latter went to the house to serve a peace warrant, was arrested yesterday by Sergt. Guy L. Jones and Policeman Robert Howes, of the Silver Spring substation. Stone was charged with assault in a warrant sworn out by Howes.

Policeman Howes had anticipated no trouble in serving the peace warrant, which was sworn out by Clarence E. Kuykendall after an altercation between the two men, and was taken by surprise when the man produced a pistol and ordered him from the house. He retreated before the menacing pistol and called for reinforcements. Stone was arrested as he left his home for work yesterday. He was held on bond of $500 for appearance later in county police court.

Damage suits were filed yesterday by Olive Davison and her husband, Harvey A. Davison, against Fred R. Parks, of Chevy Chase, Md., asking damages of $30,000 for injuries alleged to have been received in a collision between the Davison and Parks cars at Connecticut avenue and Military road. The suits were filed in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville by the law firm of Lambert & Yeatman, of Washington, and Robert B. Peter, jr., of Rockville, Md. Mrs. Davison asks damages of $20,000 and her husband asks $10,000. Mrs. Davison was driving the car.

He is survived by three sons, Wesley, of Cherrydale, with whom he made his home; Joseph, of Clarendon, and Charles, of Miami, Fla.

Funeral arrangements will be announced.

HYATTSVILLE FINES 9 ON RUM CHARGES

Mount Rainier's Tax Rate Is Not to Be Reduced This Year.

Nine persons, including one woman, were convicted of possession of liquor yesterday in Hyattsville Police Court and fined a total of $750 in one of the heaviest liquor dockets tried recently.

Those fined were Mrs. Anna Steinberg, of Baltimore, $100; Governor Brookens, of Fairmont Heights, $150; J. M. Pearce, of Cottage City, $50; Michael Latorro, of Baltimore, $150; William C. Taylor, of Washington, $50; James Walsh, of Baltimore, $50; Elsworth T. Johnson, of Washington, $100, and Edward Waters, of Seat Pleasant, $50. Latorro was also fined $100 for exceeding 60 miles per hour.

Because of increased expenditures for trash and garbage collection service, the Mount Rainier tax rate will not be lowered but will be kept at the present level of 15 cents per $100, it was learned unofficially last night. The town council meets tonight to fix the rate, but tax bills for a 15-cent levy have already been printed. Last year the tax was reduced from 20 to 15 cents.

Warrants have been issued for two Prince Georges County men who are believed to be the first local persons charged with violation of the Japanese beetle quarantine, and one of the men, Myron M. Michaels, of Hyattsville, has been held in bond of $200 for the Federal Court in Baltimore.

Michaels and a man living in Berwyn Heights are alleged to have attempted to bring a number of rose bushes into Maryland. Stopped by inspectors for the Department of Agriculture, they turned back and came out another road, according to Government officials.

Awarding of contracts for the improvement of Rhode Island avenue through Mount Rainier and Brentwood is being held up pending the return of Maj. E. Brooke Lee, a member of the State Roads Commission, from the Democratic convention in Chicago. Corson and Gruman, Washington contractors, were lowest of six bidders, with an offer of $10,986 for the Mount Rainier work and $3,358 for the Brentwood stretch.

In an attempt to help the functioning of the town government by breaking the deadlock which is reported to have been reached by the town council, 40 residents of Capitol Heights have formed a citizens association. Walter Oliver has been selected temporary chairman and Herbert Davis secretary. Two factions in the town are evenly divided on the council and are said to be holding up needed governmental activity through inability to break a tie vote.

LEGION CONVENTION COMMITTEE MEETS

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

The convention committee for the fourteenth annual meeting of the American Legion, Department of Virginia, and the American Legion Auxiliary eleventh annual meeting, to be held in Alexandria, July 31, August 1, 2 and 3, met last night in Gadsby's Tavern. Committee chairmen reported progress.

F. Clinton Knight presided and announced the details of the program will be in the hands of Jones Cox, W. Milton Glasgow and himself and all program material will have to be completed by July 15.

Chairmen reporting last night were: Edwin Dent, automobiles; Francis H. Fannon, entertainment; Capt. George H. Evans, reception; Clyde B. Lanham, banquet; R. F. Adams, decorations; W. M. Glasgow, halls; Jones Cox, registration; Mrs. Laura Anderson, badges; Herbert Blunt, publicity; Winifred Butler, provost guard; 40 and 8, William H. Meeks, and the 8 and 40, Mrs. Richard B. English.

Other committees are Charles W. King, parade; Dan S. Hollenga, housing; St. Clair D. Shelton, transportation, and Richard B. English, speakers.

One of the entertainment features will be the boat trip to Quantico Marine base on the afternoon of August 2, Robert Insko, chairman. The department officers, delegates and visitors will be taken to Quantico, where Regular Army "chow" will be served, returning to Alexandria at 8 o'clock, and the commander's ball will be held that night.

Registration will begin on Sunday, July 31, at the Chamber of Commerce, and that afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock the local auxiliary unit and the 40 and 8 Society will entertain all delegates and visitors at a tea in historic Gadsby's Tavern. The local auxiliary president, Mrs. Margaret F. Bailey, will be the official hostess.

Driving on Washington temporary permits will not be permitted by the police department of Alexandria, nor will the five-day permits of the District of Columbia be honored, according to the decision of Acting Police Justice Harry F. Kennedy.

Commonwealth's Attorney Albert V. Bryan, in Police Court yesterday, announced that he had made an investigation of the case of Policeman Russell Hawes shooting and fatally injuring Alexander Jackson, colored, on June 16, and found that the policeman shot while acting in line of duty. This action absolves the policeman from blame in connection with the shooting of Jackson.

The funeral of Mrs. Ella O'Sullivan Downey, who died Tuesday, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The application of the A. B. & W. Bus Co. to discontinue service between Alexandria and Mount Vernon and Alexandria and Fort Hunt will be heard before the State Corporation Commission July 12.

Firemen Arrange Falls Church Fete

The Volunteer Fire Department of Falls Church, Va., will hold its annual carnival July 15 to 23, inclusive, on the Crossman property at Brown avenue and the Lee highway, with R. L. Harmon as general chairman. He will be assisted by W. A. Pravel, R. E. Kendrick, Carrol V. Shreve and J. R. Royston. The program includes nightly band concerts and dancing.

The department has nominated officers for the coming year and the election will be held after the carnival. The present president, vice president and secretary have refused to accept nomination for reelection. Those nominated were Thomas Probey and J. E. Rucker for president; J. R. Royston, vice president; Stanley Higgins, secretary; Joseph G. Loveday, treasurer; O. C. Pearson and J. V. Birch, fire chief; Douglas Royston and Jerome Gibson, first assistant chief; Cline Donaldson and W. R. Weaver, second assistant chief; Harry Nalls and Gabriel Wearman, third assistant chief; E. L. Jones, fire marshal; Moyer Copeland, engineer; J. V. Birch, deputy engineer, and Cline Donaldson, Robert E. Kendrick, W. T. Westcott, J. E. Bruner and W. W. Tucker for offices of the two trustees.

Army-Navy Club Victor at Bridge

Washington Golf and Country Club Team Second at Shoreham.

The Army and Navy Club team last night won first honors in the first annual Inter-Club Duplicate Bridge Contest finals at the Shoreham Hotel. The runner-up team was the Washington Golf and Country Club.

The other two teams in the finals were the National Press Club team and the Columbia Country Club.

The contest was held under supervision of A. P. Stockvis, Washington representative of Ely Culbertson. Members of the winning team were W. R. Coe, F. W. Hoover, H. Muncaster and Tom Hamlin. The Washington Golf and Country Club team was composed of O. L. Veerhoff, A. B. Galt, Dr. Anderson and Dr George Huffman.

Experts Seem to Agree More Money Is Big Need

By JOHN J. DALY

GRADUALLY it is being bruited about that what the world needs is more money, and that the way to get more money is the biggest problem confronting the world.

Charlie Chaplin, the comedian, on a trip around the world, interviewed hundreds of economists and offered for their critical approval a plan for economic recovery of the world. They all agreed with him. His plan is very simple: More money.

How to get this legal tender is the concern of millions. After careful study the economists—or those of them who are left—contend there is only one way it can be done, and that is by official governmental action. It seems, from the survey and study, that no amount of work, ingenuity, or even trade recovery, will ever bring about the great desideratum—a plentiful supply of greenbacks.

* * * *

BILLS will have to be struck off by the governments, the printing presses working day and night to keep up with the demand. Every man, woman, and child, in this way, would be given bills, fresh bills, with which to pay taxes and debts and purchase the necessities and luxuries—lolly-pops and limousines.

As it stands now, hardly a man or woman in the world who will not agree with the comedian. We all need some extra dollar bills. As they do not grow on trees, the only way to get them is off the Government printing presses.

There is a fellow down in Tennessee, a deputy treasurer of Chattanooga, who has doped out a good plan, if it will work.

* * * *

HE wants the Government to issue a new dollar bill, about the size of a doormat, with "welcome" on it. Twenty-five of these would be given to every citizen to be used as legal tender. A thing of beauty and a joy for the time being, the new issue would carry on its back 54 spaces for 2-cent stamps. Any one who kept the bill more than a week would have to affix a stamp every seven days. In a year of 52 weeks each bill would earn $1.04 for Uncle Sam, the entire issue bringing in enough to pay off the national debt.

All very well and good; but where would the 2-cent stamps come from? A better way is this: With the knowledge that there is an actual lack of dollar bills in the country, Uncle Sam ought to get wise to himself and issue rubber money that can be stretched as far as money ought to go in any direction. It has been proved, conclusively, that paper money has outworn its usefulness.

VOTE ON BYRD LAW ASSURED IN COUNTY

Arlington Petition Will Be Presented Today in Circuit Court.

A petition signed by 25 per cent of the qualified voters of Arlington County will be presented today to Judge Walter T. McCarthy in Circuit Court asking that he order a special election as to whether the county will accept the Byrd road act.

This election will be held on August 9. Meanwhile, unless a further ruling is secured on the question, the county will be unable to complete the grading of a number of roads. Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas had ruled that the work should stop tonight. He said that today he would ask for a further ruling from Attorney General John R. Saunders.

During the last week, according to County Manager Roy S. Braden, the road workers have been increased to get all highways ready for contractors to proceed with surface treatment. The law allows contractors to continue their work after July 1.

The Thrifton Village Improvement League last night adopted a resolution favoring the Byrd plan.

Price never fools your tank!

AND your carburetor doesn't know how much you paid for the motor fuel you're feeding it. All it knows is what that fuel does.

Experienced motorists are as wise as their carburetors. They have learned that "cost per mile" is the only yard-stick by which the price of a motor fuel can be measured.

On that basis...the only real basis...AMOCO-GAS is the most economical motor fuel today. It has never been anything else.

Imitations come and go. But there is only one AMOCO . . . the original special motor fuel. It always costs less per mile.

By ROBERT D. HEINL

DOMINION DAY, Canada's national holiday, will be the occasion for special programs today. The Prince of Wales will be the principal speaker during the ceremonies in connection with Dominion Day, held at the Savoy Hotel, in London, and his address will be heard in America through the facilities of the entire Columbia Broadcasting System (WMAL, 3:35 p. m.).

The banquet at which the prince will speak will be in commemoration of the sixty-fifth anniversary of the passing of the British North America Act, which on July 1, 1867, created the Dominion of Canada.

A special program will originate in the studios of KDKA in Pittsburgh and will be distributed throughout the Dominion of Canada as well as the United States (WRC, 11 o'clock tonight) in observance of the Canadian national holiday. The program will start with the strains of "Maple Leaf Forever," the Canadian anthem, followed by selections by Capt. Gitz Rice and Geoffrey O'Hara, Canadian composers. A song written by Zoel Parenteau, musical director of KDKA, in memory of Canadian war dead and entitled "A Branch," also will be heard.

Tomorrow morning Secretary of State Stimson will deliver a Dominion Day address, speaking from the studios of Station WRC for national distribution, beginning at 10 o'clock. The Marine Band will give over part of their regular Shut-In Hour for this purpose and will furnish the music.

THE premiere reenactment of a series of true police dramas is announced for 8:35 o'clock tonight by Station WOL. The "Craig Case," dramatized from detective division files of the Detroit Police Department, has been selected for the first presentation by the players of the Northern Dramatic Company. A complete dramatization will be presented each Thursday night.

These true police stories have been a popular feature of Station WJR, Detroit, for over two years. The idea originated with a member of the Detroit police force, designated on the air as "L. K. 6," whose idea was to present actual adventures of the police to counteract the unauthentic police dramas then being presented over the air. The series proved so popular that the plays are now being made available to the local air dramatic company.

Holoua's Royal Hawaiians, with Laui Shaw, singer and dancer, will appear as the guests of Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees during the broadcast tonight (WRC, 7 o'clock).

A BAND which has become popular with night club patrons, but is practically unknown to radio audiences, makes its debut over WMAL tonight. It is Pete Macias' Club Michel Orchestra. Pete will broadcast twice weekly from the Marine Roof—Tuesdays and Thursdays, at 11 p. m.

Beginning tonight, the Island Boat Club Dance, a program of popular dance rhythms by Billy Artz's Orchestra will be heard instead of the Adventures of Sherlock Holmes over WRC at 8:30 o'clock.

The special program, "Come to the Olympic Games" (WRC, 11 o'clock tonight) will feature talks by Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Gov. James Rolph, jr., of California. Originating in the Olympic Stadium in Los Angeles, the broadcast will be opened with music by a massed band of 1,000 pieces and a chorus of 200 voices.

HOWARD BARLOW has selected the following numbers for his Symphony Orchestra (WMAL, 9:30 o'clock) tonight: Overture to "Martha," serenade from "Impressions of Italy," "Fantoches" (Debussy), minuet from "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" (Mozart), and intermezzo from "Pagliacci."

All entertainers, newspaper men, announcers and others who can offer assistance or advice in arranging the radio benefit performance for the bonus boys is invited to meet at 1736 K street northwest at 9 o'clock tonight.

Dr. C. G. Woodson to Speak.

Dr. Carter G. Woodson will speak tomorrow night at a meeting of the Pleasant Plains Citizens Association to be held at 7:30 o'clock at Monroe School.

Graduation at Jennifer College.

J. Douglas Davidson will deliver the valedictory address tonight at the graduation exercises of the Jennifer Business College, which will be held at 8 o'clock in the chapel of Israel M. E. Church. A musical program will feature the event.

THE "TOWER HOUSE."

SOME Bridge players describe hands of overwhelming honor strength as "power houses." The description is apt, and these hands are a source of delight to their holders in Rubber games. In Duplicate, however, most good players, knowing that all others sitting in their position will hold the identical hands, view such holdings with mixed feeling. They present, especially in the "board a match" system of scoring, opportunities for tremendous swings.

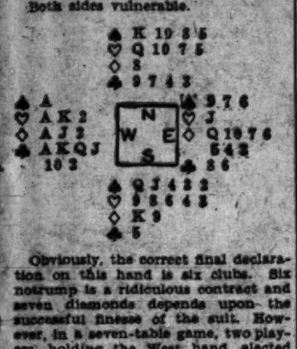
West—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



Obviously, the correct final declaration on this hand is six clubs. Six notrump is a ridiculous contract and seven diamonds depends upon the successful finesse of the suit. However, in a seven-table game, two players, holding the West hand, elected to play it at seven notrump, and made it because North foolishly opened from his minor tenace in hearts.

The highest score on the hand was made by Mr. Louis H. Watson, who reached the contract of seven diamonds, redoubled, because his partner had elected to assist the diamonds rather than continue bidding clubs. This contract, of course, was made, but certainly should not have been bid.

The only uniformity in the bidding of the hand was that every West player opened with a Forcing bid of two in a suit.

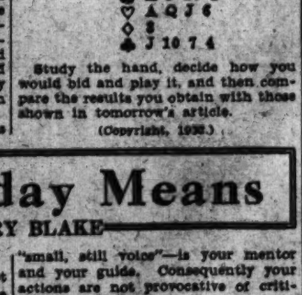
TODAY'S POINTER.

Hands powerful enough to justify opening with a Forcing bid of two in a suit are extremely rare and do not constitute, at best, more than 5 per cent of all the hands dealt. The Opening Forcing bid, however, is an essential part of correct bidding, because with hands of such tremendous force, a pass can not be risked.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
North and south vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

What Today Means

"CANCER."

IF June 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., from noon to 2:10 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 3:15 to 5:20 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:20 p. m.

June 30 will, according to the astrological prognostications, prove to be a day when the unexpected will happen. Affairs in which you have been interested will turn out in an abruptly different way to that which you had anticipated—not always, however, causing disappointment. The signs denote surprise, accompanied by circumstances over which you will have little or no control. Avoid speculation or unnecessary risk!

The child born on this June 30 will love to excel in everything that it attempts and will often, in its ambition to outdo its companions, unconsciously adopt the principle that the end justifies the means. As it matures, this trait—unless checked—may provoke trouble and ultimately cause failure. Its nature will be affectionate and its emotions never will be hidden.

If you were born on June 30 your conscience—and, in your case, it is no "small, still voice"—is your mentor and your guide. Consequently your actions are not provocative of criticism and you are respected for your loyalty and uprightness. Owing to a certain austerity of character you do not awaken deep emotions, and few, if any, attempt with you those pleasing familiarities which, in others, bespeak affection and love.

Your personality is a strong one. It, however, commands but does not attract. You are at no time a victim of impulse, and your actions, as well as your words, are the result of careful thought and meditation. This atmosphere of repression in which you have schooled yourself makes you lack that spontaneity which gives a sparkle and effervescence to life. It has dried up, to a large extent, the wells of your sympathy.

Your home life will be long on respectability but short on thrills of delight and happiness. Orderliness and tidiness will characterize your habits of mind and body.

Successful people born on June 30:
Harriet W. Sewell, poet.
William A. Wheeler, politician.
Walter Hampden, actor.
Madge Bellamy, cinema star.
Edward Burgess, yacht designer.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Personal Daintiness Is Essence of Loveliness.

DEAR MISS PIERCE: Publish this letter, if you think well of it (using only my initials, since it is of a personal nature). You won't dub me a "crank" on the subject, I hope. I have read the "b.o." ads. I have talked with other young girls about personal hygiene, without attaching too much significance to it, but recently two things have happened that prompt this request for you to please write on daintiness—please. My employer's daughter, with whom I have become friendly, told me that his last secretary lost her job because of sudden carelessness. And now my sister's husband (a charming gentleman, I assure you) has confided in me that she is growing careless, drab and unmindful of her appearance and has asked me to approach the subject diplomatically and kindly. What do you suggest?

C. C.

* * * *

Yours is not a simple task, C. C., and will have to be approached very diplomatically and kindly as you suggest. Some day, when opportunity offers, get your sister to voice her own views on the subject. Then tell her about girls who have lost their jobs, women who have lost the respect and admiration of their husbands as against clever women who have remained dainty and lovely and well-groomed and retained the affection of family and community thereby.

Perfect Health the Best Foundation.

People afflicted with body odor or bad breath, should consult their physicians and dentists to make sure there is no systemic condition causing the difficulties. Perfect health is the best foundation upon which to build loveliness. A dainty breath is the perfume of perfect health. And decayed teeth, accumulation of tartar, pyorrhea or similar infections, diseased tonsils, chronic catarrh, or digestive disturbances, such as chronic constipation, may cause unpleasant odor which is obvious only to others. The twice yearly visit to the dentist, the use of a good dentifrice twice daily, followed by disinfectant mouth washes will help, but these should supplement the initial work of correcting the cause.

Likewise with excessive perspiration and body odor. Frequent bathing, bath salts, toilet waters, antiperspiration remedies and deodorants help immeasurably, but they are of little avail until the cause is corrected. For excessive perspiration, a good remedy is a 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride in distilled water. This should be used three times a week, the first week and once or twice weekly thereafter.

Careful Grooming.

Personal daintiness does not end with the care of the body. The meticulous woman is always perfectly groomed, even when she wears the simplest house dress. Everything about her is crisp and clean and cared for. She never looks drab, frumpy or "let down." Her outer things are immaculate and her under things more so. A perfectly clean body, a dainty body shrinks from musty, soiled or even faded lingerie and soiled shoulder straps are not mentioned in the Bible, but it really seems that they are an abomination. Daintiness is the essence of loveliness, and a dainty woman is the most feminine and loveliest of all.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

SUCH a darling little blouse is this for summer wear.

It is so fresh and dainty, with quaint puffed sleeves, much beloved by youth.

In exquisite dusty pink shade pin dots printed on a white tub silk crepe ground was the first model. The ruffling was finished with picot edge.

Its small cost will surprise you.

Style No. 2912 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 39-inch material.

Price of pattern, 15 cents.

You can save $10 in patterns, materials, etc., by sending 10 cents for this book to Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York City.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Black and white crepe in a charming manner, making a summer street ensemble with incrustations and an oddly smart jacket. (Courtesy of Bernard et Cie, Paris.)

NEW YORK, June 29.—Bathing suits! Beach dresses! Beach aprons! Beach pyjamas! Just take your choice, dahr-lings, and whichever you choose, you are sure to be right!

As to pyjamas—have you noticed how sturdy they are? Not only in cut, but in material—jersey, cotton, rough and ready sort of fabrics. It has even become the mode in European resorts to adapt one's attitude to one's pyjamas—but that's for another day.

Then the brassiere suits, which you have been watching and wondering about. Yes, you can wear them on private beaches! Other beaches have certain law restrictions, as, for instance, the one that decrees that miladi may show all the little tummie she wants—provided something no less than a quarter of an inch wide in the way of a strap attaches the brassiere to her panties! Other beaches have other rules—one simply follows them, it being the line of least resistance—and one is as chic as one could possibly desire just doing that.

Beach dresses or "costumes," as the French call them, are something quite else again. These range from shorts and a blouse to wrap-around, full-length affairs that look like coats—or maybe dresses. And one chooses a beach dress for lounging in, or for a wrap, depending upon one's taste—and maybe one's figger. Figger, pocketbook or otherwise, comprenez!

There is yet another type of beach dress, which is really a sports dress. This might be trousered, or have a wrap around skirt fastening in the back, for chic! And this dress is for the boardwalk, but not for lounging or playing about. When this dress is white or gray, beige or greige, it is most chic—and when one's hat is matched in a bright color with one's shoes—or the belt or bag, with the shoes, then we have summer chic indeed!

* * * *

The white top that is part of the black dress is by no means demode. Bernard et Cie, of Paris, that famous coutourier whose models show such an amount of chic and practicability, sent us the "croquis" of the summer ensemble I sketched for you today. The skirt is of black crepe, the blouse white, the incrustations on the blouse of black and white—and the jacket just sufficiently loose and smart to be very practical for summer. Hot days, one wouldn't wear the jacket at all, and be completely gowned in the dress alone, you see. Nice?

* * * *

I wouldn't wear white in the evening! I say I wouldn't, despite the fact that some of those thirty 'leven trunks full of Paris gowns have a lot of white evening gowns in 'em—I still say I wouldn't! Because, well, because everyone else does. So if you would be really individual—than which I can't be anything whicher—have your white evening gowns tinted something or other—and thank me for the tip. When all the world and her sister stop wearing white—then is the time to wear it.

Nightgowns, now, are something else again. It doesn't matter whether all the world and her sister wear this or that style of nighties or not—in fact, it's rather elegant to wear the latest style in night wear. The latest happens to be cotton nightgowns, of the finest, finest imaginable handwork; so I made some designs for you in this week's leaflet. You can send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for it, and see for yourself how charming cotton nighties can be—and how easily made, the Dahray way. And consider how cool cotton sleeping wear is for summer nights!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

STILL CHASING HOOKWORMS.

WHILE hookworm disease has become less prevalent than formerly there is still far more of it than is good for us.

Dr. C. W. Stiles, who discovered the American hookworm a generation ago and who started our effort to control it, offers a plan for carrying on, now that there is a disposition to stop by the roadside. The plans propose to use the schools, and especially those in the country and smaller towns. The school teacher is to group her pupils into five classes.

In group A are all those that appear to be backward and the repeaters, those who fail to pass on from lower to upper grade at least once yearly.

In group B are all the puny children, and especially those that are pale and have large abdomens.

In group C are all girls who are maturing slowly. In the upper grades the girls of a given age should be at least a year ahead of the boys of the same age. They should be brighter and snappier, should learn better and more quickly, should be socially more advanced, more considerate of others, less centered on their individual aims, and larger and better grown. There is something wrong with the girl who is not ahead of the boys of her age.

In group D are placed all the children who say they have had an attack of ground itch or dew poison within one year.

Group E contains all pupils not in the other four groups.

The parents of all children that the teachers place in groups A, B, C and D are persuaded to collect samples and send them to the laboratory of the State health department. The laboratory supplies the container and gives instruction in methods of collecting and shipping the specimen.

Practically every child with hookworm will be in one of those four groups. Since hookworm is most prevalent among school children this method will find more than 30 per cent of the sufferers from hookworm in the community. The children found by this laboratory test to have hookworm would be treated by the family physicians.

The treatment of hookworm has become simplified. It is easily procured, easily taken. It is reasonably safe and fairly efficient.

FORMING A BAD HABIT.

Mrs. R. F. S. writes:

1. Would a tablespoonful of castor oil be harmful to a 3-year-old boy if used every other night?

2. Would the use of enemas be better if nothing else relieves the constipation except castor oil? Does the constant use of enemas cause piles?

RELY.

1. Yes. Don't start that boy off in life with the constipation habit.

2. I don't think it would, but don't start him off with the enema habit, either. Overcome his constipation by training. Try giving him a glass of warm, normal salt solution before breakfast; a diet of fruits, vegetables, butter, salads, oils, sour milk, milk sugar, molasses and perhaps agar.

SOME HINTS ABOUT BAKING MERINGUES.

MERINGUES are very easily made, Mrs. Parsons. I think your trouble has been baking them in too hot an oven. You see, meringues require gentle baking, which means a slow oven and about one hour's cooking. For dessert meringues we may use any kind of fruit; for instance, what could top off a summer company dinner to better perfection than a meringue mounded with luscious raspberries and garnished with whipped cream, or strawberry ice cream mounded on meringues, or apricots or fresh peaches? Then, too, how about vanilla ice cream with a generous serving of chocolate sauce or a fruit sauce? Any one of these sounds interesting, and I shall give you a foolproof recipe for the making of the meringues.

And putting aside the idea of serving them as a dessert, had you thought of them as being particularly alluring dainties to be served with afternoon tea?

When we use them for this purpose we make them smaller and tint them the delicate shades of the rainbow. But remember, in the tinting, that vegetable coloring goes a long way and we want our meringues in pastel shades. Therefore I would suggest much care be exercised in using the coloring—a drop at a time being plenty.

Here is the recipe, and good luck to you in the making.

Meringues.
(For Mrs. Parsons.)

4 egg whites—stiffly beaten
1 cupful fine granulated sugar
½ teaspoonful vanilla
¾ teaspoonful cream of tartar

Add gradually two-thirds of the sugar to the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat until the mixture holds its shape. Add the flavoring, and gradually add the remaining sugar and cream of tartar. Shape with spoon or pastry bag on wet board covered with ungreased paper, or drop on greased cookie sheet about 1 inch apart. Bake in a slow oven for about one hour. Remove to cake rack and cool.

And now we must plan a dinner for tomorrow, which means building a menu around a fish dish, and suppose for our fish we have bluefish fashioned after the Italian method of cooking.

Baked Bluefish Italienne.

Clean and sprinkle with salt and pepper a 3½ or 4 pound bluefish, and place on buttered sheet in a dripping pan. Add three tablespoonfuls each of lemon juice and mushroom liquor, one small onion, finely chopped, ten mushrooms, finely chopped, and sufficient water to allow for basting. Bake in a hot oven for 45 minutes, basting frequently. Serve with a sauce made of two tablespoonfuls each of finely chopped onions and carrot, lean raw ham, two cloves, a dozen peppercorns and sprig of marjoram cooked together with six teaspoonfuls butter. Add two and one-half tablespoonfuls flour, and stir until well browned. Add gradually one cupful brown stock and one cupful diluted white vinegar. Strain, reheat and pour around fish. Garnish with finely chopped parsley.

Whole-Wheat Biscuits.

2 cupfuls whole-wheat flour
¾ cupful milk
3 tablespoonfuls shortening
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder
1 teaspoonful salt

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, and cut in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn on floured board, pat out and roll to three-quarters inch in thickness. Handle as little as possible. Cut and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes eighteen biscuits.

Fruit Dessert.

1 cupful orange pieces
1 cupful diced pineapple
1 cupful strawberries, halved; or 1 cupful white grapes
½ cupful powdered sugar
6 maraschino cherries

Combine the ingredients and serve very cold in sherbet glasses. Garnish with maraschino cherries.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE suggest a remedy for mildew and black spots on the foliage of my roses. The buds of these diseased plants are usually deformed. I have some very old rose plants which have apparently outlived their usefulness. What shall I do with them? MRS. R. J. C.

The best remedy for rosebushes which are covered with mildew or attacked by black spot is to spray them with Massey dust, composed of nine parts dusting sulphur and one part lead arsenate. If your roses have outlived their usefulness, better replace them with young plants.

My primrose is full of beautiful blossoms, but many of the leaves are curling and the edges are turning brown. Have sprayed it with soap suds and watered it carefully.

MINNIE K.

Your plant is evidently suffering from too much heat and too dry an atmosphere. Remove the dead leaves and set the plant on your porch or plant it in your garden.

How far apart shall I plant gladioli bulbs? When shall I plant them? Must bulbs be lifted in the fall? Please answer these same questions regarding dahlias. I have some rocks in my garden 30 feet high, which are covered with vines. Please tell me the names of these vines and whether they will grow in shallow soil.

MRS. G. B. R.

Plant gladioli bulbs 4 inches apart. If soil is heavy, plant the bulbs 2 inches below the surface; if it seems light, plant them 4 inches below the surface. All gladioli bulbs should be in the ground by the middle of July. Should you want a succession of blooms, plant some bulbs every two weeks. Gladioli are not hardy, so lift the bulbs before frost. Plant your dahlia tubers at least four feet apart each way. Dig the holes 6 inches deep, lay the tubers on their sides, the eye or bud pointing upward. Then cover the tuber carefully with soil, gently firming it down. Set out a portion of your tubers every two weeks between May 15 and July 4. Dahlias are not hardy and must be brought inside in the winter. With no description, I cannot answer your question regarding vines.

Should the smaller bulbs be removed from about the main bulbs of amaryllis? MRS. M. I. D.

Is the passion flower hardy?

The passion flower is hardy as far north as New York City.

Is the gardenia considered a reliable house plant? I am usually lucky with house plants, but I have had three failures with gardenias.

MRS. THOMAS C. E.

The gardenia rarely does well in the modern house. It is a greenhouse plant. Even florists leave the propagating of these plants to specialists.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Day-Dreaming Husbands.

AMAZING, the trifles that upset homes and marriages, give rise to criticism and quarrels, start nagging and kill love!

When that exasperated wife who signed her letter "Minnie Ha-Ha" unburdened her woe to this column we were at first inclined to smile at her and pass on to some more harried soul. Her letter just missed the wastebasket. But it was a cute letter. All about a husband who sat every evening telling his brother-in-law how wonderful it would be to go off into the wilds and live a he-man life—with the rest of the animals. It seems these evening sessions or bedtime stories had been going on for months while the long-suffering wife went about her work of getting dinner, washing the dishes and putting out the cat. Finally, no longer able to stand the strain, she took pen in hand and wrote the column asking what might a wife do in such circumstances and keep within the law.

In a spirit of fun as much as helpfulness we published the letter! By the next night we had a stack of letters that weighed a pound! Wives, husbands, mothers-in-law, all telling their tales of pent-up wrath, all out to get some poor day-dreamer whose pet dream had at last rendered them capable of justifiable homicide!

There was the man whose wife talks nothing but the summer boarding house she means to run before she dies. She has been planning this now for twenty years and in twenty years has never managed to get the breakfast dishes done before 9 o'clock at night. This tortured soul solemnly declares that he is afraid he will some day "give the woman a good sound smack!" But since he has controlled himself for twenty years under all this provocation we feel sure he will die without that blot on an otherwise blameless record.

Then there was the wife whose husband knows he has an uncle still living who was "worth a lot of money." He always drags in this valuable uncle when the wife asks him to please pay the rent. He does not know where the uncle lives nor even his name, but has been using him in moments of financial emergency throughout the fourteen years of their marriage. Says this wife with all the wisdom of experience—"If Minnie Ha-Ha is wise she will put a stop to these ravings before they get to where nothing short of death can stop them." Incredible intensity over what to any disinterested observer would seem to be nothing! But read on:

"My husband sits and talks by the hour about what seems to have been about three years of his life. Every night in the world I have to hear about Nick Green and Pete Pike and the way they could teach the Giants how to play ball. I never saw Nick Green nor Pete Pike—and I sometimes doubt he ever did. But night after night it is the same. Eats dinner, gets the sports page, reads for 10 minutes and then starts in. Many the time I have asked myself if any woman should stand to be bored to death by inches. I asked his mother once who these fellows were and she said she never heard of them. Is he a nut or what? He is smart enough away from home, has a good business, and is well liked. But a dumber man in a home never lived. And I am desperate? And desperate describes it."

What is the answer to it all? Are all of us pretty nearly boring somebody to death with our driveling? Are these people merely nerve-racked and blaming their irritation on somebody else? What is it all about? All this seething turmoil over what someone else says? One thing sure—we are glad we printed that letter and gave all these people a chance to unburden their souls. And incidentally we have one suggestion to make and that is this. Let the mate who is bored start some new topic, get some new interest, even go down cellar and write a mystery story to escape. For the "one-idea" person could never upset any but a "one-idea" mate! A fresh deal all around and a little mental activity on both sides would be our prescription. Has anyone else a better one?

TWO ELECTROCUTED FOR YORK'S SLAYING

Logan Hurries to Chair, but Borum Walks Slowly; First Dies Smiling.

John Logan, 26, and John Borum, 28, both colored, were electrocuted for slaying Prohibition Agent Lamar W. York when he was attempting to arrest them on a liquor charge in April, 1930.

Logan died first. He walked the 100 feet more or less from the door to the death chair hurriedly. He was smiling. Accompanying him was the Rev. James L. Pinn, pastor of the Colored Goodwill Baptist Church.

He was placed in the chair at 10 o'clock.

At 10:07 he was officially pronounced dead by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald and Dr. Walter K. Angevina, jail physician.

At 10:11 Borum entered the death chamber. He was supported by two guards and walked slowly. He had been weakened by a disease of the throat glands. He was accompanied by the Rev. John B. Affleck, of Catholic University.

He was placed in the chair at 10:13. Guards in merciful swiftness adjusted the mask, the cap and the electrodes. The current was turned on. At 10:19 he was officially pronounced dead.

Britain Is Satisfied In Sharpe Inquiry

Parliament Informed Girl Was Not Subjected to Third Degree.

London, June 29 (A.P.).—There will be no representations by the British government to the United States in connection with the death of Violet Sharpe, Parliament was informed today.

The undersecretary for foreign affairs said the consul general at New York had reported on the death of the servant, who committed suicide in the Morrow home at Englewood, N. J., after questioning by police in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping.

"Having regard to all the circumstances in this case," he said, "there would appear to be no grounds which would warrant representations to the United States Government."

The consul general is satisfied there was no physical violence of "so-called third degree methods" employed by the police in their questioning, he said.

Leaders on New British Peace Society's Roster

London, June 29 (A.P.).—A new peace organization has come into being with the establishment of the British Commonwealth Peace Federation.

Prominent members of the House of Commons are leaders in the new body. Its general advisory council consists of an equal number of Conservatives, Liberals and Labor leaders, with Geoffrey Le Mander, Liberal, as chairman.

Minority Congress Begins.

Vienna, June 29 (A.P.).—The eighth European minority congress, representing 40,000,000 scattered through 14 European countries, began here today. Josip Milfan, former Slovenian representative in the Italian Parliament, is chairman.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

CONTRARY to earlier report, Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of Metropolitan Police, following a conference with Robert E. Long, special representative of United Artists, and Carter Barron, city manager of Loew's Washington interests, held in his office yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, gave his approval to the public presentation of "Scarface," at Loew's Palace Theater, beginning at midnight, without deletion of any scene.

This seems an eminently just and praiseworthy decision. "Scarface" in no way relates to any police activity in the Capital. It is frankly and unmistakably the recital of events that have been restricted almost exclusively to Chicago. While it may not precisely glorify the police, it most assuredly does not cast aspersion upon them and certainly does anything but glorify the gangster.

There is one barber shop scene in which Scarface takes one on the chin from a plain clothes man, upon whose badge he has just scratched a match to light his cigarette, and another in the station house where the chief of detectives turns Scarface over to the same headquarters man ostensibly to have the truth "slapped out of him." These are the scenes to which Gen. Glassford is reputed to have objected. It is his purpose now to send a committee to view the film with a full audience in attendance. If audience reaction to these scenes seems inimical to the best interests of the police departments of the Nation, their deletion will be requested, and, of course, made.

It is almost inconceivable that these scenes should be construed by the public as indicative of police brutality, but if they should, their removal would not impair the effectiveness of "Scarface" one iota.

Tuesday midnight's preview of "Scarface," incidentally, substantiated all of the appraisals that had preceded it to Washington as the most lurid of the biographies depicting the rise and fall of the Midwest's homicidal hoodlums. Its slaughters are stupendous. This, however, is largely accounted for by the fact that Howard Hughes has packed into a screening time of about an hour and a half all of the massacres that were scattered over many months, or maybe years, by Chicago's north, south and west side banditti.

Much of its action—almost too much—parallels the equally authentic recitals of "The Public Enemy." Paul Muni does an incomparably fine piece of work in the title role. But then, so did Jimmy Cagney as the "Enemy."

So excitingly realistic is "Scarface" that a special midnight public premiere will be accorded this widely discussed picture at the Palace tonight, beginning at 11 o'clock. Regular night prices will prevail.

Speaking of screen hits, and that is potentially what we have been doing, "Bring 'em Back Alive," Frank Buck's thrilling film of the Malay jungles, will be continued at RKO-Keith's through Tuesday of next week to meet the demand of record-breaking patronage. On Wednesday, July 6, Constance Bennett will take possession of the screen in "What Price Hollywood," one of the first of the cinema's exposes.

Next week's holiday celluloids will be as follows: Palace, Paul Muni in "Scarface;" Earle, Loretta Young, Norman Foster and George Brent in "Week-End Marriage," and Jack Mulhall, in person; Loew's Fox, Helen Twelvetrees and Robert Young in "Unashamed," and Vaughn De Leath with "Hell's Belles" revue; RKO-Keith's, as above; Metropolitan, Genevieve Tobin in "Hollywood Speaks"; Columbia, Maureen O'Sullivan in "Fast Companions."

A Democratic dark horse will be okay with us, even if they make a goat of him—provided the goat still stands for bock!

President of Yale Will Marry Widow

Mrs. Woodman's Betrothal to Dr. Angell Is Announced.

Camerton, N. C., June 29 (A.P.).—Stuart W. Cramer, textile magnate and a leader in national Republican party affairs, and Mrs. Cramer, today announce the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Katherine Cramer Woodman, of Ardmore, Pa., to Dr. James Rowland Angell, of New Haven, Conn., president of Yale University.

Mrs. Woodman is the daughter of Cramer and his first wife, who was Bertha Berry Cramer, of Portland, Me. She is the widow of Paul Woodman, of Portland, who died in 1930. She has six children. Mr. Angell's wife, formerly Marion Isabel Watrous, of Des Moines, Iowa, died more than a year ago. Dr. Angell has two children.

In a statement announcing the engagement, Mr. Cramer said the wedding would take place "some time during the summer."

Fliers Wait on Weather For Round-World Hop

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Thick weather over Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, was all that stood in the way tonight of the start of a proposed round the world flight by James Mattern and Bennett Griffen.

Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist, said the weather was clearing over Harbor Grace, the fliers' first scheduled refueling point, and that they might be able to take off tomorrow.

Cabinet Selected For Newfoundland

Prime Minister Alderdice to Be Minister of Finance and Customs.

St. Johns, N. F., June 29 (A.P.).—F. C. Alderdice, sworn in last night as the new prime minister of Newfoundland, today announced the personnel of his cabinet as follows:

F. C. Alderdice, prime minister and minister of finance and customs; J. C. Puddester, secretary of state; L. E. Emerson, minister of justice; H. W. Quinton, minister of public works; William C. Winsor, minister of posts and telegraphs; William J. Walsh, minister of lands and fisheries.

It was understood the department of lands and fisheries will be divided at the next session of the legislature, making two portfolios, agriculture and mines, and marine and fisheries. John Stone has been mentioned as a possible appointee as minister of marine and fisheries.

1,396 Words Are Used In Proposed Platform

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—The proposed Democratic platform contains exactly 1,396 words. The longest plank in the proposed platform is that on prohibition, which contains 143 words. The shortest one, containing only 9 words, deals with unemployment and old-age insurance.

This platform is one of the shortest ever written for a political party. The 1928 Democratic platform was more than 8,000 words in length.

Paris, June 29 (A.P.).—An international oil conference which was to have been begun here today was postponed until tomorrow to permit informal talks among the delegates.

GOVERNMENT CITES 136 COAL COMPANIES

(Associated Press.)

The Justice Department announced yesterday that antitrust charges had been filed in the Lynchburg, Va., Federal Court against 136 bituminous coal-mining companies to test the legality of a regional sales plan for disposing of their product.

An injunction was sought in the proceedings which charged combination and conspiracy in violation of the Sherman antitrust act. The coal-mining companies comprised Appalachian Coals, Inc., the regional sales organization of the soft-coal industry.

The plan of operation by the coal operators was submitted in advance to the Justice Department, but it felt the program could not be allowed to become operative until its legality was approved by the courts.

The defendant companies are located in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, representing 70 per cent of production in that area.

It was charged the companies had entered into an agreement to monopolize the coal trade in the vicinity of their operations by a cessation of independent and competitive action among themselves and by controlling and regulating the supply, distribution and prices of bituminous coal produced and sold by them.

The petition alleged that the defendants had made a uniform contract with Appalachian Coals, Inc., making it the exclusive agency for the sale and distribution of coal produced by them, that the corporation will apportion orders among the defendants on a quota basis agreed upon, and will have full charge and control of all matters of distribution and prices.

$6,050 Outlook Offer Causes Delay of Sale

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Sale of the Outlook and Independent, bankrupt magazine, was ordered postponed today when an offer of $6,050 was the highest bid made at an auction.

Referee Howard P. Coffin thought the offer too low and postponed the sale until late tomorrow. The high bid was made by Frank A. Tichenor, publisher of Aero Digest, the Spur and several other periodicals. A first offer, $2,000, was made by Funk & Wagnalls, publishers of the Literary Digest.

MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT SCARFACE

Owing to tremendous public interest, there will be a Midnight Showing TONIGHT at Loew's Palace Theater of the sensational picture "SCARFACE."

This is the United Artists picture that strips the cloak of secrecy from gangland and reveals the daily lives of those crime barons who observe no code but their own and who bow to no law save that of the gun.

"SCARFACE" is a production that the greatest czars of the underworld have tried, by every sinister method, to stop. They have succeeded in barring it in many localities, but Washington is to see it at LOEW'S PALACE THEATER beginning tomorrow.

Come early for TONIGHT'S MIDNIGHT SHOW, which begins at 11 o'clock. Regular evening prices—55c, including tax.

THURSDAY JUNE 30, 1932 SPORTS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE national open golf championship as a negotiable instrument set something of a new high yesterday when Gene Sarazen, the present owner, acquired a manager who is guaranteeing him $250,000 as his share of the intake from exhibitions, purses, movies and testimonials during the next two years.

Even in the hands of Hagen, the master showman of all the golfers, the national open crown was not valued at $125,000 a season, and Mr. Ray McCarthy, who signed Sarazen to the quarter million dollar contract, is displaying rare optimism in the very face of this depressionistic era!

To a colorful character, the national open title's worth is estimated at no more than $50,000. The immediate prize is only the $1,000 purse which the United States Golf Association tenders to the leading professional, but fellows like Tommy Armour and Hagen were able to realize approximately 50 times that amount on a long exhibition schedule.

The stolid, almost phlegmatic temperament of Billie Burke (nee Burkowski), proved a tremendous asset in the young Pole's ascension to national open honors last year, but Burke, a steady, machine-like player, was not in great demand as an exhibition performer and this department doubts that his title netted him more than $25,000.

In the hands of Sarazen, who can capitalize on his dashing exploits in both the British and United States opens, the honor may stage a comeback financially and net him the customary $50,000 that Hagen and Armour made it pay in years past, but when Mr. McCarthy guaranteed him $125,000, I can understand why Sarazen leaped at the contract.

The day of the juicy indorsement and testimonial dividends is gone. Athletic heroes are indorsing the output of national manufacturers these days for a tithe of what they formerly received, and glad to do it. Bobby Jones took the edge off the movie plums with his long series of films that were received so enthusiastically.

Where Mr. McCarthy expects to net the $125,000 per year for Sarazen, I can tell you if you can tell me which corner prosperity is hanging around.

Golf Critics Take Side of Goodman

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Metropolitan golf critics took up the weapons today for Johnny Goodman, the Omaha amateur ace, and delivered a broadside of criticism against the United States Golf Association for failure to name him among the ten players for this year's Walker Cup matches with Great Britain.

Goodman's all-around tournament record, observers asserted, appeared much more impressive than that of several named on the team. This covers the period from 1929, when Goodman sprang to fame by beating Bob Jones in the first round of the national amateur at Pebble Beach, up to the 1932 national open at Fresh Meadow, where the Nebraskan was top amateur and shot a 68 on his final round.

Unofficially, it was understood the attitude of the U. S. G. A. could be summed up about like this:

"Goodman is in perfectly good standing and well liked. He was considered thoroughly, in going over the team selections, but it was not felt his match play record over the past two seasons, in major tournaments, was exceptional. Performances in the national amateur, as well as previous Walker Cup experience, both figured strongly in making the selections."

Reed Defeats Portney on Decision

By JACK ESPEY.

JIMMY REED, a cool, calculating piece of fighting machinery from Jacksonville, Fla., counterpunched his way to an unanimous eight-round decision last night over Jack Portney, Baltimore's nationally known junior welterweight, in the feature of Twin City Arena's card.

More than 1,500, the largest crowd yet to visit Promoter Cornell's stadium of swat, watched with mild surprise as Portney was forced to bow for the first time before a Capital audience. The bout was staged next to last on the program with Reds Barry, Washington's leading heavyweight, using Herman Weiner, of Baltimore, for a punching bag in the finale.

Southerner Lands Vicious Right.

Practically unheralded and unsung, except for his own confident expressions prior to last night, Reed absorbed Portney's heaviest fire throughout, meanwhile inserting the most effective blows. The Southerner adopted awaiting game after a furiously and evenly fought first round and slammed a vicious right hand to Portney's head and body that resounded back in the distant woods.

Though the milling was earnest and speedy, Reed escaped unmarked, while his opponent received only a cut on the nose. Both managed to evade numerous punches that would have decapitated a bull had one struck home.

Barry piled up such a big early lead against Weiner that he spent the last four rounds clowning and dancing about the ring much to the enjoyment of the large Southeast delegation present. Reds found that his hardest blows didn't hurt Herman, so he tossed 'em from all angles with absolute disregard for his rival's attack. The husky Baltimorean, who floored Barry for a nine-count last December, was completely bewildered.

Those who went out to see Young Van prolong his winning streak were gratified, for the unbeaten Washington middleweight had No. 9 tucked away in his bag before the end of the third round while Johnny Adams, Baltimore 178-pounder, was snoring on the floor. But until Van landed a short left hook to the jaw midway in this round his work was lacking in the old zip characteristic of his other bouts.

Day Nursery Abandons Summer Boxing Plans

Reversing an earlier decision, the athletic committee of the Alexandria Day Nursery last night decided, out of deference to Twin-City Arena, not to conduct boxing in Alexandria during the summer months. Matchmaker Frankie Mann had arranged the card for July 11, announced as the opening date for the proposed new Day Nursery Arena, when he received instructions yesterday to cancel the show.

Two G.U. Prepmen Left in Golf Play

Special to The Washington Post.

Greenwich Country Club, Greenwich, Conn., June 29.—John Finn and Frank Allan remained the lone representatives of Georgetown Prep, of Washington, in the Eastern interscholastic golf championship, winning their matches in the second and third flights, while Maury Nee went down to defeat in the feature match of the entire day, losing to Rogers, of Andover, 4 and 2.

Finn beat Hemingway, of Lawrenceville, 3 and 2, and later in the day trimmed Parker, of Exeter, 2 and 1. Allan defeated Sinnott, of Roxbury, 5 and 3, and Culbertson, of Choate, 4 and 3. Gordon Zubrod, Georgetown Prep's fourth entry, lost to Brown, of Andover, 2 and 1, in a fine second-flight match, whose actual scoring was 79 and 81.

CHOICES WIN IN SERVICE TENNIS

By BOB CONSIDINE.

IT became more and more evident yesterday, on the courts at the Army and Navy Country Club, that Lieut. Stanley K. Robinson, defending champion, will meet Maj. Robert C. Van Vliet, former champion, for the tennis crown of the Army. The two favorites romped into the semifinals yesterday without undue stress, and today's expected victories should place them in the title round.

Lieut. Robinson disposed of an insurgent movement which had been rampaging through the tournament under the name of Lieut. Brownfield, 6—3, 6—2. Brownfield's nicely topped back-court drives proved to be perfect practice beard off which Robinson's brought off ringing shots to the corners.

Van Vliet Eliminates Drake.

Maj. Van Vliet, who was District champion in 1916 and 1928, put out Capt. Drake, reliable Fort Benning player, 6—0, 6—1, although it was not that much of a rout.

Last year's runner-up, Lieut. Dave Hedekin, was bounced out of the tournament by the hard-working Lieut. Sherburne, 6—3, 0—6, 6—4, in the day's yanking No. 1 upset. Sherburne worked like a Trojan to achieve the victory, faced as he was by a player with much more experience and smoother strokes. Several breaks gave Lieut. Sherburne the first set, and then he saw Hedekin reel off seven straight games, only to come back and fight it out down the home stretch to win. Hedekin actually won one more game than the victor.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
SINGLES.
Quarter-final round—Van Vliet defeated Drake, 6—0, 6—1; Sherburne defeated Hedekin, 6—3, 0—6, 6—4; Robinson defeated Brownfield, 6—3, 6—2.

Loughran Beats Hamas In Comeback Battle

Philadelphia, June 29 (U.P.).—Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion, staged an impressive comeback tonight by winning a 10-round decision over young Steve Hamas, of Passaic, N. J., at Shibe Park.

Three Golf Upsets Mark College Play

Kowal, Kammer and Moe Beaten; Howell in Quarter-Finals.

Hot Springs, Va.—Ohio State and Yale, sending two contenders each into the quarterfinals of the national intercollegiate golf championship, held a numerical advantage today after a pair of explosive opening rounds which saw the hopes of the Par West shattered.

Princeton, Washington and Lee, Dayton and Michigan each placed a man in tomorrow's 36-hole quarterfinals as Don Moe, of Oregon, Western amateur champion; Henry Kowal, of Colgate, medalist, and Fred Kammer, of Princeton, were eliminated in startling upsets.

SUMMARIES.
Robert Kepler, Ohio State, defeated Winston Fuller, Southern California, 6 and 4, and George Berry, Ohio State, defeated Reuben Albaugh, Rice Institute, 3 and 2, and M. P. Warner, Yale, 1 up; John Parker, Yale, defeated Gail Stockton, Southern California, 2 and 1, and John Howard, Michigan, 4 and 3; Sidney Hopkins, Yale, defeated Bill Nacios, Penn State, 1 up, and Eddie Dayton, Michigan, 1 up; Robert Moffett, Princeton, defeated Henry Kowal, Colgate, 4 and 2, and Milan Heath, Harvard, 3 and 2; Billy Howell, Washington and Lee, defeated Fred Damastre, Northwestern, 7 and 5, and Chester Birch, Dartmouth, 3 and 1; Eddie Hammett, Dayton, defeated John Rastan, Illinois, 1 up, and David Gamble, Yale, 2 and 1; Johnny Fischer, Michigan, defeated John Gordon, Princeton, 1 up, and R. O. Bohnen, Chicago, 3 and 2.

Helen Jacobs Wimbledon Finalist

By FRANK H. KING.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29 (A.P.).—Helen Jacobs, the California girl who might have been queen of tennis long ago but for the prowess of a fellow townswoman, turned back the pages of Wimbledon tennis history today to 1929 and the final of the coveted women's singles championship.

With all the ease and mastery that pales only in comparison with the genius of Helen Wills Moody, her rival from Berkeley, Miss Jacobs eliminated Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, in the semifinal round, 7—5, 6—1. Unless a tennis catastrophe occurs tomorrow, she will again meet Mrs. Moody for the women's championship.

Mrs. Moody Victor In 1929.

Three years ago Miss Jacobs romped through to the final, and Helen Wills, unmarried then, beat her in straight sets for the third of the four singles title she has won on Wimbledon's grass courts.

Mrs. Moody must eliminate Mary Heeley, English junior champion in 1928, one of the feature matches tomorrow before the picture of 1929 is brought back in its entirety, but there seems scarcely a contest there. Mrs. Moody is expected to sweep through as she has each match so far in the tourney, without the loss of a set, to come on and duplicate her 1929 victory over Miss Jacobs.

The American Davis Cup doubles combination of Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn won their way into the semifinal round by defeating Roderich Menzel, hard-hitting Czechoslovakian, and J. S. Olliff, of England, 6—4, 3—6, 8—6, 6—3.

The youthful team of Sidney B. Wood and Gregory Mangin, however, fell before the splendid play of Fred Perry and George Hughes, British pair. The score was 7—5, 7—5, 6—3. Wood dropped two important service games and wildness cost the Americans a chance to come from behind in the third set. The umpire called the unusual penalty of touching the net on Mangin for the next to the last point out of the court.

Vines-Crawford to Meet Tomorrow.

The weeding out of the doubles contestants cleared the scene for the semifinal round of the men's singles tomorrow, when the last of the American survivors, Ellsworth Vines, meets Jack Crawford, sensational young Australian whom he defeated in the Davis Cup eliminations.

The second semifinal brings together the two conquerors of Vines' American team mates in yesterday's upheaval, the canny Japanese, Jiro Satoh, and England's ranking star, H. W. (Bunny) Austin. Satoh eliminated the defending champion, Sidney Wood, while Austin swept aside Frank Shields.

Sarazen Withdraws From Western Open

Cleveland, Ohio, June 29 (A.P.).—Gene Sarazen's last-minute decision to call an armistice on his stirring campaign for golf titles sent a streak of sunshine across the sky for 130-odd shotmakers today as they sharpened their war clubs for the Western open championship drive over the billowy fairways of Canterbury Golf Club.

Hadley Hurls Browns To Win Over Chisox

St. Louis, June 29 (A.P.).—Irving Hadley held his old teammates to four hits in six innings today as the St. Louis Browns won from the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 1, in the series opener, and Sam Gray, pitching the last three innings, did not allow the Chicagoans a hit.

Three Tribe Pitchers Pounded; Tigers Win

Cleveland, Ohio, June 29 (A.P.).—Detroit pummelled the Cleveland Indians almost at will today, netting sixteen hits from three tribe pitchers and finishing up on the long end of a 13-to-4 score.

Heights to Defend Lead Against Storage Sunday

THE paths of two good baseball teams cross Sunday. Columbia Heights is scheduled to defend its lead in section B, unlimited division, of The Post's Capital City League, against the attack of the powerful Federal Storage nine, and on the outcome hinges the future course of the race. Defeat for the former will have the same effect on the standings as the well-known monkey wrench in the machinery. It will create a triple tie with Rock Creek Servicenter, in addition to the above two, sharing in the benefits.

Columbia Heights leads the pack as the halfway post is reached, undefeated and with five victories to its credit. Its two archrivals for the title are deadlocked for second place with one less victory and one more defeat. Rock Creek Servicenter succumbed to the Heightsmen in a slugfest, and then executed an about-face to eke out a one-run victory over Federal Storage in a 10-inning fray.

All Federal Storage must do to complete the cycle and make the race closer than a Scotchman's haircut is to trim its opponent Sunday. Such an occurrence would in no wise be an upset, for the Federals pack a knockout punch, as their 30-to-3 win over Diamond Cab last Sunday will attest.

Ed Morris, manager of Federal Storage, probably will send "Lefty" Stevens to the mound to twirl for his team. "Red" Rhodes, southpaw ace of the Columbia Heights staff, is slated to toe the slab for Manager Charley Edwards' crew.

Marine Polo Quartet Is Beaten

First Lady Sees War Whites Win Thriller, 11 to 9.

Third Cavalry Downs War Blues, 13-6, in Other Game.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

WITH Mrs. Herbert Hoover numbered among the 3,000 or more spectators on the Potomac Park Oval yesterday, the War Whites and Third Cavalry Yellows eliminated the Marines and War Blues from the Argentine Polo Cup tournament. The Whites downed the Quantico four, which had a 7-goal handicap, 11 to 9, and the Cavalrymen stopped the Blues, the latter with four gift goals, 13 to 6.

Mrs. Hoover appeared promptly at the appointed hour and mounted the newly constructed platform and stood while the Whites and Marines lined up before her and saluted with their mallets. Maj. Horace Fuller, national Army polo official and member of the Blue Team, stayed with the First Lady throughout the opening game and explained the fine points.

Devers and Eager Star For War Whites.

Although in the first and final periods the Marines gave the Whites a terrific struggle, on the whole they were much more sluggish than in their surprise victory over Third Cavalry on Monday. Then again, Third Cavalry did not have a Maj. J. Devers to block the Marine thrusts and drive through their defense. Devers teamed well with his mates and crashed the willow through the Quantico uprights five times. Maj. Eager was also a factor in the Whites' victory.

While the hard, reckless riding of the first game was not so much in evidence in the second tilt, the fans were treated to several sensational shots. Capt. G. Smith, of Third Cavalry, was the first to electrify the gathering with a terrific angle drive from 40 yards out, and then in the the fourth period, Capt. L. Truscott, also of Cavalry, lofted the white pellet 100 yards through the Blue goal.

The Blues, with their 4-goal handicap, retained the lead until the fourth period, when Cavalry went on a scoring spree and counted five times. In this period, Lieut. Bennett dribbled from midfield to score. Maj. H. Estes and Maj. H. Fuller were the outstanding Blue malletmen.

Today the Third Cavalry Greens will meet the Fort Humphrey Engineers on the Potomac Park Oval at 3 o'clock.

DOUBLE PLAY LETS CARDS WIN, 10-9

CINCINNATI, June 29 (A.P.).—With the ball game roosting on his bat, Gilbert lined into a double play today to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 10 to 9 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

The teams had matched rallies when the game fell from a pitchers' battle in the sixth. First the Reds batted around for five runs on six hits in the seventh. Next the Cards rained singles, which, with Orsatti's triple, brought six runs in the eighth. Then, with three walks and four straight singles to build on, Gilbert hit to the wrong spot.

In the Wake Of the Game

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 29.—Alvin Crowder does not know yet whether he was the victim of a lively ball or a lively Sewell. Any way, the little guy spanked those two into the bleachers, with something to spare.

When the Babe went to bat following Sewell's second home run, a wag in the back of the grand stand bawled "Sit down; we want Sewell."

The Yankees did a brisk business in college pitchers today. They signed Charlie Devens, of Harvard, and released Johnny Murphy, of Fordham, to Newark.

Bill Dickey, who has a leg injury suffered in last Sunday's game between the Yanks and the Athletics, broke down running out a two-base hit in the sixth inning and had to withdraw.

Gomez now has eight hits to his credit for the season, and he's prouder of that than he is of his pitching record.

The Nationals draw an off-day in the schedule tomorrow, but meet the Philadelphia Athletics in the Quaker City Friday and Saturday. A double-header is listed for Saturday, the game scheduled for August 15 being moved up so as to permit the 1932 team to meet Bucky Harris' 1924 world's champs in Washington on that date as part of the Bicentennial celebration.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 29.—The Nats have discovered that you can tie the Yankees but you can't beat them. Not right now, anyway. They tied the Yankees twice today, but at the finish the Yanks won out. The score was 6 to 5 and the Yanks now have the edge in the season's series between the teams, 8 games to 7.

EVERGOLD, $58.70, BEATS STEPENFETCHIT AT ARLINGTON PARK

Outsider Up To Score By Head

Manta, 5-Year-Old Mare, First Home at Latonia.

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., June 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Stepenfetchit, one of the favorites for the $70,000 added American classic, today disappointed its followers in the Garfield Handicap, losing to Evergold, an outsider, by a head.

Evergold, owned by Richard and Patrick Nash, of Chicago, caught the Whitney star in the stretch and held on to win the mile event in 1:36 1-5. The victor paid $58.70. Abe Bartelstein's Yonkel was third.

Aqueduct Race Track, June 29 (A.P.).—Okapi, the Brookmeade Stable's colt which began his career in Florida last winter, scored a hard earned victory in the Canarsie claiming stakes for 2-year-olds here this afternoon. Under Silvio Coucci's hustling ride, the son of Eternal was up to beat Balios, ridden by Mills, by a head after a stirring duel. Five lengths behind came Merry Caroline to account for the show position.

Latonia, Ky., June 29 (A.P.).—Brownell Combs' 5-year-old mare Manta showed a return to form which carried her to triumphs in renewals of the Independence and Enquirer handicaps here last summer, when she accounted for the Highland Stock Farm purse, today's principal offering.

The Highland Stock Farm attracted an evenly-matched field composed of six of the leading handicap horses on the track. The Southland Stable's Playtime cut out a smart early pace, but chucked it after leading to the stretch turn. Manta, perfectly rated by Jockey M. Rose, assumed command a sixteenth out and held away to the wire. The Ridgeview Stable's Ridgeview, which had been in nearest attendance of the leader throughout, had enough left to stall off the Greentree Stable's Surf Board for the place.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

A two-year-old was shipped from New York to Chicago for a killing and while the stable thought nobody was watching. They forgot that old boy Asbestos was doing a bit of keyhole peeping, and he slips you the nag in code. Let's hope they don't double cross him for that. 20, 7, 1, 19, 17, 7, 11, 2. The bank roll lost $2 on Blackboard yesterday and is now $47.26.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SALLIE BOURLAND, $5.62, $3.34, $2.62; OLD JUDGE, $4.06, $2.80; BAGGAGE MASTER, $3.68.

SALLIE BOURLAND quickly sprinted to the front and, racing gamely when challenged, lasted to hold OLD JUDGE in a driving finish. OLD JUDGE came stronsly through the stretch and was gaining. BAGGAGE MASTER displayed good speed. GO FETCH made up much ground to finish fastest of all on the outside. SPOT POP and BOOTS MOORLAND tired after showing early speed. BRILLIANT GIRL also weakened.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:06. Off at 3:11. Winner, Mrs. Frank A. Carreaud's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRIMUTE, $13.08, $2.94, $2.36; RED WHISK, $2.42, $2.14; SNAPLOCK, $2.72.

PRIMUTE took a short lead early and, showing exceptional gameness when challenged, bested RED WHISK in a driving finish, but was cut down during the running and pulled up very lame. RED WHISK was on the outside of the leader throughout and, fought in the final drive. POMPONITE, faltered close to the pace, weakened in the stretch and was disqualified for interfering with SNAPLOCK in the early running. SNAPLOCK was shut off twice in the early stages. TRACE CALL was blocked soon after the start. FAN FERN met with early interference. PARTING SHOT fell after meeting interference from RED WHISK early in the running.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Winner, George D. Widener's ch. g. (7), by The Finn—Last Straw. Trained by Andrew J. Joyner. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 4-5, 0:46, 1:10 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—EVERGOLD, $58.70, $18.48, $7.64; STEPENFETCHIT, $4.18, $3.12; YONKEL, $4.12.

EVERGOLD gained steadily in the early running and, withstanding a hard drive gamely, caught STEPENFETCHIT near the end and won going away. STEPENFETCHIT was in contending position on the outside under restraint in the early running, took a short lead when OUR FANCY tired and had no excuse. YONKEL, off slowly, closed with rare and might have won had he not been blocked on stretch turn. SPRINGSTEEL suffered some interference. OUR FANCY and MASKED KNIGHT tired in last quarter. MARMION closed ground. ADOBE POST could not keep up.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:10½. Off at 5:11. Winner, A. A. Baroni's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—UPRIGHT, $5.10, $3.36, $3.62; COME ON, $5.84, $3.80; BUB M'FARLAND, $4.06.

UPRIGHT was saved close up to the stretch, then took command when STONE MARTIN began to tire and held COME ON at the end. COME ON also raced under early restraint and came fast in the stretch, but could not get up. BUB M'FARLAND dropped far back in the early running and closed a big gap. STONE MARTIN was hustled into setting early pace. CHOSEN PAL had early speed. GARLIC was never a contender. DIS DAME tired badly in the stretch.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:41. Off at 5:45. Winner, Mrs. D. Levy's b. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NIATO, $21.58, $7.32, $5.48; GABBO, $4.32, $5.90; OUR PAL, $11.92.

NIATO, never far from pace, took good lead after leaving back stretch and held GABBO in a driving finish. GABBO also staged a game finish. JOR, closing fast, was second to HARAMZADA, but was not placed in the first four. HARAMZADA was under restraint and made up some ground. PRINCELLA tired. GUNFIRE also tired. JODHPUR sulked. OUR PAL was always badly outrun and never threatened leaders.

STOCKS CLIMB AGAIN ON SHORT COVERING

Doubtless the better tone was provided by short covering on the part of traders who did not care to be taken by surprise should the market suddenly decide to rally on news from Chicago or Lausanne. U. S. Government securities slumped in active trading, the obvious explanation being that holders disliked prospective new financing which relief legislation may entail. In commodities, sugar futures reduced early losses, while hog prices maintained their rise.

Westinghouse passed its dividend, preferring, its announcement said, to maintain a strong cash position. The stock sold off a point, but closed unchanged.

Procter & Gamble Heavy.

Procter & Gamble and National Biscuit were heavy. Wrigley sagged when the dividend readjustment was revealed, but made full recovery. Pressure against U. S. Steel stocks, American Telephone and a few other leaders relaxed noticeably, and there was a wide assortment of small fractional gains.

American Can, Allied Chemical, New York Central, Union Pacific, Case, American Tobacco "B" and Coca Cola were up a point or more net. Transactions totaled 630,720 shares, almost exactly 200,000 less than yesterday.

The market was slightly disturbed by the Westinghouse dividend action, but then resumed the upward trend which had been in progress when that interruption came.

Firmness Is Encouraging.

Its firmness was encouraging to chart followers, who pointed out that averages had reached what is known technically as a "double bottom," and that the resistance to a decisive penetration of early June lows might have interesting implications.

Iron Age placed steel ingot operations at 15 per cent of capacity, off a point from last week, but the review foresaw a lower rate later this week when Independence Day shutdowns will be general. Some plants will not reopen until mid-July, and although moderate recovery is anticipated after these vacations, "no real upturn is believed possible before September at the earliest." Scrap and pig iron prices have sagged, but finished steel remains stationary.

Electric Power output was off 11.9 per cent from a year ago, against a loss of 10.5 a week ago, suggesting that recent improvement in this barometer was largely due to temporary increases in industrial activity prior to imposition of the new taxes.

Electric Power Output Shows Slight Decrease

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—After successive gains in three preceding weeks, electric power output declined slightly in the week ended June 25, the National Electric Light Association reported today. Last week's output was 1,440,541,000 kilowatt hours against 1,441,532,000 the week before. It was 11.9 per cent below the corresponding week of last year.

The figure reported the previous week was 10.5 per cent below the 1931 level. The Atlantic Seaboard last week showed a decrease of 9.5 per cent from last year; New England, 10.8; the central industrial region, 14.2, and the Pacific Coast, 9.6.

Food Industry Is Leader In Resisting Depression

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 29.—Throughout the entire period of the current economic depression, the food industry has shown its ability to withstand the most severe effects of recessionary influences both from a sales and an earnings standpoint, says the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, in a current survey which continues in part:

"Whereas general industrial profits in 1931 were all but entirely eliminated, food concerns, in the aggregate, reported profits equal to approximately 62 per cent of their record 1929 income. This outstanding experience is traceable primarily to a consumer demand which remains comparatively stable."

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Wed.	Tues.
Number of advances	153	142
Number of declines	163	194
Stocks unchanged	148	150
Total issues traded	464	486

Stocks.

Rise is staged despite loss of Westinghouse dividend and poor trade reports. Better tone is attributed to short covering. Pressure against U. S. Steel and other issues relaxes.

Bonds.

Federals join the general weakness of bonds, and the market drifts lower. Germans also drop. Rails and industrials are easy although there are some firm spots.

Curb.

Wheat.

Values slumped again on stop loss selling and dearth of buyers. Market also affected by reports of Lausanne conference breakdown.

Cotton.

Trade buying and covering send prices up 10 to 17 points. Market finishes steady. Liverpool covers and reports demand by trade. Bombay enters orders.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Hopes for a reduction in the English bank rate tomorrow and belief that the conversion scheme is imminent were responsible for the strength in British funds, especially conversion loans. Other British issues were firm, while the remainder of the market was dull awaiting developments at Lausanne. The close was quiet.

Paris—Uncertainty over the international situation was reflected on the bourse. The session opened calm with little demand for rentes, while metal shares were irregular. The close was more sustained.

STOCKHOLDERS SEEK DATA ON LOW PRICES

Company Managers Receive Many Letters Demanding Explanations.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—In happier days, stockholders were sometimes censured for their apparent lack of interest in management, but now executives complain that their desks are piled high with letters demanding explanations of low prices and reduced dividends.

"They want the company," said one leading corporation official, "to assume the burden of deciding many things which it can not possibly do. Some stockholders request an unequivocal promise that the dividend will not be reduced; others ask us to name a time by which the stock will have recovered a large part of its bear market decline. We are very much concerned over the anxieties of our stockholders, but about all we can do is to tell them that we hope to get through the remainder of the depression without having to cut our dividend."

Some old-timers in Wall street suggest that corporations wishing to cultivate the friendly interest of stockholders should revive the custom which was popular twenty years ago with some of the biggest companies of the time. The U. S. Rubber Co., for instance, always drew a large gathering of stockholders to its annual meeting. An interesting talk by the then president, the late Samuel Colt, on the company's business and prospects, and a well guided inspection tour of one of the company's principal plants were part of the program.

L. F. Loree, who in those days, as now, directed the destinies of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, made the D. & H. annual meetings play to packed houses. He was always ready to answer any question that a stockholder cared to propound and to supply as much information on the road's operations as was available.

The corporation annual meeting nowadays is a dry and emasculated affair, unless there is dissension in the management or between stockholders and the management.

Steel Production Still Decreasing

Fall to 15 Per Cent of Capacity Reported for End of Week.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Steel production has fallen to 15 per cent of capacity from 16 per cent a week ago and will go still lower before the end of this week, Iron Age reported today. Independence Day shutdowns are to be longer and more general than usual, the review said, and some plants will not resume operations until mid-July.

However, the publication added that present levels of demand are so low that "a rebound is looked for," although it will not be immediate "since the momentum of the depression is for the time being getting additional impetus from seasonal influences."

"While there will naturally be some recovery in output after the Fourth of July shutdowns, no real upturn is believed possible before September at the earliest."

Berlin Electric to Pay $102,000 Debentures

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 29.—Dillon, Read & Co., as fiscal agents for Berlin City Electric Co., Inc., announce that $102,000 principal amount of the company's 30-year 6½ per cent sinking fund debentures, due 1959, have been drawn for redemption on August 1 out of moneys to be paid for sinking fund purposes.

Debentures so designated for redemption will be payable at par at the offices of Dillon, Read & Co. in New York.

Richmond Reserve Report Is Issued

Unsatisfactory Conditions Are Noted for Period May 15 to June 15.

Richmond, Va., June 29 (A.P.).—Continued "unsatisfactory" business conditions during the period May 15 to June 15 in the Fifth Federal Reserve District was reported today by the Fifth Federal Reserve Bank in its monthly review of credit, business and agricultural conditions.

General business conditions in the district were described as somewhat more unsatisfactory during the period, with the usual spring increase in business very small and trade in May and early June poor.

Important developments in banking were noted, among them a material increase in reserve bank purchases of Government securities with the aim of counteracting liquidation, a seasonal decline in Federal Reserve notes in circulation, and an unusual increase in member bank reserve balances at the reserve bank.

Mangel's Chain Stores Files Bankruptcy Plea

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—The Legnam Corporation, better known as Mangel's, having 132 general merchandise stores in 38 States, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today with the statement it owed debts it could not pay in full.

The petition stated the name was changed when a certificate was filed yesterday with the secretary of state in Trenton, N. J., the State in which the corporation is chartered. Among the cities in which the firm has stores are Omaha, Nebr.; Youngstown and Toledo, Ohio; Louisville, Ky.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Altoona and Erie, Pa.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Davenport, Iowa, and Salt Lake City, Utah.

Frisco Railroad Now Asks $3,390,000 Loan

(Associated Press.)

The St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co. yesterday amended its previous application for a Reconstruction Corporation loan by asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve one of $3,890,086 to pay taxes and interest on its prior lien bonds.

The company last week, in a second supplemental application, asked the commission to aprove a $4,390,086 loan to meet July 1 maturities, asserting that unless it were granted an immediate receivership was likely.

RAPID TRANSIT GAINS IN SURPLUS INCOME

May Returns Change Trend of Account; Deficit in First Five Months.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The operating statement of Washington Rapid Transit Co. for May, filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission, reveals a surplus in the net income item of $7,312.39, a gain of $5,834.37 above that for the month last year.

For the five months of 1932 there is a deficit in the item amounting to $19,342.38, an increase of $16,997.32 over that for the like period a year ago.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the fiduciary section, District of Columbia Bankers Association, yesterday, Leonard Marbury, assistant trust officer, Washington Loan & Trust Co., was elected chairman for the present administrative year. T Stanley Holland, assistant trust officer, American Security & Trust Co., was elected vice chairman and Sidney F. Taliaferro, vice president and trust officer, Riggs National Bank, secretary. Announcement is expected shortly of the appointments for committee memberships.

Underwriter Examinations.

H. Lawrence Choate, local general agent, Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., and president of District of Columbia Chapter, Chartered Life Underwriters, has received word from the American College of Life Underwriters at Philadelphia that chartered life underwriter examinations were taken by approximately 650 candidates at 50 examination centers on June 16, 17 and 18. The examination books for these candidates are now in the process of being graded by a staff of seventeen men.

Conferment of diplomas will be held on Thursday evening, August 18, in San Francisco in conjunction with the annual meeting of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Charles R. Grant, vice president and treasurer of Washington Loan & Trust Co., completes today a quarter of a century of association with the institution. Coming to it in 1907, under the administration of John Joy Edson, he has served successively under John B. Larner and Harry G. Meem, filling the offices of assistant treasurer, treasurer, and now vice president and treasurer of the company.

European Offices Extended.

Important additions to the European facilities of Fenner, Beane & Underleider, members of the New York Stock Exchange, which will connect Washington with the principal security and commodity markets abroad, were announced yesterday by John D. Mothershed, manager of the firm's office in this city.

The present extension of the foreign facilities embraces a new Paris office, which is said to be one of the most elaborately equipped brokerage offices in Europe, and two new offices centrally located in the financial district of London. The Paris headquarters are established at 65 Avenue des Champs Elysees. The London offices are located in the historic Grosvenor House, Park Lane West, and Trafalgar House, Waterloo Place.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—A majority of Wall street workers will extend the Independence Day holiday from Friday's close to Tuesday morning. All security markets and most of the commodity markets will be closed on Saturday. The cotton exchange, which previously voted to remain open on that day, is understood to be ready to consider a second petition to close. Banks will be open as usual.

Stockholders of the United States Leather Co. today approved a reduction in capital to $20,253,652 through retirement of 83,178 shares of 7 per cent prior preferred stock held in treasury.

A. T. Kenney has been promoted from vice president to the presidency of the Consumers Power Co., a subsidiary of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation. W. H. Sammis was elected a director to succeed T. W. Martin.

A reduction of 5 points in the price of lead to 2.95 cents a pound was announced today by the American Smelting & Refining Co.

COTTON PRICE RISES ON TRADE'S BUYING

July Contracts Sell at 5.39, 10 to 17 Points Higher; Liverpool Covers.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Cotton was higher today on trade buying and covering influenced by firmness of July, further showers in the South and continued reports of weevil activity. July contracts led the advance, selling up to 5.41 or 19 points net higher and closing at 5.39. The general finished steady at net gains of 10 to 17 points.

Quotations advanced 3 to 6 points at the opening. Active months sold 4 to 12 net higher during the first few minutes on a moderately active demand. Buying was attributed to relatively steady Liverpool cables, absence of further July notices and rain in the eastern belt.

The advance met some realizing and offerings increased slightly after publication of the weekly weather report which disappointed some recent buyers. The selling was absorbed on setbacks of 4 or 5 points and the market firmed later on renewed talk of probable weevil damage and continued trade buying of July which evidently found comparatively few contracts for sale.

December at 5.71.

At the best December sold at 5.71 or 15 points net higher, and all active months touched the highest prices reached since the low records were established earlier in the month. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best on most positions.

The Weather Bureau said conditions had favored increase in weevil activity and noted interruptions to cultivation in the northwestern belt by heavy rains, but otherwise seemed to be construed as rather more favorable for plant progress than had been anticipated. There were renewed reports that some cotton to be taken upon on July contracts would be exported, and part of today's buying of July was attributed to continental account.

Liverpool cables reported Bombay buying, trade calling and covering in that market and said the improved demand for cotton cloths was well maintained. Exports today 10,760, making 8,366,800 so far this season.

WHEAT VALUES SINK ON LACK OF BUYERS

July Deliveries Also Unsettle Market; Corn and Oats Sell Down.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Wilted because of recurrent stop loss selling, together with dearth of aggressive support from buyers, grain values experienced a plenty of sinking spells today.

Reports that the Lausanne conference was facing a breakdown gave the wheat market a black eye at the outset, and subsequent rallies failed to last.

The fact that deliveries on July contracts will begin day after tomorrow had a further unsettling influence, and so, too, did word that export demand for wheat from North America was confined almost entirely to Canadian grain.

Wheat closed nervous, at near the day's bottom figures, ½ to ⅞ under yesterday's finish, corn ⅜ to ⅝ down, oats, ¼ to ½ off and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Bears in wheat made much of reports that weather over the winter crop belt was a little more favorable, and that with such conditions the receipts would become fairly large in a few days. It was admitted that there was not much prospect, however, for any burdensome movement. Meanwhile, advices from the spring wheat region were in the main satisfactory.

Upturn in Wheat.

The best transient upturn in wheat prices, though, was associated with forecasts of muggy weather northwest, suggesting likelihood that black rust might become more threatening. This rally was helped also by the fact that primary domestic receipts of wheat today totaled but 511,000 bushels against 2,418,000 a year ago. With arrivals at southwestern points today only 578 cars compared with 3,299 cars on the corresponding day last year. Some notice, too, was taken of decreasing shipments from the Southern Hemisphere, Argentine exports for the week amounting to only 1,396,000 bushels.

Unusually favorable crop reports as to corn, oats and rye led to selling pressure on all three. Besides, shipping demand for corn was not so brisk as yesterday. July oats fell to a new bottom price record for the season, and rye equaled former lows.

In provisions selling was minimized by an upturn of hog values to $5, the highest point since March 14.

CURB REVIEW.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Lack of conviction was again the chief characteristic of tradinig in the curb market today. Price trends were irregular and changes narrow, with a fairly steady undertone. Transfers dwindled to 60,000 shares, the smallest volume for this market in recent years.

Oils were steady to firm, as the weekly petroleum statistics showed further substantial declines in crude output and in gasoline in storage. Gulf rose a point, and Indiana and Humble were up fractionally. Kentucky, however, eased a little.

There was a mixed trend in the utilities. American Gas & Electric, Commonwealth Edison and American Light & Traction were up fractionally. Directors of the last-named ordered the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and Electric Bond & Share eased moderately. Swiss American Electric preferred appeared at 84, up 2.

In the mining issues, Hollinger and Teck Hughes were a shade higher, as the improved position of gold mininig was again indicated by McIntyre Porcupine's dividend increase. Industrials were extremely dull. Eagle Picher Lead made one of its rare appearances, trading at 3, off 1¾. Deere was steady.

Man's Life Hangs On Serum Arriving

Victim Ill in California; Medicine Being Made in Cincinnati.

Berkeley, Calif., June 29 (A.P.).—Fred Daugherty, 24, jay critically ill with a rare form of blood poisoning here today with his chances for recovery probably depending upon the delivery of a serum being manufactured in Cincinnati.

"It's merely a question of whether the patient can hang on until the serum arrives," said Dr. H. W. Crane.

Dr. Crane telegraphed for a new supply of the serum after exhausting the first shipment which greatly benefited Daugherty.

Decision Is Due Today On Gas Tank Location

The Public Utilities Commission expects to reach a decision today on the location and size of the gas holder or holders for which the Washington Gas Light Co. filed application several months ago. The company asked authority to erect a 10,000,000 cubic foot tank at Riggs road and the Baltimore & Ohio Railway tracks in the northeast section.

The commission has since ordered the company to construct a 5,000,000 cubic foot holder, but designated no location. A dozen citizens associations have protested against the Northeast site. A bill is now pending in Congress to close Virginia avenue to permit construction of a smaller tank at the east plant.

Phone Box Thief Gets 180 Days.

Charged with rifling the telephone coin box in police headquarters, Warren T. McQuinn, 37 years old, yesterday in Police Court was sentenced to jail for 180 days. Police said he stopped up the coin return chute with a piece of paper and then made collections.

Protest Meeting Held On School Vandalism

In protest against vandalism in the gardens of the school, members of the Wheatley School Parent-Teacher Association, representatives of the District Congress of Parent-Teachers, the principal of the school and police of the Ninth Precinct met yesterday morning in the gardens.

Police promised the association extra protection after the regular supervisor is gone. Mrs. J. M. Saunders, president of the District congress, and Miss Florence Mortimer, school principal, spoke.

LEGAL NOTICES

WILLIAM W. BRIDE and WALTER L. FOWLER, Attorneys,

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia, holding a District Court. In re Condemnation of lot 803, square 3350, as a portion of the approaches to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company underpass, in the District of Columbia. District Court No. 2163. Order of citation and publication. Upon consideration of the petition of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, filed in the above-entitled cause, and on motion of counsel for the said Commissioners, it is by the court, this 27th day of June, 1932, ordered: That the clerk of the court issue citation to all parties in interest in the land to be condemned herein, particularly described in the aforesaid petition, to appear in this court on the 20TH DAY OF JULY, A. D., 1932, at 10 o'clock a. m., to answer the said petition and to show cause, if any they have, why the prayers thereof should not be granted, and why the land in square 3350, as shown on the plat filed with the petition in said cause, should not be condemned as a portion of the approaches to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company underpass, in the District of Columbia. It is further ordered that a copy of said citation be served by the United States Marshal for the District of Columbia upon such owners of the land sought to be condemned herein, and found by the said marshal, or his deputies, within the District of Columbia; and it is further ordered that all persons having any interest in these proceedings be, and they are hereby warned and required to appear in this court on or before the said 20th day of July, 1932, to answer the said petition and to continue in attendance until the court shall have made its final order ratifying and confirming the award and report of the condemnation jury to be appointed by the court to appraise the value of the respective interests of all persons concerned in the land and premises mentioned and described in the aforesaid petition. It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published once in the Washington Law Reporter, the Washington Post, and Washington Evening Star, and the Washington Herald, newspapers published in the said District before the said 20th day of July, 1932. By the court: JOSEPH W. COX, Justice. A true copy. Test: (Seal.) FRANK E. CUNNINGHAM, Clerk. By GEORGE A. WATTS, Asst. Clerk.

BLAINE AND AUSTIN CLASH AT HEARING

The decorum usually attending Senate District committee meetings was broken yesterday by a heated exchange between Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont, and Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, arch foes on the traction merger issue.

Tension, growing out of Blaine's persistent blocking of the merger bill sponsored by Austin, came to a head at a hearing on proposed construction of a huge gas holder in Southeast Washington.

Blaine was closely pressing William E. Horton, attorney for the Washington Gas Light Co., as to the National Capital Park and Planning Commission's stand on the project, when Austin sharply interjected:

"I guess I have been a member of this committee as long as the senator from Vermont," he said. "I do not need any suggestions from him as to the questions I ask. I know my rights as a member of this committee and intend to exercise them."

"And as long as I serve on the same committee I will protect the rights of witnesses," Austin retorted.

Senator Blaine came back:

"I will ask witnesses such questions as I desire, regardless of the guardianship of the senator from Vermont over witnesses."

Allan Davis and John Ritter, of the Southeast Citizens Association, protested they had been given no opportunity to be heard on the gas holder bill before it was favorably reported by the committee. They testified that the holder would be a menace to both the health and safety of Southeast residents.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick testified to the desirability of this site over others in the city. John Nolen, city planner, said the National Park and Planning Commission would approve the location in a case of "public necessity."

The merger bill may again be called up on the Senate calendar this morning.

Swindlers Sought And Woman's $850

Victim Says She Lent Pair Money for Check Transaction.

Katie Mack, colored, of 133 T street northwest, reported to police that she was flim-flammed out of $850 yesterday morning by two colored women at a downtown department store.

According to the woman, she met the other women at Seventh street and New York avenue and went with them to the department store, where they said they would give her $200 if she would let them have the $850 for a few minutes to show to a man so that he would cash a check for them.

The victim waited two hours for them to return.

Sulphur Routs Family From Suite Above Store

The odor of sulphur candles permeating the second floor apartment at 4602 Fourteenth street northwest dispossessed Mrs. Mabel West and her family last night.

The fire rescue squad forced the entrance to a store on the first floor of the building and discovered the odoriferous candles, where the well-meaning proprietor had placed them to drive off insects.

Sanatorium Work Getting Under Way

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Children's Tuberculosis Sanatorium near Defense highway, 8 miles from the District line, will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with Leifur Magnusson, president of the Monday Evening Club, presiding, and Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, president of the Tuberculosis Association, excavating the first shovel of earth.

The following will speak: Representative Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, who introduced the first bill in Congress authorizing the sanatorium; Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of Commissioners, and Dr. J. W. Peabody, superintendent of the tuberculosis hospital. A communication from Senator Arthur Capper, who sponsored the project before the Senate, will be read.

Mrs. Grant has worked in interest of the sanatorium ever since the idea was conceived. The Monday Evening Club organized the Tuberculosis Children's Sanatorium committee. Work on the sanatorium will begin as soon as the ceremony is over.

Police Fight Illegal Sale Of Fireworks

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, yesterday ordered that all police strictly enforce the ordinance forbidding the sale or discharge of firecrackers and other explosive fireworks in the city.

According to the order, sparklers, torches, box fire, fountains, dipsticks, nonpoisonous snakes, colored lights and toy pistols may be used in connection with the celebration of the Fourth of July.

Policeman's Home Robbed.

SCENES AT ANNUAL ELKS OUTING FOR ORPHANS

FATHER AND SON, 8, MONOXIDE VICTIMS

Found Unconscious in Auto Parked in Grove; Expected to Recover.

Hobart G. DeLong, 35, and his son, William, 8, of 3906 Twentieth street northeast, were found unconscious yesterday morning suffering from carbon monoxide gas in their closed automobile in a grove near Eighteenth and Perry streets northeast, by Private O. K. Stanton, of the Fifth Police Precinct.

Private Stanton called the Casualty Hospital and while waiting for the ambulance, gave first aid, probably saving their lives. They are reported improving at the hospital.

According to some of DeLong's friends, he had been out of work for some time and was despondent over this fact, but he had prospects of a job on July 15.

The policeman saw the car standing in the patch of woods and upon investigating found DeLong slumped over the wheel of his car with all the windows tightly closed and the motor running. His son was lying on the seat with his head in his father's lap. The floor mat of the car was propped up, allowing the gas from the engine to seep in.

The DeLong family came here from Kentucky and according to friends, had planned to leave here yesterday to return there. Mrs. DeLong is employed in Washington.

Crosby and Others Face Reductions

Glassford and Patrick Also Face 40 to 49 Per Cent Cut for Economy.

Three retired Army generals, now holding offices in the District government face reductions ranging from 40 to 49 per cent under an unofficial interpretation of the Federal economy act. They are Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, police commissioner; Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, and Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission.

Heretofore these officials have been drawing retirement pensions as well as salaries from the District government. Until a ruling is obtained from Comptroller General McCarl, they will not decide whether to forgo the District wage or the pension. If they accept the former, it will be under the 8.3 per cent reduction.

Gen. Patrick today will take the oath of office for his new term despite the fact that he will draw just about half the combined salary of the past fiscal year, which was $13,500. The combined salaries of Gen. Crosby and Gen. Glassford were $15,000 and $12,000, respectively.

Radio Will Carry Capital's Fourth

A radio broadcast over 62 stations, including two short-wave transmissions for foreign countries, will feature the Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the District Fourth of July committee at the Sylvan Theater Monday. A display of fireworks will be shown and a tableau will be presented by State societies.

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, will address the celebration which is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. Invitations have been extended to the President, Vice President, members of Congress and to the Diplomatic Corps.

The citizens associations of Washington will hold individual celebrations Monday night, and during the afternoon athletic contests will be held.

Elks Entertain Orphans at Park

Happy as children can be only on Christmas morning, 1,200 orphans of the District reveled in an outing at Glen Echo Park yesterday as guests of the Washington Lodge, B. P. O. Elks, were given free admission to all amusement concessions, served a dinner, given toys and balloons and sent into gales of laughter by Billy Geen, J. L. Reh and other entertainers.

John D. Fitzgerald was general chairman of the outing, which was the twenty-second for orphans. The youngsters were transported in Washington Railway & Electric cars and buses and private automobiles. The Elks Clown Band furnished music. In the afternoon the children were allowed to follow their own inclinations.

Glen Echo will be the scene of three Sunday school outings today—Congress Heights M. E.; St. Stephen's Lutheran, and St. Luke's. The Zion Lutheran Sunday school will spend the day at the park tomorrow.

Building Parley Planned in Fall

Executive Committee Makes Arrangements for Booster Conference.

The National Conference on Construction will hold its first general assembly here next fall for the purpose of renewing building activity, it became known yesterday.

It is expected that representatives of 60 organizations in the construction field will attend. During the past year the staff of the conference has been investigating problems in the field. The results will be presented at the meetings.

Members of the executive committee met yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to lay plans for the conference. Included in the group attending were: Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, James L. Madden, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and others.

Thief Flees With Four Wrist Watches.

Isaac Friedman, manager of the Ross Jewelry Store, 702 Seventh street northwest, yesterday reported to police that a colored man entered his establishment by breaking a rear window, grabbed from the counter four men's wrist matches valued at $30, and fled through the store, escaping along G street.

Parental Anxiety May End Boy's Bicycle Trip to West

Vacation time—and youthful minds turn to thoughts of adventure. A successful hitch-hiking trip to Fort Worth, Tex., last summer prompted John Camp, 13 years old, of 2121 New York avenue northwest, to set out with his bicycle yesterday to again seek new thrills "out West."

However, his trip this time may not be so successful. His mother, Mrs. Virginia Coburn, notified police immediately upon discovering John's disappearance. Authorities between here and Texas have also been asked to be on the lookout.

Last year John decided he wanted to go to Fort Worth, his former home. He set out alone and by begging rides soon completed his journey. He remained throughout the summer, returning in the fall to continue classes in the Paul Junior High School.

John had no money and few clothes when he left yesterday. He is described as being about 5 feet 3 inches tall with brown hair and eyes. He was wearing a white shirt and brown knickers.

RAICHLE ACQUITTED BY ORDER OF COURT

"Discrediting" of Testimony of Edwards and Pitts Results in Action.

The trial of Frank G. Raichle was brought to a summary halt yesterday in the District Supreme Court when Justice F. D. Letts, after denouncing the testimony of the Government's ace witnesses, G. Bryan Pitts and John H. Edwards, jr., ordered the jury to return a verdict exonerating Raichle of charges of obstruction of justice and subornation of perjury.

Asserting that the testimony given in the case by Edwards and Pitts, both of whom are serving jail sentences, had been "utterly discredited," Justice Letts said that he would take on his own shoulders the responsibility for ordering Raichle's acquittal. Forthwith he ordered the jury, which had been taken out of the room during arguments of the attorneys, brought in and their directed verdict recorded.

All Charges Removed.

The action removes all charges against Raichle. He walked from the courtroom with his bride of a year to receive the felicitations of a host of friends. An entire trainload of Buffalo acquaintances, including leading jurists and civic leaders, had come here yesterday to act as character witnesses for him.

Justice Letts based his decision on three motions filed by Attorneys James O. Moore and William J. Hughes, jr. The motions asked, first, that Pitts' testimony be thrown out as being wholly impeachable; second, that Edwards' testimony be discarded for the same reason, and, third, that a directed verdict should be granted because of insufficient evidence. All three motions were approved by the justice.

Edwards Recalled.

Edwards, whose testimony had involved Raichle, yesterday was recalled to the stand by Government attorneys. He was confronted by a transcript of his testimony before Assistant Attorneys General Charles B. Rugg and Seth W. Richardson, in which he asserted in seven places that Raichle was innocent of any knowledge that Pitts and he had manufactured spurious papers for Pitts' defense.

The recalling of Edwards followed a hurried adjournment of the trial Tuesday when Attorney General William D. Mitchell informed Government attorneys by telephone that he desired to confer with them before any additional prosecution testimony was given. Yesterday morning Edwards was recalled, and the statement he had made to Rugg and Richardson, which was in the files of the Department of Justice, was produced.

When Edwards admitted that he had changed his story to involve Raichle after first maintaining the latter's innocence, he was cross-examined, excused and the motions by Mr. Moore were placed before the court.

ATTORNEY IS VICTIM OF POTION OVERDOSE

Phelps F. Ferris Collapses Returning to Capital From Detroit.

An overdose of strong sleeping potion last night sent Phelps F. Ferris, 50-year-old Washington attorney, to Georgetown Hospital. His condition early today was said to be undetermined.

Mr. Ferris was returning from a business trip to Detroit, Mich. In company with David Davies and his wife, Mrs. Jane Davies, he left Charleroi, Pa., early yesterday. Davies was driving the machine in which he volunteered to bring Mr. Ferris to Washington after the latter's car was demolished in an accident near Saluvia, Pa.

Davies told police Mr. Ferris collapsed as they entered Washington. Several times en route here, police were told, Mr. Ferris stopped at drug stores. On one occasion Davies said, he purchased a number of small tablets.

As Mr. Ferris collapsed in the rear seat of the car, Davies related, he threw a small bottle to the street. He had complained of a headache soon after they started, Davies said.

A search of Mr. Ferris' effects revealed a five-page confession to a bank robbery in Detroit, signed by a man now serving a sentence in the Detroit Penitentiary. Mr. Ferris told Davies he went to Detroit to "try and free a man from jail."

Mr. Ferris was unable to make a statement. He lives at 4603 Langdrum lane, Chevy Chase, Md.

Two Taxi Men Held Up And Robbed of $11.52

John R. Bauserman, a taxicab driver, of 4509 Illinois avenue, yesterday was hired at First and P streets northwest by three colored men who held him up in front of 208 Oregon street northwest and robbed him of $10.

Arthur T. Sheehan, of 821 Eleventh street northwest, was hired by the same three men and robbed of $1.52. A pistol was used in both cases.

Police Ordered to Enfore Gasoline Hucksters' Ban

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, yesterday sent a notice to all commanding officers of precincts that beginning July 1 the law forbidding the sale of gasoline from trucks on the street must be strictly enforced.

The order also said that policemen on their beats must notify all men selling fuel from trucks that the regulation will be enforced.

Crosby Says Post Ad Helped Repeal Plank

Percy Crosby, cartoonist, said last night that he believed the page advertisement which he placed in The Post two weeks ago exerted some influence toward the adopting of a repeal plank by the Democratic party.

The advertisement which advocated repeal of prohibition was reprinted in booklet form and a copy was given to each delegate at the Chicago convention, he said.

Wendell M. Reed Retires; Engineer of Coolidge Dam

Bureau of Indian Affairs Official Today Ends 30 Years' Service.

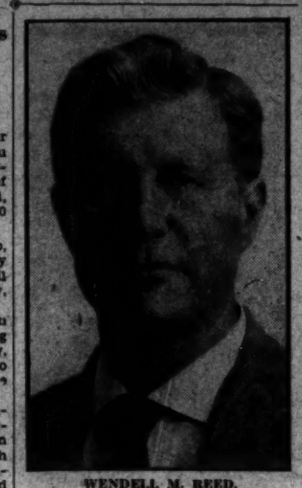
Wendell M. Reed, chief engineer of the irrigation service in the Bureau of Indian Affairs, under whose supervision the great multiple domes of the Coolidge Dam were constructed, will retire today after more than 30 years in Government service.

Mr. Reed, a native of New Mexico, has resided in Washington for nearly 20 years. After his retirement he will make his home at his farm, Waverly, near Welcome, Md.

Commencing his Federal career in 1903, in the capacity of consulting engineer for the Geological Survey, two years later he was transferred to the Bureau of Reclamation where he remained until 1912.

While with the Reclamation Bureau, he was connected with the erection of the Elephant Butte Dam on the Rio Grande, in New Mexico, which made possible the irrigation of 155,000 acres of arid land in Texas and New Mexico.

In 1912 he assumed charge of the irrigation service of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. During this office the acreage of irrigated Indian lands was increased from 180,000 to 420,000 acres through more than 200 projects.



WENDELL M. REED.

Mrs. Mary Young Dies at Age of 78

Lifelong Capital Resident to Be Buried Tomorrow in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary F. Young, a lifelong resident of Washington, died yesterday at her home, 1840 Mintwood place northwest, following a brief illness. She was 78 years old. Death resulted from complications following an accident in which she suffered a fractured hip.

Mrs. Young was a member of the Twentieth Century Club, the Elsophus Science Club, and was formerly a member of the board of directors of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. Surviving are her husband, Charles D. Young; a son, Frederick Young, of California, and a grandson, Lieut. Donald B. Young, U. S. A.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church. The Rev. H. S. Smith will officiate. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

GEN. F. E. BAMFORD RITES.

Will Be Held This Morning at 10 at Arlington Cemetery.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. today for Gen. F. E. Bamford, 69, hero of the Battle of Catigny during the World War, who died Monday at Charles Town, W. Va. Chaplain Ralph C. Derbert will officiate at the services, which will be held at the Arlington National Cemetery. Burial will follow with full military honors.

His wife, formerly Martha Byrd, of Richmond, Va., accompanied the body from West Virginia and will be present at the services. Gen. Bamford had been retired from the Army for the last ten years. Gen. John J. Pershing paid him a high tribute in his book on the war.

DISTRICT TO RETIRE 38 WORKERS TODAY

Thirty-eight District employes who have reached the retirement age and who have had fifteen years of service will be served with a formal notice of retirement today by District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan in accordance with the provisions of the economy act.

Among these will be James C. Simpson, superintendent of the alarm system of the Fire Department, who is nearing 72 years of age. He has been in the department for more than 47 years and is the oldest and probably the best known man in the service.

The highway department will lose three veterans in E. C. Emack, who is in charge of sidewalk construction; L. R. Grabill, assistant maintenance engineer, and D. Gaskins, an overseer of versatile ability. Each has served about 40 years and will be sorely missed, according to Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways.

Mr. Simpson said last night that he hoped he might receive a second extension, having been given one when he reached 70 years of age, but that he is willing to abide by the final decision. When he entered the department as an operator, he said, the District had only seven engine companies and three truck companies, as against 31 and 14, respectively, today.

There were only 148 alarm boxes as compared to 1,100 at present, and 4 transmitting circuits as against a dozen today.

Lions Club Picks Group To Give Camp Stadium

The Washington Lions Club yesterday completed plans for dedication exercises at the stadium erected by them at Camp Letts, Md., Y. M. C. A. summer resort.

A committee appointed to complete final arrangements for athletic events and entertainment program at the ceremonies on July 12 included Allison Miller, James Schick, George T. Sharp, Cy McDonald, B. E. Crane and Charles Hilligeist.

Heart Attack Fatal To Col. Burleigh

Lieut. Col. John J. Burleigh, 54, instructor general of the Seconds Corps Area of the Army, died at the Martinique Hotel last night. He was stationed at Governors Island, N. Y.

Col. Burleigh was stricken with a heart attack and was pronounced dead by an attending physician on the Walter Reed Hospital ambulance. His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Burleigh, and a daughter, Marion, were with him when he was taken ill.

He was returning to his post from a tour of duty at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Col. Burleigh entered the Army service August 21, 1901, and was engaged in active combat during the World War. Besides the widow and daughter, he is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Van Wyk.

Percy S. Foster's Funeral Is Today

Many Christian Endeavor Members Will Honor Dead Leader.

At funeral services at 1 p. m. today at the National Baptist Church for Percy S. Foster, many Christian Endeavor members will pay tribute to his lifelong service in that organization.

Mr. Foster was a leader in the Christian Endeavor and was known throughout the world as the leader of Christian Endeavor music. He was a trustee of the International Society of Christian Endeavor. He led the music at every international convention since 1894.

Mr. Foster lived at 1474 Columbia road northwest. He is survived by his widow, Lulu Foster.

WASHINGTON DIARY BASIS OF TABLEAUX

Authentic tableaux depicting scenes of George Washington's life, which were taken from his diary, were presented last night by members of the St. Columba's Episcopal Church before a capacity audience in the church parish hall.

A cast of 50 took part in the performance and the audience donned Colonial garb and danced the sprightly reels of the early days with members of the cast, following the presentation. Tefft Johnson, the Bicentennial commission's choice to portray the First President, officiated as Washington last night.

Mrs. Emory Bogley, who arranged the program of colonial dancing aided in staging the first scene in the tableaux. Entitled "The Queen's Birthnight Ball," three couples presented a series of early American dances, which was well received by the audience.

William Tyler Page, narrator of the story, was assisted by Miss Mildred Ireland. Sam Bogley and Jean Dulin presented the characters of George and Martha Washington in one of the enactments. Henry B. Steer, organist of the church, assisted by the choir, furnished the musical accompaniment to the dancing.

Miss Mathilda Meister directed the performance and took part in the presentation. Two scenes were portrayed by the members of the cast.

The celebration was concluded with the unveiling of a Gilbert Stuart portrait of Washington and the singing of the National Anthem by the audience. Many original articles of furniture from the Colonial period were used. Costumes were provided for the cast by the local Bicentennial Commission.

"Build for Prosperity" Luncheon Set Today

A "build for prosperity" luncheon, at which William F. Ham, president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., will be honor guest in recognition of completion of plans for the $5,000,000 plant of the company to be built at Buzzards Point, will be held at 12:30 o'clock today by the Advertising Club of Washington at the Raleigh Hotel.

Frank J. Hogan, attorney; Maurice Carty, of New York, chief engineer of the Stone & Webster Corporation, and J. G. Nettleton, Washington representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the company laying tracks to the new plant, will speak.

Capital Supply Bill Signed by Hoover

The $41,245,622 District appropriations bill yesterday became the fourth supply bill enacted into law when President Hoover formally attached his signature to the measure.

Carrying a $4,000,000 reduction under current appropriations, the bill was a compromise between funds sought by the Senate and the usual House curtailments.

The measure fixes the Federal contribution for 1933 at $7,775,000, instead of the current $9,500,000. This, nevertheless, was an increase of $1,275,000 more than the "lump sum" fixed by the House. The bill provides $350,000 for local unemployment relief.

Drunken Driver Fined $140.

Charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, George G. Haddox, of Washington, was fined $100 and costs, totaling $140, in addition to a jail sentence of 30 days by County Judge B. M. Hedrick. The jail sentence was suspended.

Electric Refrigerator Loot In House-Breaking Series

Three housebreakings, including one case where an electric refrigerator in operation was stolen, were reported to police yesterday. James W. Terhune, of 3401 Sixteenth street northwest, told police that an automatic icebox in the basement of the apartment house where he lives was missing when he went to get his milk yesterday morning. Loss, $50.

Clothing and jewelry valued at $186 were taken from 1734 Allison street northwest, Edward Balger told police, while sporting equipment valued at $25 was stolen by thieves who broke into a storeroom on a playground at Fourteenth and Taylor streets northwest.

3,000 TO GET WORK IN STREET PROGRAM

District Construction and Repair to Be Launched Tomorrow.

Employment will be provided more than 3,000 men as the annual street construction and replacement program is launched tomorrow, Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways, announced yesterday. Bids have already been opened and contracts have been made ready for signing on all 1933 work, save two jobs, so that no time will be lost although the District appropriations bill was signed only yesterday.

While the amount of street work is slightly below normal, its cost will amount to approximately $1,300,000, of which $450,000 is left over from the 1932 act. In addition, $524,000 will be expended for the customary maintenance work.

Bids will be opened on the remaining projects July 12. These are the widening of Constitution avenue, from Second street to Pennsylvania avenue, and of E street, from Fifth street to North Capitol street.

Among the jobs included in the 1933 program are the continuation of Sixteenth street from Colorado avenue north to Alaska avenue; the completion of the Piney Branch roadway approach to the Baltimore & Ohio Railway underpass; the repaving of Mount Pleasant street, from Sixteenth street to Park road, in connection with street railway track rehabilitation; the repaving of Sherman avenue, from Florida avenue to Columbia road; and the straightening and repaving of Klingle road from Woodley place to Park road, through Klingle Valley.

Raiders Arrest "Visitor" And Take Alleged Rum

A man who told police he was only a visitor in the house was arrested by Tenth Precinct police yesterday when they raided the third floor of a house at 3130 Fourteenth street northwest. He gave his name as Willard L. Harsfall, 27 years old, of 1846 Newton street northwest, and was booked for investigation.

The raid netted 496 bottles of beer, 25 quarts of alcohol, 9 quarts of red liquor, and 1 pint of prescription whisky, according to police.

Ludington Branch Flies 100,000th Passenger

A milestone in the existence of the Ludington Air Lines was passed yesterday when the 100,000th passenger was carried between New York and Washington. The line has been in operation 21 months.

The passenger was Miss Bert Lewis, of Washington. She was refunded the amount of her ticket and flew to New York as guest of the line. The line recently inaugurated an 80-minute service between the Capital and New York.

Col. Axton Is Injured In Fall to Sidewalk

Col. John T. Axton, U. S. A., retired, former chief of the Army Chaplain Corps, received a laceration of the scalp yesterday when he suffered a slight cerebral hemorrhage and fell to the sidewalk in front of his home, at 3179 Porter street.

He was removed to Walter Reed Hospital by police, where it is said his condition is not serious.
